Now, Mr. Speaker, he wants to stand or fall on the basis of the record made in connection with workmen's compensation legislation. I have been in this Legislature off and on since 1933, and I have never seen more outrageous procedure in connection with an important measure. It is not just by chance, Members of the House, that measures initiated in January come before this House now. I am not one to squawk,—we will take the break, but we never had a chance on this bill. The gentleman from Elk better than I could tell the House all that the minority has proposed in the amendments, amendments which if they do not fit the line, were nevertheless prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau, which used the best information it had.

I suggest to the gentleman from Elk, who is familiar with this legislation, that he tell the House, for my information and for the information of the House, what reductions were made in the workmen's compensation bill as originally presented in the Senate, the bill upon which we are now acting. I would ask him were the figures identical as the bill was introduced in the Senate? Has there been a reduction? I would ask that as a question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Cambria desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk?

Mr. ANDREWS. I have asked a question, Mr. Speaker, and the gentleman's answer I would like to know.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I want the gentleman to know that I did not take each bill as originally introduced in the Senate, and each amendment that was introduced in the Senate. I took the legislation that was passed on by this House and the amendments that were introduced into this House, and at no stage in the proceedings of this House was there a provision for permanent total disability and payments less than ten thousand dollars.

Mr. ANDREWS. May I further interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. What are the minimum payments in the bill now pending before the House, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. Ten dollars,—or rather twelve dollars.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman from Elk know it is twelve dollars?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, it is ten dollars.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman from Elk knows that the amendments that we have presented have been designed to make the payment twelve dollars minimum?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what are the maximum payments in the bill before the House?

Mr. SORG. Twenty dollars, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman well knows that the intention of the amendments pending are to raise that to twenty-two dollars, is that not right?

Mr. SORG. That is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman from Elk know that the amendments presented by the minority are designed to make total disability run for five hundred weeks, irrespective of the pay schedule, instead of just a flat amount of seventy-five hundred dollars?

Mr. SORG. I do not know that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. That at least was the intention, and if the Legislative Reference Bureau drew our amendments accordingly that would be what the amendments would provide.

What is the provision in the bill now pending before the House concerning notice?

Mr. SORG. Forty-eight hours, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. The amendments would eliminate the forty-eight hours notice, would they not?

Mr. SORG. I regret, Mr. Speaker, in the five minutes that were given to me to examine all the amendments, I did not observe whether this provision for a limited time notice was deleted in the amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman from Elk.

Mr. Speaker, I want to summarize. What we are striving for is an increase in the minimum pay, instead of ten dollars up to twelve dollars. In the maximum payment instead of twenty dollars, up to twenty-two dollars. The other features follow along the same line. They relate to injuries sustained by various parts of the body. The bill before you has some liberalizing features in that direction itself, and we have taken frankly, candidly we have taken as our position, not the position one hundred per cent of the employes, but we have taken as our position a compromise based upon the candid consideration by labor leaders, by workers of what was reasonable and proper in the way of a compensation act, and we have, Mr. Speaker, in this particular instance adopted Labor's compensation program, and as Mr. Sorg says, we are willing to stand or fall on that proposition.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, a question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Would the gentleman from Elk be in a position to know what the over-all percentage of increased benefits will be under Senate Bill 657 as it came from the Senate?

Mr. SORG. My understanding, Mr. Speaker, is that it involves a general increase of eleven per cent, at the very least, in every respect.

Mr. LEVY. Would the gentleman be in position to state to the House now what the general percentage of increase in cost of living has been under war-time conditions?

Mr. SORG. I would not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I only want to add one word in support of the amendments. The amendments offered to Senate Bill 657 would raise the over-all percentage of the benefits from eleven per cent to approximately thirty-three per cent, and the reason for that is because from the latest statistics rendered by the United States Department of Labor thirty-three per cent represents the increase in living costs under war-time conditions.

I want only to add, Mr. Speaker, that that should be one concern of the gentleman who defends the bill, that even though we may have a peculiar situation in Pennsylvania, peculiar trades and peculiar professions, nevertheless I do not know how the Senate or the House will satisfy its own stand with a mere increase of eleven per cent when it is a matter of certain statistics that the increase in living costs have risen to thirty-three per cent.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I realize that to get up in this House at this time and talk on the legislation is somewhat resented by the Members of this House—I suppose on both sides. Nevertheless, as a man coming here representing the working people, I do not mean to sit in my seat after spending my days in Harrisburg and allow a few men in this House who feel that we should now adjourn and go home, forget all about the needs of the working people of the State of Pennsylvania. No, I am not going to do that, and I want the men on the other side to know that and also Mr. Sorg, who gets up and makes the statement that the amendments reduce instead of increase. I admit that we had a lot of trouble with these amendments. I admit we had a lot of trouble this morning with other amendments. Why? You can lay the blame on the other side of this House. Not on the individual Member on that side of the House, no. You lay the blame on the administration that allows us to sit in Harrisburg as long as we have stayed here and then wake up to the fact that the most important legislation we have to consider is to be considered in the last few hours of the legislative session. This goes on in the halls at Harrisburg every Session of the Legislature. My friends you continually maneuver to do this thing when the men get tired, disgruntled, when we fight among ourselves, but, Mr. Sorg, please don't get up and try to tell to your Members that the reason why they should vote down these amendments is because they are reducing the benefits to the worker, when you know, that that is not true.

Mr. Andrews has stated to you that it is a compromise between what was settled between labor and industry, and you know that the bill that you have before you is what industry settled for. Nobody denied that, so why today do we try to becloud the issue, and even impose on the men on this side of the House, who are new in these halls and try to make them believe that the bill we have before us is right when you know in your own hearts it is not right. I say to you men over there who are interested in labor and to the men on this side of the House who are interested in labor, just because we are trying to adjourn on Saturday, don't sit in your seats and deprive the working people of Pennsylvania of what they are entitled to. If it is necessary, stay here and straighten out the amendments. Don't shirk in your duties now. You have spent your time; it is only a matter of a little more time, and so I say to you vote for these amendments, you men who say you are interested in labor. If there is anything wrong with the amendments after they are put into the bill, we can strike them out, but please don't hide behind the fact that you want to adjourn and deprive the working people of what they are entitled to in this state.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, it was not my intention to rise on any of these bills, but certainly the statement of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, compels me to do so.

I come from a county which is probably the most highly industrialized county in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We certainly are interested in labor; we are interested in its problems. We know further that Governor Martin invited representatives of both industry and labor into conferences with the hope in mind that they could work out a program which would be acceptible to both labor and to industry. I place the blame, not on labor nor on industry. For some reason they could not get together, as the gentleman very well knows. Governor Martin made specific recommendations to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, and I for one have enough confidence in those recommendations, and I know that Governor Martin has the thought in his mind that he is doing the best thing possible for labor when he makes those recommendations.

I would agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland that possibly the payments should be increased. We were in favor of that, we men from Allegheny County, but we feel that it is inadvisable at this late hour to make any amendments and put these bills into a conference committee with the possible result that they might be eventually defeated. We feel that this is distinctly a step forward in the compensation laws of Pennsylvania and that we in Pennsylvania will have accomplished something for the working people of Pennsylvania when they are enacted into law.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry that the gentleman from Allegheny felt impelled to speak, because every time he makes a speech I very nearly have to do so also. But, Mr. Speaker, it is true, and as the gentleman from Allegheny would say, I want it on the record, it is true that in the history of this bill His Excellency the Governor sent for individual labor leaders one by one. It is true that he told them to reach an agreement among themselves as to a bill. It is true that greatly to everybody's surprise they actually reached an agreement, the first time in many, many years that the major labor organizations in Pennsylvania have been able to agree upon compensation. It is true that, having agreed upon a bill, the labor leaders went to His Excellency the Governor. It is true that His Excellency the Governor told them that they better talk to the employers. It is true that the employers and labor leaders were unable to agree, and then it is true that labor legislation, workmen's compensation, was whittled down, not to a position of compromise between what labor had asked and what the employers had offered—not a compromise, but embodying into legislation, into the pending bill, almost exactly what the employers had offered, and nothing beyond that. Not what labor had asked. So you are not voting today for a Workmen's Compensation Act; you are voting for an Employers' Compensation Act. They framed it, they conceived it, they have controlled the history of this bill through the Senate and House, and we vote tonight for an Employer's Compensation Act.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Since the gentleman has made the statement that he is very much interested in the laboring people in Allegheny County, in his district, might I ask the gentleman how many bills he has voted upon in the interests of labor during this session?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair feels that that is not a proper question under the circumstances. We are getting far afield from the discussion on the question. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the Chair rule that my question is out of order?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair so rules.

Mr. LOVETT. May I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman, since he is so much interested in labor in Allegheny County, if he feels that the particular bill now before the Legislature is agreed to by the labor leaders of Pennsylvania as being a good bill and a compromise bill after the conferences held between management and labor?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman started the interrogation by saying "if I feel". Was that a question?

Mr. LOVETT. That is a question I asked you to answer. I said does the gentleman feel that the present bill before the House is a measure that the working class of people of this State, the labor leaders will agree is a fair compensation bill for the working people of Pennsylvania?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that I don't know whether all the labor leaders of Pennsylvania would feel that it is a fair bill or not. I have talked with several of them who feel that it is a definite step forward in the compensation laws of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LOVETT. Is the gentleman acquainted with the demands that the labor leaders of Pennsylvania made—not the demands, but what the labor leaders of Pennsylvania asked in a Workmen's Compensation Act in the conference?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I have not received one personal letter. I have received bulletins from the CIO organizations and the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, but I repeat, Mr. Speaker, I have not received one personal letter either for or against the bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Would the gentleman state that he had been in touch with any of the labor leaders in Pennsylvania and asked them what they thought of this particular measure?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, yes sir.

Mr. LOVETT. Has the gentleman talked with some of them?

Mr. FLEMING. I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Did they tell you that they were satisfied with this particular piece of legislation?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I can remember distinctly in one discussion—I do not feel at liberty to disclose the labor leader's name on the floor of the House—I would be very glad to give it to the gentleman in private; I would be most glad to take him to that labor leader who told me that while it was not all that they wanted, he felt that it was something.

Mr. LOVETT. Oh, it's something?

Mr. FLEMING. I beg pardon, Mr. Speaker, I am in error. I realized that I left the House in some misapprehension as to what the labor leader told me. He told me "It's something in the right direction."

Mr. LOVETT. That's something again, "In the right direction." Did the gentleman in conferring in any way with the labor leaders find out what they felt was a fair increase in compensation in Pennsylvania?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I informed the gentleman that this particular man told me that while it was not all that they expected, it was definitely a step forward in the Compensation Laws of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman in any way know what the labor leader thought it ought to be?

Mr. FLEMING. I do not, no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman is too much interested in the laboring man or he would have found out what the labor leaders and what the working people in Pennsylvania felt was a fair compensation bill for this Session of the Legislature.

I want to say to you men over there, and over here, this this bill is not what the labor leaders asked for in workmen's compensation. It is a compromise between what industry was in favor of giving, and what labor thought was right in Pennsylvania, so gentleman, you are voting on a compromise. Labor has compromised between the two figures. This bill is not what labor felt when they went into the conference that they should ask for. This bill that you have before you is what the employer wanted to give the min the conference. These amendments just go between the two and make it a compromise which they are satisfied to settle for. I say to you that if you have labor's interest at heart, I do not know how you can deny or how you could vote against these amendments to this bill.

I realize that special privilege legislation has passed away long ago; in fact the Committees of this House as a rule called meetings of their committees, acted upon the legislation and sent it to the floor of the House, but the Committee on Workmen's Compensation didn't do that, and the Committee on Labor didn't do that.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ELDER. The gentleman is not talking on the amendments, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The point of order is well taken. The Chair is of the opinion that the debate has gone far afield. We are debating the amendments, and it seems to the Chair that the best interests of all will be served by confining our remarks to the amendments and their effect upon the bill. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I accept the rulings of the Chair at all times.

The amendments which we are considering at this particular time deal with the working people of Pennsylvania more so than any other amendments I know of. I think we are not going far afield when we talk on the same subject, and that is labor legislation as a whole. If the Chair feels that I am doing so, I will confine myself to the amendments before the House and ask the members over there to vote for these amendments.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to speak on the Workmen's Compensation Bill, but there are statements that have been made that I think should be corrected.

The schedules set forth in the bill for consideration by the House are the schedules which represent industries' offer to labor. We know that they are an increase over the present law, but in no wise is the bill before the House today labor's compromise with industry. The amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, represent what labor wants, and labor is willing to compromise on what it wants. It is getting what is the least they could have gotten even had industry made the offer, and I suspect if the bill passes without the amendments they will be getting the least.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Whip.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Elk if this bill passes without these amendments, how would Pennsylvania rank among the forty-eight states as to how well they take care of injured workmen and their families?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, that is a question that would be absolutely impossible to answer.

Mr. MORAN. Will the gentleman tell the House what the rank of Pennsylvania is at the present time before these bills or these amendments are passed, as to how well they take care of the injured workers and their families?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it is listed at the top, it is listed at the bottom, and it is listed all over, depending on what provisions of the Act you are talking about.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, the Compensation Act is an act which was passed in 1915, and at that time it was a compromise and it has been a compromise ever since—it still is a compromise bill.

The only reason a Workmen's Compensation Act was passed in Pennsylvania was to protect the big interests, the vested interests, and in Pennsylvania you are not compelled today to come under the compensation act.

I want to inform the Members of this House that in 1935 Pennsylvania ranked thirty-fifth in the forty-eight states as to how well they took care of the injured worker and his family. They were even behind the Philippine Islands. In 1937 a Workmen's Compensation Act was passed that brought Pennsylvania from thirty-fifth to second in its position among the forty-eight states. In 1939 Pennsylvania was pushed back to twenty-ninth, and that is the position it is in today; twenty-ninth among the forty-eight states of this nation. There is no reason why these amendments should not be passed; there is no reason why Pennsylvania should not be brought up in the ranks. With these amendments Pennsylvania will still be far behind most of the states, and I say to every one of you, if you are interested in helping the people who work for a living in Pennsylvania, the wage earner, vote for the amendments.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman from Elk says that there are no standards by which it is possible to judge the position of any state in the matter of compensation liberality, I would like simply to call his attention to the fact that Pennsylvania with its population of approximately ten million in 1942—and it runs along about the same level now, paid twenty-nine million six hundred twenty-five thousand dollars. In New York, with a population of thirteen million four hundred seventy-nine thousand, paid to injured employes a compensation bill of sixty-two million dollars, and at that New York does not have the heavy type of industry, so the figures show that as compared with New York Pennsylvania is down in compensation figures.

The same figures apply as far as California is concerned, so there is a standard, and the standard is the amount that the injured worker received, and Pennsylvania in that respect is down in the list. That is all I have got to say.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Levy and Mr. Andrews.

Messrs. Moran, Lovett and Modell asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate, Mr. Steinfelt, being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid on the table.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 656, as follows:

An Act to amend clause (a) of section three hundred one clauses (a) (b) (c) and (f) of section three hundred six and sections three hundred seven three hundred nineteen three hundred twenty by adding subsection (g) and four hundred twenty-eight of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 566) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of and in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry the Workmen's Compensation Board Workmen's Compensation Referees and deans of medical schools creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases making an appropriation and prescribing penalties" changing maximum and minimum rates total amounts and aggregate of compensation changing employers' rights of subrogation adding provision relative to parties held to be bound by act and changing provisions relative to entry of judgment on agreement award and claim petition

Section 1 Clause (a) of section three hundred one clauses (a) (b) (c) and (f) of section three hundred six and sections three hundred seven three hundred nineteen three hundred twenty by adding subsection (g) and four hundred twenty-eight of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 566) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of and in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry the Workmen's Compensation Board Workmen's Compensation Referees and deans of medical schools creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases making an appropriation and prescribing penalties" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 301 (a) When employer and employe shall by agreement either express or implied as hereinafter provided accept the provisions of article three of this act compensation for disability or death of such employe caused by occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment shall be paid by the employer without regard to negligence according to the schedule contained in sections three hundred and six and three hundred and seven of this article but

1 No compensation shall be paid when the disability or death is caused by the employe's violation of law but the burden of proof of such fact shall be upon the employer

2 The maximum compensation payable under this article for disability and death resulting from silicosis anthracosilicosis or asbestosis shall not exceed the sum of [thirty-six hundred dollars ($3600)] four thousand dollars ($4000) which shall be full and complete payment for all disability present or future or for death from such occupational diseases arising out of employment by any and all employers in this Commonwealth

Section 306 The following schedule of compensation is hereby established for total disability resulting from occupational disease subject to the limitations of section 301

(a) For the first five hundred weeks after the seventh day of total disability sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of the wages of the disabled employe as defined in section three hundred and nine but the compensation shall not be more than [eighteen] twenty dollars per week nor less than [nine] ten dollars per week and shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of [seventy-five hundred] ten thousand dollars Provided That if at the date when disability begins the employe receives wages of less than [nine] ten dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation but in no event less than five dollars per week Nothing in this clause shall require payment of compensation after disability shall cease Should partial disability be followed by total disability the period of five hundred weeks mentioned in this clause of this section shall be reduced by the number of weeks during which compensation was paid for such partial disability or widower If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause cease the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed [twenty-seven] thirty dollars per week nor be less than [fifteen] seventeen dollars per week

This compensation shall be paid during three hundred weeks and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of three hundred weeks until such child reaches the age of sixteen at the rate of seventeen and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of four and a half dollars per week if there is one child twenty-seven and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [six and a half] seven dollars per week if there are two children thirty-eight and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [nine] ten dollars per week if there are three children fifty per centum of wages but not in excess of [eleven and a half] thirteen dollars per week if there are four children fifty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [twelve dollars and twenty-five cents] fourteen dollars per week if there be five children and sixty per centum of wages but not in excess of [fourteen] sixteen dollars per week if there be six children or more

The board may if the best interests of a child or children shall so require at any time order and direct the compensation payable to a child or children or to a widow or a widower on account of any child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or if there be no guardian to such other person as the board as hereinafter provided may direct If there be no guardian or committee of any minor dependent or insane employe or dependent on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such minor dependent or insane employe or dependent may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may order and direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian or committee to whom it has directed compensation for a minor dependent or insane employe or dependent to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursement of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

Section 319 [Where a third person is liable to the employe or the dependents for the disability or death the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe or the dependent against such third person less reasonable attorney's fees and other proper disbursements] Where the compensable injury is caused in whole or in part by the act or omission of a third party the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe his personal representative his estate or his dependents against such third party for the balance of any sum recovered in litigation or paid in compromise settlement after subtraction of reasonable attorney's fees and other proper disbursements but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future instalments of compensation

Section 320 * * * * *

(g) If either party has elected not to be bound by the provisions of article three of the act to which this act is an amendment in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and two of said act they shall be held to have agreed to be bound by the provisions of this act and to have waived any other right or remedy at law or in equity for the recovery of damages for injuries occurring under the circumstances herein described

Section 428 [At any time after the approval of a compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee] Whenever the employer who has accepted and complied with the provisions of section three hundred five shall be in default in compensation payments for thirty days or more the employe or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the [total amount of compensation stated in] entire balance payable under the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents [whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments] as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Wherever after disability or death any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with [the] an employer liable for compensation under this act who has not accepted or complied with the provisions of section three hundred five or shall file a claim petition with the board against such employer he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as a judgment against the employer If the agreement be approved by the department or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certified copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment

If the amount of compensation claimed be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothontary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disability to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate

If the compensation payable under any agreement or award upon which judgment has been entered under the provisions of this section shall be modified suspended reinstated or terminated by a supplemental agreement executed under the provisions of section four hundred and eight or by an award or order made under the provisions of section four hundred and thirteen any party to such judgment at any time after such agreement has been approved by the department or after the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal from the award or order may file with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which the judgment is on record a certified copy of such supplemental agreement award or order and it shall thereupon be the duty of the prothonotary to modify suspend reinstate or satisfy such judgment in accordance with the terms of such supplemental agreement award or order

Execution may issue by first filing with the prothonotary an affidavit that there has been a default in payments of compensation due on any judgment for compensation entered prior to the approval of the compensation agreement or an award on petition as soon as such agreement shall have been approved by the department or such award made as evidenced by the approval of the board of the award or by a certified copy thereof

Execution shall in all cases be for the amount of compensation and interest thereon due and payable up to the date of the issuance of said execution with costs and further execution may issue from time to time as further compensation shall become due and payable until full amount of the judgment with costs shall have actually been paid

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-five

Section 201. In any action brought to recover damages for disability or death of an employe caused by occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment, it shall not be a defense:

(a) That the occupational disease was caused in whole or in part by the negligence of a fellow employe, or

(b) That the employe had assumed the risk of the occupational disease, or

(c) That the occupational disease was caused in any degree by the negligence of such employe unless it be established that the occupational disease was caused by such employe's intoxication, or by his reckless indifference to danger the burden of proving such intoxication or reckless indifference to danger shall be upon the defendant, and the question shall be one of fact to be determined by the jury.

(d) In any action brought to recover damages for personal disability to an employe in the course of his employment, or for death resulting from such occupational disease, the following rule shall apply:

If the jury finds that the employe's disability was caused or contributed to by the employer's violation or failure to observe any safety law applicable to said industry in effect at the time of the disability, the disabled employe or his dependents shall be entitled to double damages.

Section 2. Article two of said act is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof, a new section to read as follows:

Section 205. Every employer who has elected not to be bound by article three of this act, shall insure his liability to pay damages to injured workmen and their dependents, which may be recovered against such employer by suit or otherwise in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, or in any insurance company, or mutual association or company authorized to insure liability in this Commonwealth, unless such employer shall be exempted by the department as hereinafter set forth. An employer desiring to be exempt from insuring his liability to pay damages shall make application to the department, showing his financial ability to pay such damages as in the judgment of the department would be an amount that would accrue as a result of the ordinary risks of the particular employment wherein the employer seeks exemption. Whereupon, the department, if satisfied of the applicant's financial ability, shall, upon the payment of a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25) issue to the applicant a permit authorizing such exemption. From a refusal of the department to issue such permit, an appeal shall lie to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County. In any such appeal, the only question shall be whether the department abused its discretion in refusing such permit. The department shall establish a period of twelve calendar months to begin and end at such times as the department shall prescribe which shall be known as the annual exemption period. Unless previously revoked, all permits issued under this section shall expire and terminate on the last day of the annual exemption period for which they were issued. Permits issued under this act shall be renewed upon the filing of an application and the payment of a renewal fee of twenty-five dollars ($25). The department may from time to time require further statements of the financial ability of such employer, and if at any time, such employer appears in the judgment of the department no longer able to pay, damages shall revoke its permit granting exemption, in which case the employer shall immediately subscribe to the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, or insure his liability in any insurance company, or mutual association or company as aforesaid.

Every employer liable under this section of the act to pay damages shall post and maintain in a conspicuous place in and about his place of business, a notice that he has secured the payment of damages to his employes and their dependents in accordance with the provisions of this section. Such notice shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the department, and among other things, shall set forth the name of the employer, the name of the employer's insurance carrier, or that he has been exempted by the department from carrying insurance as the case may be.

If any employer shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section with respect to posting and maintaining the notice required by this act, such employer shall upon conviction thereof, in a summary proceeding, be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25) and costs of prosecution.

If any employer, his employe or employes, agent, or agents fails to comply with the provisions of this section with respect to insuring or securing an exemption from insurance, or in any application filed under this section, shall furnish the department with a false or fraudulent statement of outstanding incurred liability for damages or any other false or fraudulent statement, such employer, his employe or employes, agent or agents, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, for every such failure or false or fraudulent statement shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100), nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) and costs of prosecution, or imprisonment for a period of not more than one year or both, at the discretion of the court. Every day's violation and every false or fraudulent statement shall constitute a separate offense. It shall be the duty of the department to enforce this section, but this shall not prohibit any citizen from being a prosecutor for violations of this law. The department, shall investigate all violations brought to its notice, and shall institute prosecution for violation thereof. All fines recovered under the provisions of this section shall be paid by the clerk of the court to the department, and by it paid into the State Treasury.

In any proceeding against an employer under this section, a certificate of non-insurance issued by the official Workmen's Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau and a certificate of the department showing that the defendant has not been exempted from obtaining insurance under this section, shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. Any employer who fails to secure his employes to pay compensation under article three of this act, or if he has rejected article three of this act and fails to secure his employes in the payment of damages sustained by such employes in the manner set forth in this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than three hundred dollars ($300) and not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), or imprisonment of six months, either or both, at the discretion of the court.

For the purposes of this section, minor children working for their parents shall be conclusively presumed to be emancipated.

Section 3. Subsections (a), (b), (c), (d) and (e) of section three hundred one, section three hundred six and three hundred seven of said act are hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 301. (a) When employer and employe shall by agreement, either express or implied as hereinafter provided, accept the provisions of article three of this act, compensation for disability or death of such employe caused by occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment. sall be paid by the employer without regard to negligence according to the schedule contained in sections three hundred and six and three hundred and seven of this article, but—

[1. No] no compensation shall be paid when the disability or death is caused by the employe's wilful violation of law, but the burden of proof of such fact shall be upon the employer.

[2. The maximum compensation payable under this article for disability and death resulting from silicosis anthraco-silicosis, or asbestosis shall not exceed the sum of thirty-six hundred dollars ($3,600) which shall be full and complete payment for all disability present or future or for death from such occupational diseases arising out of employment by any and all employers in this Commonwealth.]

(b) The right to receive compensation under this act shall not be affected by the fact that a minor is employed by his parent or parents or is permitted to be employed in violation of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to the employment of minors, or that he obtained his employment by misrepresenting his age or that any minor or other employe was violating any rule or regulation of the business or industry or a position order of the employer except that no minor or employe shall be entitled to receive compensation who was wilfully violating a law of this Commonwealth.

(c) Compensation for the occupational diseases enumerated in this act shall be paid only when such occupational disease is peculiar to the occupation or industry in which the employe was engaged and not common to the general population, and occurring within [one year] two years after the date of his last employment in such occupation or industry. Whenever death is mentioned as cause for compensation under this act, it shall mean only death resulting from occupational disease and occurring within [three years] four hundred weeks after the date of his last employment in such occupation or industry.

(d) Compensation for silicosis, [or] anthracosis, pneumoconiosis, antraco-silicosis, and asbestosis shall be paid only when it is shown that the employe has had an aggregate employment of at least [four] two years in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during a period of eight years next preceding the date of disability in an occupation having a silica, [or] asbestos, [hazard] or dust concentration.

[(e) Compensation shall not be payable for partial disability due to silicosis, anthraco-silicosis, or asbestosis. Compensation shall be payable as otherwise provided in this act for total disability or death caused solely (and definitely distinguished from a contributory or accelerating cause) by silicosis, anthraco-silicosis, or asbestosis or by silicosis, anthraco-silicosis, or asbestosis when accompanied by active pulmonary tuberculosis.]

(e) If an employe is disabled or dies and his disability or death is caused by one of the diseases mentioned in article one, and the disease is due to the nature of the corresponding employment as described in this act in which such employe was engaged, and was contracted therein, he or his dependents shall be entitled to compensation for his death or the duration of his disablement in accordance with the provisions of this article, except as hereinafter stated: Provided, however, That if it shall be determined that such employe is able to earn wages in another occupation which shall be neither unhealthful, nor injurious, and such wages do not equal his full wages prior to the date of his disablement, the compensation payable shall be a percentage of full compensation proportionate to the reduction in his earning capacity.

Provided, That the disabled employe, by petition to the board and notice to the employer may be permitted by the board to consult a physician of his own choice at any time during his disability the cost of such consultation to be paid by the employer, in accordance with a schedule of charges to be prescribed and approved by the board. Any such request shall be acted upon promptly, either with or without a hearing, and shall have preference over any other matter or proceeding pending before the board or referee. Upon application of a disabled employe, the board may issue its order requiring the employer to furnish such other services, hospital treatment, medicines, artificial appliances, or supplies during such further period, and in such additional amounts after the three months' period as the board may in justice deem advisable. The cost of such services, (exclusive of the cost of hospital treatment and artificial appliances), medicines and supplies during the aforesaid three months' period, shall not exceed two hundred dollars ($200). If the employer shall upon application made to him, refuse to furnish such services, hospital treatment, appliances, medicines, and supplies, the employe may procure same and shall receive from the employer the reasonable cost thereof. If the employe shall refuse such services, hospital treatment, appliances, medicines, and supplies tendered to him by his employer, he shall forfeit all rights to compensation for any injury or any increase in his incapacity shown to have resulted from such refusal: Provided, further, however, That the employe need not submit to surgical treatment which in the opinion of at least two qualified physicians might jeopardize his life. The employer shall also furnish to the employe or pay the cost of transportation to and from the place where such services are rendered and reimbursement for such costs assumed by the employe may be enforced as payments of compensation are enforced.

(g) Should the employe die as a result of the occupational disease, the period during which compensation shall be payable to his dependents under section three hundred and seven of this article shall be reduced by the period during which compensation was paid to him in his lifetime under this section of this article. No reduction shall be made for the amount which may have been paid or contracted to be paid for medical and hospital services and medicines, nor for the expenses of the last sickness and burial. Should the employe die from some other cause than the occupational disease, the liability for compensation shall cease.

Section 4. Subsection (a) of section three hundr eight of said act, as amended by the act approved t twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 125), is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 308. (a) When compensation is awarded because of disability or death caused by silicosis, anthracosis, pneumoconiosis, anthraco-silicosis, asbestosis, or any other occupational disease which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years, the compensation for disability or death due to such disease shall be paid jointly by the employer and the Commonwealth out of moneys to the credit of the Occupational Disease Fund hereinafter created in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund in accordance with the following provisions: If disability begins between October 1, 1939, and September 30, 1941, both dates inclusive, the employer shall be liable for and pay fifty per centum of the compensation due and the Occupational Disease Fund fifty per centum thereof. Thereafter, depending upon the date when disability begins, the proportions of compensation for which the employer and the Occupational Disease Fund shall respectively become liable shall be: If disability begins between October 1, 1941, and September 30, 1943, the employer sixty per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund forty per centum; if between October 1, 1943 and September 30, 1945, the employer seventy per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund thirty per centum; if between October 1, 1945, and September 30, 1947, the employer eighty per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund twenty per centum; if between October 1, 1947, and September 30, 1949, the employer ninety per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund ten per centum. The employer shall pay the full amount of compensation provided in this act for disability or death in all cases where disability begins on or after October 1, 1949.

Section 5. Article three of said act is hereby amended by inserting between sections three hundred eight and three hundred nine thereof, a new section to read as follows:

Section 308.1. The public policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby declared to be that the method of computing wages as set forth in this section and the rates to be paid the disabled employes or their dependents under sections 306 and 307 of this act are just and reasonable.

Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensd under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident, except that if the disabled employe was at the time of the disability a minor and his disability shall continue after he shall have reached the age of twenty-one years, his average weekly wage for the purpose of determining the compensation payable under this act shall be determined on the basis of the earnings that such minor, if not disabled, probably would earn at the age of twenty-one years. In determining such probable earnings, due consideration shall be given to the employe's aptitude, education and experience fitting him for any employment not only in the trade or business in which he was engaged at the time of the injury but in any other trade or business. In determining such probable earnings the referee and the board shall have the right to receive into evidence as competent testimony the earnings of other employes of similar aptitude, education and experience engaged in a similar trade or business and findings based upon such testimony shall be final. The term "wages" shall include board and lodging received from the employer. Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages, the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day, and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages. In seasonable occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident, unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe, in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings. In continuous employments, if immediately prior to the accident, the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe, his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day, and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer: Provided, hwever, That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six, six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade. Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers, his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation.

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week, and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature or terms of the employment, it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the disability has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring, or if there are no persons so employed, by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe.

Section 6. Section three hundred nine of said act is hereby repealed.

Section 7. Section three hundred nineteen of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 320), page 15, line 15, by striking out the words "Section 320'" and inserting in lieu thereof:

Section 8. Subsection (a) of section three hundred twenty of said act is hereby amended, and subsection (g) of said section is hereby added, to read as follows;

Section 320. (a) If the employe is a minor under the age of eighteen years, employed or permitted to work in violation of any provisions of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age, compensation, either in the case of disability or death of such employe, shall be [one hundred and ten per centum of] double the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed. The amount by which such compensation shall exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to as "additional compensation."

Section 9. Sections four hundred twenty-eight and four hundred thirty-four of said act are hereby amended to read as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 18, by inserting after line 27, the following:

Section 434. A final receipt given by an employe or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employer's liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award: Provided, however, That the board or a referee designated by the board may at any time within [two years] five hundred weeks from the date [to which payment is made as evidenced by such final receipt] of the disability set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the board if it be [conclusively] proved that [such receipt was procured by fraud, coercion or other improper conduct of a party, or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact] at the time of the execution of the receipt the disabled employe was not in fact able to return to work without loss of earning power, or that the employe had a condition which resulted from the accident which condition existed at the time the compensation agreement was executed and which was not covered by such agreement, or that the employe had an existing disability at the time the final receipt was taken.

Payments shall be made by the employer or insurance carrier on every agreement or award other than for a definite period until a final receipt has been filed with and approved by the department, or until a petition to terminate or modify has been filed under section four hundred and thirteen.

Section 10. Article four of said act is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof three new sections to read as follows:

Section 435. Any hospital, institution, physician, surgeon, or other person who has furnished surgical, medical, dental or nursing services, hospital treatment, artificial appliances, medicines or supplies for which the employer is made liable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed a party in interest and have standing with the consent of the claimant before the board or any referee designated by the board and the courts of this Commonwealth to present a claim for remuneration for such services, hospital treatment, artificial appliances, medicines and supplies, and have the same heard and determined, and shall be entitled to receive an award for such remunerations. Any such claimant shall be entitled to enforce any such award in the same manner as claimants of compensation are entitled to enforce awards of compensation.

Section 436. The board or a referee designated by the board or any court of this Commonwealth in granting an award of compensation to an injured employe or his dependants, or in affirming or modifying and affirming such an award, or in reversing the disallowance of such an award shall in addition to such compensation include in such an award or judgment expert's fees, if any, rendered in any such proceeding, payment of which may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an award may be enforced under the provisions of this act.

Section 437. Any claimant may appear in person or may appoint an attorney-in-fact to appear and represent him in filing papers and presenting the facts to a Workmen's Compensaton referee and the Workmen's Compensation Board, or he may be represented by counsel learned in the law in all matters under this act which come before a compensation referee or the compensation board. Where an injured employe or his dependents appoint an attorney-in-fact to be his or her representative in compensation proceedings before a referee or the compensation board, the instrument creating and constituting the attorney-in-fact shall be filed with the compensation board in the case.

Amend Sec. 2, page 18, line 28, by striking out the figure "2" and inserting in lieu thereof: 11

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimuos consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in offering these amendments I wish to make one question very clear by a very brief explanation.

The amendments are quite lengthy in wording but may be made very, very brief in explanation. We are not asking in these amendments any change in the schedule of compensation. The amendment merely concerns itself with including all occupational diseases into the Occupational Disease Act, and we ask you to consider it very carefully and to vote "aye" on the amendments.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that the amendments concerning schedules and rates are exactly the same as were proposed by the previous amendments, as will be indicated on page eleven.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House approve the amendments.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, these amendments, while they might not increase any of the benefits, liberalize the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Disease Act in Pennsylvania. I just want to warn you that those of you who are interested in keeping workmen's compensation as it stands today and not creating a monopoly in the state fund, better sometime stop and think, because if you do not liberalize these acts you will find that it will be necessary to set up a monopoly in the State of Pennsylvania. Industry itself will possibly be benefited. They will eventually wake up to that fact. The insurance people in the state will lose the business unless you liberalize these acts. I just want you to keep that in mind in voting on this legislation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, the heart of these amendments is the schedule of what is and what is not an occupational disease, and included in the schedule is "poisoning by arsenic, lead and mercury, manganese, poisoning by phosphorus, poisoning by various chemicals and commodities used in modern industry." As a result of war-time technology we are using chemicals to a greater and greater degree with the result that science has gone faster in injecting new disease-producing chemicals into industry than legislation has gone in classifying the poisoning as a result of those chemicals as occupational diseases.

The purpose of the amendment is to make the list of occupational diseases conform with the known result that happens in our factories.

I am, of course, even in disagreement with the amendment, and I just want to point out one of the things that sets a standard here in Pennsylvania. In this bill you raise the maximum compensation payable for disability and death from silicosis from the magnificent sum of thirty-six hundred dollars to four thousand dollars, which shall be full and complete payment for all disability to a man with the rattle of death bubbling in his lungs, sentenced irretrievably to die, nothing in modern science can save him. When you hear them talking you hear the rattle of death in their lungs, yet for complete total disability we pay them four thousand dollars and then we talk about what we are doing for the injured in industry. I tell you that in face of the fact that the mining industry and the Legislature have never been willing to face the problem of silicosis which sets the standard of our legislative achievement, and is one paragraph in this bill, the injustice of that occupational disease and that compensation being what it is, is worth another week's session of this General Assembly in order to do something for the men who are absolutely sentenced to die from the minute they contract silicosis, yet they give them four thousand dollars as total disability, and boast of our compensation laws.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I, and I presume others, find ourselves again in a position where we cannot vote intelligently on the amendments offered. For my own part I never have, I shall not now and never will vote on the acceptance of anything by this House that I have had no opportunity to study, and therefore, I cannot vote aye on these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Levy and Mr. Andrews.

Messrs. Lovett, Levy and O'Donnell asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Section 802 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, in view of the absence of quite a few of the jockeys that want to ride this horse, I ask that the bill be temporarily passed over.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent? The Chair hears objections, and consent is not granted.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, a number of the sponsors of this bill are not on the floor, they are at Committee meetings. A number of the men who are interested in this bill have asked for an opportunity to be recorded on it, and I do not think it is fair to force this bill to a roll call at this time.

The SPEAKER. There is still one committee meeting. The Chair will delay until that Committee returns.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, asked that this bill go over in order. I second that request.

The SPEAKER. The request requires no second. Unanimous consent is required and objection has been raised.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Phidadelphia will state it.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, is a motion to place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar in order?

The SPEAKER. Such a motion is in order.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. ROOT. I move that House Bill 1140 be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I wanted to save the Members of this House a great deal of the agony that they will suffer as they listen to the horse racing debate. However, they insisted on it and they can have it.

There are fifty-seven various reasons for the favorable consideration of House Bill 1140. I will not burden you with all of them, but as briefly as possible, and with your indulgence, may I call your attention to some of the reasons for an "aye" vote on this bill.

Twenty-five states have legalized horse racing, New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, California, Delaware, Kentucky, Rhode Island, are only a few of the states that have legalized it. Horse racing has become a national industry and has reached a billion dollars in total wagering in 1944.

In the State of New York for 1944 four hundred ten million dollars were collected. In the State of Illinois, one hundred fifty million dollars, in the State of Maryland, ninty-one million dollars. House Bill 1140 has the usual local option feature, and Members of the House, if your county does not desire to have a race track they do not have to have it under this bill. I submit to you that it is not right that a minority of the people should try to enforce its views upon the majority of the people in the large centers of the population of this state.

Do you know that at a poll conducted on September 1, 1944, by the Evening Bulletin they had the following results:

Approximately fifty-three per cent of the adult residents of the city who were interviewed expressed a favorable view on horse racing, but the surprise turned up in tabulating the opinion of church members and nonchurch members. Both groups favored legalized betting, and the nonchurch vote was only slightly higher than that of those with religious affiliations. Fifty-two per cent belonging to a church favored a change.

The states that have legalized horse racing have been cutting a very pretty melon in revenue, and have been lessening the tax burdens of their citizens, while Pennsylvanians unable to enjoy horse racing within their own state have been carting their money to the tracks outside Pennsylvania.

When House Bill 568 was recently considered we received a message from His Excellency the Governor in which he stated that there is going to be an urgent need for additional revenue to finance teachers' salaries. This bill will give the state approximately twenty to twenty-five million dollars of additional revenue, and that alone, Mr. Speaker, is sufficient reason for a favorable vote on this bill.

Pennsylvania breeds horses; Pennsylvania horses won the honors at the Kentucky Derby and other race tracks. By your vote tonight will you allow these horses to run on the soil on which they are born and bred? Vote for this bill and encourage open honest sportsmanship. Do not try to legislate against human impulse. We tried it with prohibition, and you know the result, all the tap rooms, all the young men and women that are drinking today are a byproduct of an attempt to legislate morals. Thousands of bets are made illegally every day everywhere; yes, even around the country stores or whereever men congregate. It is human to take a chance. Do not make law violators of them; make them honest by giving them an opportunity to do it openly. Reform by the reform minded citizens of our population certainly does not convert racing fans to abstain from participating in racing.

Those who come from the western part of the state may be interested to know that there were last year seventy thousand paid admissions one day at Hemp Field and a parking lot of forty acres was filled with parked cars from Pennsylvania. At Camden seventy-five per cent of the receipts from that track comes from Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania has notable horse farms. The names of Riddle, Jeffords and Widener are known to all Pennsylvanians.

This state has all the natural resources to supply and support the breeding and raising of horses. Let us construct and operate racing centers by citizens and officials of known reputation and integrity to insure the maintenance of this sport upon the highest level. Do not let fear and hypocricy stand in the way of this honest sport, the sport of kings as well as the sport of commoners within the boundaries of our own state.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Costa, Dalrymple and Skale asked for a verification of the roll.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1945.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that House Bill No. 289, Printer's No. 198, entitled "An act to further amend section four the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 138) entitled 'An act defining vocational education providing for the establishment and regulation of vocational schools and providing for State aid in the maintenance thereof and for the payment of tution by certain school districts and reimbursement thereof by the State' by adding clause (d) providing for future veterans and rehabilitation programs in public schools," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 577, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven hundred eight and to further amend clause (f) of section seven hundred thirty-one of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by changing the time limitation for tagging big game controlling the removal and transportation of big game requiring report of such killing and providing penalties

Section 1 Section seven hundred eight of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 708 Tagging Removing Transporting and Reporting Big Game Each person killing a big game animal found in a wild state shall [within four hours] immediately after removing the entrails but in any event within one hour and before transporting or removing the carcass in any manner from where it was killed attach thereto the big game tag supplied with his hunting license both parts of which shall be properly completed The portion supplied with his hunting license for reporting such killing shall be mailed to the commission at Harrisburg within five days following the close of the season for the animal killed

If such animal has been lawfully killed by a person not required to secure a license or by a person who has previously killed another legal big game animal or by a person who has lost the tag supplied with his license such person shall make and attach a tag within [four hours] the time specified after such killing bearing in plain English his name address and if holding a license the license number [and county number if the license bears such number] with the [location] date township if known and county where such game was killed On a similar tag or on a post card such person shall within five days following the close of the season for the animal killed mail to the commission at Harrisburg a statement setting forth the information above including the kind of animal whether male or female the dressed weight actual or estimated and if a male deer the total number of points on both antlers

Every failure to have said tag attached or removing or transporting such animal in any manner or failure to mail the report as herein provided shall subject the person so neglecting to the penalties provided in this article and if the person responsible for such neglect to tag any such game cannot be located each member of the camp or party shall be individually liable to such penalty

Any game found in the possession of any person and not tagged as herein provided shall be forfeited to the Commonwealth to be disposed of as hereinafter provided and may be seized by any officer whose duty it is to enforce the game laws

Section 2 Clause (f) of section seven hundred thirty-one of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 810) is hereby further amended to read as follows

(f) For failure to tag or mark [a deer or elk or bear within four hours after killing] any big game animal as required by the provisions of this article [twenty-five dollars] ten dollars for failing to tag and for removing or transporting in any manner any big game animal which has not been tagged as required by the provisions of this article twenty-five dollars for failure to report the killing of a big game animal as required by the provisions of this article two dollars

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues levied assessed collectible and accruing during such two fiscal years defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation

Whereas The present session of the General Assembly has provided revenues of the Commonwealth amounting to at least three hundred sixty-nine million dollars ($369,000,000) for general purposes for the biennial fiscal period beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five and

Whereas Such revenues though levied and assessed will not be available in large part for the current and other expenses of the State government until the later parts of the two fiscal years respectively of the said biennial fiscal period and the collectible revenues may not be sufficient to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the earlier parts of such fiscal years respectively and

Whereas In order that the obligations of the Commonwealth may be met promptly and in order that the State government might not fail through lack of funds it may become necessary temporarily to obtain funds to defray the current and other expenses of the State Government during the fiscal period aforesaid until the revenues that are subsequently accruing to the State Treasury during said fiscal period are available for this purpose

Section 1 The Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized and directed during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June on thousand nine hundred forty-five from time to time to borrow on the credit of the current revenues of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania such sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of one hundred twenty million dollars ($120,000,000) as may be necessary to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during such fiscal years

Section 2 (a) Such loans shall be evidenced by notes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania All of said notes shall mature not later than the thirty-first day of Ma one thousand nine hundred forty-seven Such notes are hereby declared to be tax anticipation notes Such notes or renewals thereof shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such sums and subject to such terms and conditions rates of interest not in excess of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall determine and direct

(b) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall bear either the signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer or the facsimile signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in which latter event such notes shall be countersigned by two officers of the Philadelphia National Bank (Loan and Transfer Agent of the Commonwealth) All such notes shall bear a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth

(c) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall have the qualities and incidents of negotiable instruments under the Negotiable Instruments Law of the Commonwealth

(b) The current revenues of the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five are pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of such notes which shall be payable in lawful money of the United States All notes issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

Section 3 The proceeds derived from the negotiation of loans under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury and shall be used for the payment of appropriations made from such fund to defray the current and other expenses of the State government for the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five

Section 4 Any loans negotiated under the provisions of this act shall be secured by the current revenues levied and assessed for revenue purposes of every kind or character accruing to the General Fund of the State Treasury during the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five and shall be paid out of such revenues and so much of such revenues as may be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of such loans are hereby specifically appropriated The Department of Revenue shall allocate such revenues to said payments

Section 5 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are held unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. BROWN and MAHANY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 2 (subsec. 18.1), page 5, lines 19 to 23, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend sec. 2 (subsec. 18.2), page 5, line 24, by striking out the figures "(18.2)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(18.1)"

Amend sec. 2 (subsec. 18.3), page 7, line 27, by striking out the figures "(18.3)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(18.2)".

Amend sec. 2 (subsec. 18.4), page 9, lines 20 to 28, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend sec. 2 (subsec. 18.4), page 10, lines 1 to 28, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend sec. 2 (subsec. 18.4), page 11, lines 1 to 23, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker——

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker——

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I was going to ask the gentleman from Delaware to yield for just a moment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, requests the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, to yield. Does the gentleman wish to correct an error?

Mr. BROWN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I do. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

I merely wanted to make a correction. The amendments are presented on behalf of myself and the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahaney.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, tell the House what these amendments do?

Mr. BROWN. The first amendment, Mr. Speaker, would delete subsection 18.1 on page five, taking out of the bill the right of fiduciaries to invest trust funds in obligations of municipal authorities.

The next set of amendments would take out on page nine, subsection 18.4 the right there given to fiduciaries to invest trust funds in preferred stock of certain corporations as enumerated in the bill.

Mr. TURNER. Is that all that these amendments accomplish?

Mr. BROWN. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. The amendments eliminate two investments which are permitted under the bill?

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. The first one being bonds of municipal authorities and the second one being permission to invest in preferred stocks?

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. As I said yesterday, I had no objection to the presentation of amendments at this time, but I do object to the adoption of the amendments for two reasons: in the first place, as applied to the bonds of municipal authorities, I think any student of municipal authorities, —and I am sure that if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, had made a study of municipal authorities and their bonds, the way they have been accepted upon the market, the history of the bonds, the kind of securities that they offer, that he would not have offered this amendment. The Joint State Government Commission has made, as you know, a study of municipal authorities as they were changed in the 1943 session. They sent out questionnaires; they gathered a great lot of information, and I find from the data obtained by the Commission that municipal authorities since the 1935 Act permitted the creation of municipal authorities, have issued at least forty-one million dollars of bonds. Of that forty-one million dollars worth of bonds there has been one default in the sum of eighty-five thousand dollars, or less than one-fifth of one per cent. Municipal authority bonds have never been in default. I think if you will investigate you will find that that is a better record than municipal bonds have made in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The authority bonds rest for their security alone upon the revenue. Unless they have revenue producing and self-liquidating projects they cannot operate under the law, and therefore, as they have the power to fix rates and have the power to assess the rates which are to be paid, they are always assured of a revenue sufficient to meet the charges. Of the forty-one million dollars worth of bonds, the great majority of them have been purchased by large insurance companies, by trust companies and by other groups of investors in large blocks, and they are held at premium prices by the holders. There have been interest rates as low as 1.75 and the average of the rates runs from three to three and one-half per cent. If they can attract that kind of interest, if people are willing to invest their money at that low rate of interest in these bonds, certainly they must have a standing on the market, they must have soundness, otherwise the large investing organizations that have great research staffs would not be investing in these bonds.

The advantage in this bill is to the consumer and the rate payer. If this bill goes through, the authorities will be able to get a better price for their bonds and they will be able to get lower rates of interest than they otherwise could, because the bonds would become more attractive to the bond houses, banks and buyers generally. Therefore when you strike this provision from the bill you are not injuring some mythical group, you are injuring the rate payer who must profit, becaues the authority is a non-profit organization; all its money goes to the retirement of its securities; it goes to the amortization of the securities, and therefore every bit of money that can be saved is that much money saved toward the liquidation of the debt. It is therefore of much advantage to the rate payer and to the municipality, and I cannot but feel that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, for whose legal ability I have a great deal of respect, has gone into a field in which he does not understand the problem fully, otherwise he would not attempt to strike from this bill this provision.

You know there was an interim between the 1943 and this session, and it was considered whether there should not be an amendment made to the Authority Bill, Senate Bill 423, which has passed both Houses and is now in the hands of the Governor,—whether there should not be an amendment to that bill to carry this provision into effect, but it was felt by those who were studying the matter, and familiar with it, that any amendment of this kind should go into the Fiduciary Act.

As far as preferred stocks are concerned I think with the safeguards thrown around them preferred stocks are just as desirable an investment as are the bonds of many corporations. I think that the difficulty that rests in the minds of many of those who have thought on this subject is this, they seem to feel that because it is written in the act that you can buy certain bonds or a certain preferred stock, that the minute a fiduciary buys them, he is relieved of all responsibility because the act happens to say that that is a legal investment.

The bonds of municipalities are legal investments, but I know of lots of municipalities whose bonds no trustees would ever buy. I know of municipalities that have defaulted in their municipal bonds and cannot collect their tax rates. I know of bonds, first mortgage bonds of railroads, that have at times been considered gilt edge, that have become in default. I have known of other bonds as many of you have, that went into default and it would not relieve a trustee if he bought that security and did not exercise due care and diligence.

Subsection 19 of this act, which was originally in this bill, but because of the numbering of the sections was eventually eliminated, was in the fiduciary act, which contains this paragraph.

> Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as relieving any fiduciary from the duty of exercising due care and prudence in the performance of the duties of his office.

So the fiduciary, notwithstanding the fact that he is empowered under this bill to buy a certain class of securities, must exercise due diligence in doing so. He cannot do it just because he is empowered to do so in this bill.

The reason for this bill is this, and I believe every man who deals in trust funds or who has trust funds for investment, understand that the great difficulty today is to find investments that will make a return that will help the people. The man who is suffering is not the large buyer of the bonds, the sufferer is not the banking and financial institutions, although their earnings have been cut, but the sufferers are the small estates, the widows and orphans with small estates of five thousand or ten thousand dollars. Where at one time you could have expected a return of at least four and a half to five percent on your money, today there are literally thousands of people who are dependent on the income from investments of this kind, aged people who are dependent on this money and who today have their income cut in more than half, because the banks cannot find and the trust companies cannot find investments in the restricted area or field for investment of trust funds at the present time.

I still think this bill is a good bill. It has the support of the banking and trust companies in almost every part of this state. There has just been opposition from one point, and that is all. I feel that this bill was studied by men who know the investment field and know the trust field. I do not think that those men have any desire to open this field so wide that there will be abuses. I have read the bill over carefully two or three times. I think there are checks and double checks, and as I said before, the bonds of our municipal authorities are a sound and safe investment for any fund. I know of no better security in the United States in the investment field.

Tomorrow you are going to have a large number of these authorities created in Pennsylvania to finance sewage disposal systems in Pennsylvania. You have made in the past bonds of the Turnpike Commission investments for trust funds. You have made the bonds of the Housing Authorities an investment for trust funds, and if you had had the opporunity to have studied and to have known our municipal authorities as I have, I think you would agree with me that you would rather have a municipal authority bond any day than you would have a Housing Authority bond. If they are safe investments in that respect, the Turnpike and Housing Authority bonds, then these muncipal authority bonds are safe investments, and I ask that you vote down these amendments.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I know that I would not attempt to argue with the gentleman from Delaware as to authorities, but I think the gentleman from Delaware has missed the intent of this bill. This is a bill not dealing with whether the authorties can get better prices for their bonds or whether their bonds are readily saleable on the market; this is a bill dealing with trust funds, and we in Pennsylvania have always been exceedingly jealous in guaranteeing to those people for whom these funds are intended, the return of those funds to them at the proper time.

In 1937 and prior there to we studied and we codified certain laws dealing with trust investments. No such study has been given to this bill. I do not doubt the gentleman's word that he believes that municipal authorities are proper investments for trust funds. The authorities that he is connected with may be, but this is for all authorities, and we are creating authorities so fast here and now that no one will know what will be the outcome of those authorties from the financial standpoint. There is no hurry for this bill; if the authorities, as the gentleman from Delaware has so well said, can sell their bonds so quickly on the market, then why do we want to utilize trust funds? It seems to me that we ought to let the trust funds remain as they are. This bill with the amendments would give them a wide latitude to invest in debenture bonds and bonds of certain corporations, and then after the authorities have proven their worth it may be that it might be possible to broaden the base in that direction. I do not believe we are hurting the authorities. The gentleman says that their bonds are saleable and are taken at a low rate of interest. That is fine; we are all glad to hear that. That is for the investor who wants to speculate, but we cannot speculate with trust funds, and I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that these amendments are proper, these amendments will safeguard these trust funds, and that is what the Legislature ought to do.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I have been listening to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and I rise at this time to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny. It is true that, as the gentleman from Allegheny indicated, we in Pennsylvania have been extremely jealous with respect to the protection of trust funds. However, those who are in charge of trust funds today have been faced with a serious and difficult problem in finding proper investments. My study of this bill has indicated to me that we are not in any way endangering trust funds, because all this bill proposes to do is to permit the trustees, the fiduciaries to invest in securities which are absolutely suitable.

Now, the prudent investment theory, which this bill is aiming to meet has been enacted in twenty states, I understand—twenty states where they have a similar law to what this bill proposes to enact, and there have been no unseemly results. I cannot see where there would be any danger imposed upon trust funds because it is giving them an opportunity to invest in certain types of investments, and accordingly I ask the Members of the House to oppose these amendments.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I first want to point out that this special section relative to municipal authorities was not in the original bill as amended in the Senate, but was later amended to provide for municipal authorities. Also I want to point out that this is not a prudent investment theory as Mr. Rose has stated and is not in line with legislation passed by other states. The prudent investment theory bill was, as I understand, presented but was not put out of Committee, and this was some type of a compromise that was let out and was done very hurriedly during the last minute.

As Mr. Brown has pointed out the laws of the state of Pennsylvania have been very careful in stipulating what these trustees can invest in, and we have set up a certain number of investments which are allowable. If the maker of a will or the creator of a trust agreement desires to have this trustee invest in securities which are not as conservative, but are more risky than those we set up in the laws, he may do so in his will or in the trust agreement. He may set forth in his will that his trustee can invest in any type of securities that he sets forth, but in the absence of that provision that trustee is limited to the type of investment which we say under our laws he may invest in.

I believe that there will be many authorities instituted in the future. For instance, the Brunner Bill is going to be the means of setting up many authorities in the state of Pennsylvania for taking care of sewage treatment, and every little city will want to have a sewage disposal plant. Those sewage disposal plants cost a lot of money. For instance, a town of eight thousand persons will have to build a sewage plant which will cost them approximately one hundred fifty thousand dollars. Many of those cities have now borrowed up to the hilt, as far as the law of the state of Pennsylvania has allowed them to borrow, and that is seven per cent of their assessed valuation, and they cannot borrow another nickle to put up a disposal plant. How are they going to do it? They are going to get around that law by incorporating an Authority and issuing bonds in the guise of authority bonds. Those authority bonds do not depend upon the full credit of the municipality, they depend entirely upon revenue, and many of those cities will not be able to pay for those bonds in my opinion. The thing is in its infancy. We want to protect the man who sets up securities for his wife and for his children, and we don't want that widow and those children at some future date to find that they don't have any principal on which they can live for the rest of their lives; the only thing that they will have will be a lot of worthless bonds.

We have discussed this authority proposition perhaps more than we have the preferred stock. If you Members have followed the stock market you will find that a great many big corporations have defaulted in their preferred stock, especially after the 1929 stock market crash when there were many big corporations that defaulted in the preferred stock. Therefore, we think that preferred stock is not a proper investment for a trustee to make. As I said before, if you want to set up in your will the right of your trustee to invest in wild-cat securities you may do so, and you may also do so in your trust agreement. Therefore, I believe that everyone should vote in favor of this amendment. It is not a partisan proposition, it is certainly something we should do in order to protect the investment and future income of widows and children.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Crawford whether if these amendments are adopted he will vote for this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I think that question is out of order.

Mr. TURNER. I don't think so, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman.

I think we can readily see that the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, is not in favor of the bill under any circumstances, and that therefore the question of the amendment is not a sincere effort to make the bill what he thinks would be a good bill, but an effort to defeat the bill.

I would like briefly to answer one statement that the gentleman from Crawford made, and that is about the securities which have been available for legal investment of trust funds under the act that we have had in Pennsylvania. I think every man who has had any contract with trust funds or trust companies or who has investments of his own will know that his portfolio will have many mortgages in it, even under appraisement where they have taken losses. I know of many estates that have taken grievious losses through investments in mortgages.

I know of many a municipality whose municipal bonds are in default. Now, what does the trustee do? Just because the bill says that he can invest in the bonds of an authority, he will not invest in every little authority he can find. He investigates the muncipality. He knows the municipality and he finds out what the municipality's position is, he finds out what the authority is going to do; he learns from the report what will be the revenue. The authority has the right, if it is a water company, to make a water rate and it fixes the rate to raise sufficient money to amortize the bonds and pay the interest on them. In practically all the indentures that I have seen is a provision that the rentals must raise one hundred twenty percent to pay the interest and to amortize the bonds, so it seems to me that the argument does not hold water; the argument is unsound. We have millions of dollars of investments that are held by some of the most skillful investors in the country, that have a marvelous record, so much so that it is almost impossible for them to fail, because I tell you of one eighty-five thousand dollar loss where they had the WPA agreement in the beginning, and the WPA folded up, and other questions entered into it. It was not a question of a going authority whose bonds were on the market or were available, so I again ask the House to vote down the amendments.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, is it a fact that presently before a public authority can purchase a water works or when they enter into an agreement to purchase a water works from a private individual, that that first has to be approved by the Public Utility Commission?

Mr. TURNER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GRANT. How many purchases have been approved by the Public Utility Commission since the amendment was put into effect in 1943?

Mr. TURNER. There has been one approval, I think, and there are one or two now before the Commission.

Mr. GRANT. How many have been filed since 1943?

Mr. TURNER. I have no exact knowledge about that, but I would say about three or four.

Mr. GRANT. How many public authorities purchased water works and any other public utilities prior to the amendment that was put into effect in 1943?

Mr. TURNER. I think there was a total of about thirty.

Mr. GRANT. I thank the gentleman from Delaware. Mr. Speaker, as I see this problem in the first place the public utilities themselves want to hamstring the public authorities and discount their popularity and the great strides that they were making by passing the amendment that was passed in the 1943 session, and I think the gentleman from Delaware will agree with me. I bitterly opposed that amendment and he also opposed it. Therefore, the question of investment in those particular authorities that are in existence will be at a very minimum if the experience of the past two years means anything at all.

Now, as to this bill and the amendment itself, the gist of this problem as I see it is whether or not the people who originally made these trusts ever intended to give the trustees the right to invest in the two types of investments that are included in this bill. I think that some of the men who set up these trusts, would turn over in their graves if they knew that the trustees of their estates would have the right to invest in this type of investment.

The whole gist of this matter is whether or not we can give these banks the right to invest in these two new types of investment. That is the whole problem. The question has been presented here that the bankers are unable to raise enough money for these people for whom they are investing this money, but as I see it the men who set up these trusts in the first place knew at the time that they made their wills that if they so desired they could have authorized these trustees to invest in these very types of investments, but they didn't see fit to do so at that time.

It goes without saying that the banks are interested in having a further extension of the right to invest because they are interested in making larger returns for themselves, for which they get five per cent commission. I was approached by the bankers in my town about this very proposition. They would like to have the right to invest in improved investment offers, but the experiences of the banks have been such that they have not been any too prudent in many instances. I said to the gentlemen approaching me in my city, whom I know very well, I know that they are very well qualified to make these investments, and I would not hesitate to make a will and entrust them to make investments of the type included in the prudent investment bill. I say I know other investors that are darned good farmers, and I wouldn't like them to invest my money in one type of investment or another, so it comes down to this, are we now willing to allow these trustees to invest in these two new types of investments or are we going to say that the men who at the time they made their wills never intended to make investments of this nature, because if they had they would have included in their wills the authority to do so. I rise, Mr. Speaker, to repeat that I do not think that the men who originally made these trusts ever figured that they would be extended to cover this, and anybody in the future who desires to permit this type of investment, included in the prudent investment bill, that they have the right to do so.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, very briefly on the amendments if I may. The bill as it is before us without the amendments has four different kinds of investments to be permitted to fiduciaries. The attempt to strike out municipal authorities and the attempt to strike out preferred stock investments I think is an attempt to satisfy an ideal. There has been much said about what happened before 1929 in the stock market when people lost money, and my experience is that I have seen as many bonds go bad as preferred stocks. Most investors have no objection to investment in bonds, but they have objections to investments in preferred stocks. Since 1929 we have the Securities and Exchange Commission that must pass on all securities, upon all issues of stocks, and not only pass upon the stock but they also pass upon the placing of the stock upon the market as it is sold each day. I think we have governmental safeguards that will insure greater safety in stocks. As I see it this bill is not necessarily for trust officers. They know how to get good investments and how to make good investments because they have at their hands sources of information and means for finding out what is the best investment. I believe it is for the benefit of widows and orphans or little estates and little trustees, who do not know where to get the best stocks, and who want to enlarge their field of investment so that they can find more of investments and get a better income which the big companies are able to get because they can pay a better premium.

I have had trouble getting good mortgage investments for people I represent, and I would like to get in on some decent stuff which is policed by the SEC and regulated by the Public Utilities Commission of Pennsylvania. If you will read the preferred stock restrictions I think you will agree with me that they would be safe as investments.

I think, Mr. Speaker, either we ought to defeat the entire bill or defeat these amendments and pass the bill, because I can't see any difference in what may turn out to be bad bonds or what might turn out to be bad preferred stocks. I prefer, that we have the whole subject before us. I thnk we ought to defeat the amendments and discuss the bill itself with all its features rather than amend it now.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On a rising vote sixty-seven members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-one in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, it is difficult to add anything more to what has just been said in the debate concerning the introduction of the amendments. It is unfortunate that this bill arises at this time when none of us are perhaps physically in position to give it the attention it should be given. There were some wild statements made on the floor of this House during the debate on the amendments which I did not challenge but which I think were made purposely to becloud the issue.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, says that this bill or a similar bill was enacted in twenty-one states. There is not a state in the Union that has such a bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, says that he would rather have some preferred stocks than certain debenture bonds. I am sure that the gentleman from Philadelphia, the lawyer, did not intend to make that statement. However, I am not going to prolong the debate. If this Legislature feels that this sacred money of persons left in trust for minors, for widows, for people who are not able to take care of their own property, should be left open to be thrown upon the market, then I can do nothing but vote "no"'. There is no particular rush for this bill. There isn't any bank that anybody has named that is interested in this bill, and I don't believe anyone can name any bank that is interested in this bill.

I am not trying to intimate that the bill has any personal or any ulterior motive behind it, but I cannot understand at this time, knowing how we have steadily and how the people of Pennsylvania have steadily been trying to be cautious in protecting trust funds, knowing the losses we have sustained throughout the years even when we have tried to protect trust funds, and what a chaotic condition has been brought about in the investment of these trust funds on occasion.

I am not going to prolong this debate. If it is the will of this Legislature that this bill be passed, I can only say that I believe it will come back to haunt them, that we should not pass this type of legislation without due consideration and due study, and I intend to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we have a banking measure, said to be an investment measure for the benefit of widows and orphans. They tell of the immense opportunity if the doors can be opened, of enabling the widows and orphans to get more for their meager inheritance, their meager competence.

There has not been a single reputable financier outside of the Senate and the House who has gone on record in favor of this bill; there has not been a single reputable lawyer of note outside the Senate and this House who has gone on record in favor of this bill. I would say that the financial testimony adduced at this bar has been eminently immature, and I am sure that the legal opinion is as yet fairly evenly divided, because the gentleman from Delaware and the gentleman from Philadelphia have said one thing and the gentleman from Allegheny has said something else. I do not know whether in a question of law and a question of prudence the talent of the gentleman from Allegheny does not quite balance that of the gentleman from Delaware and the gentleman from Philadelphia. Have you ever heard of an instance in which there was such profound bleeding, heart bleeding because of the widow's mite? We come to protect the widow and the orphan, and what door do we open? The gentleman from Allegheny is quite right, we open the door to the authorities, we proceed to adopt authorities when we talk about trust funds. Now, I don't know, I hope someone will inform me whether corporations having the record that this bill says they have can issue new issues of stock that would come under the requirements of this bill? There are going to be floods of new issues, money has been damming up, that is true, and a lot of people want those funds that have been gathered.

Some of the eminent gentlemen who have been perhaps interested in these funds are in the same class as the gentleman who filled portfolios with Peruvian bonds, Chile bonds, Berlin bonds because they were bonds, and the same gentlemen would not have any more conscience in filling portfolios with stocks, preferred or common.

It is peculiar, and I sympathize with them, the sponsor of these amendments, who protest about the hurry. This is very important legislation, it goes down an entirely new lane as far as the investment of trust funds is concerned, and I hope that this weary House, this very, very weary House does not start down that lane in its present weary condition.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware has accused me of wearing a black shirt in the House. I have been called other things, but this is the first time that he accused me of being insincere. I don't think he means it, because I was sincere in presenting these amendments, and I am sincere in saying that without the amendments I am against this bill. Our banks in the western end of the state are against the bill, the banks in my county are against the bill, and they have derived their guidance from the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh that seems to be the leader in the fiduciary field in the western end of the state, and they are very much opposed to this bill and have asked that it not be passed.

In addition to that they say they would like to have time between now and the next Session of the Legislature to study a possible means of opening the door somewhat for fiduciary investments, but they do not believe that this bill is the thing to pass, and therefore, they have asked us to not pass it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the statement of the gentleman on the other side, particularly the sarcastic statements of the editor from Johnstown, who undoubtedly felt that he was still writing for that sheet of his out there and dipped his pen in the vitriolic ink that uses for editorial comments.

The gentleman from Cambria sometimes knows what he is talking about. This time he was travelling off into the realm of fantasy, and he got himself all tied up in the idea of sarcasm and the innuendo in his speech to such an extent that he forgot to bear down on the facts and to talk factual matters.

I find that this measure was passed by the Senate thirty-eight to four, and there was some implication by one of the opponents that there must be something wrong because an amendment appeared in this bill that was not in the bill when it passed the Senate. I thought I made perfectly clear the reason why it is here, and that the amendment was introduced after discussion with the men who are interested in the bill and after discussion with the Senator who I felt was in the closest contact with both the banks and trust companies and the Authority question, and he said that it was the understanding, that I would introduce this amendment in the House.

When the gentleman from Cambria attempts out of his long imagination to state that there are no banks that have been interested,—or perhaps it was the gentleman from Allegheny who said no one had pointed out where any bank was interested, and therefore it must be just a few of us in the House who are interested, that is be a most silly assertion and on its face ought to have no weight with anyone in this House.

I would say that no later than last Friday I received in my office in Chester a letter from one of the most respected trust officers of one of the largest trust companies in Philadelphia urging me to support this bill. As I had an errand in Philadelphia, and had another matter that I wanted to discuss with him, I went to his office and discussed this matter with him. He told me the reason for it, he told me this was a good bill, that he would have liked to have a broader investment bill than was proposed, but there was opposition by many banks and it was felt that perhaps it should not be so broad, and therefore this bill was preferable.

Since this debate has been going on there have been handed to me from by Members of the House letters from banks. I would like to read an excerpt from the First National Bank and Trust Company of Bethlehem in which the gentleman signs himself as Chairman of Corporate Fiduciaries of Group 3:

> This bill, Senate Bill No. 641 will be of material benefit in the administration of trust funds, although not nearly as beneficial as the Prudent Investment Trust bills were. As an individual trust man and also as acting chairman of corporate fiduciaries of Group 3, I would appreciate your support of Senate Bill 641 by voting in favor of its enactment.

Another Member of this House has handed me two letters from the largest trust company in the northeastern section of the state, the Scranton-Lackawanna Trust Company of Scranton, Pennsylvania, in which he asks him to support this measure. He says in one letter:

> The officers of this company are very much interested in securing the passage of Senate Bill 641. This bill has passed the Senate by thirty-eight to four. Mr. McKee as Secretary of Banking approves the legislation. We would all appreciate if when it comes up in the House you will cast your vote in favor of it.

I might say if I had thought for one moment that there would be anyone with the temerity to say that none of the banks were interested, I could have gone to my locker and produced letters from banks and I can produce letters from individuals, men and women from my own county, who have written me asking me to support this measure, because they said it was not possible to secure the kind of investments that were needed for trust funds, that their income had been so cut that they were asking that there be a broadened base and a broader field of investment in order to increase their earning. So I say let us not get on our feet and weep for the widows and orphans, let us present plain facts. Let us not try to throw bricks at the Members of the House; let us not try to impugn the motives of any of the Members; let us not say that this is a measure that somebody thought about that has no backing, something that was picked out of the air, but let us come down here and argue it fairly and in the right kind of way. If you know anything about investments, talk about investments and not about your poor widows and orphans.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware is apparently carried away with his enthusiasm to have this bill passed. I want to reiterate that the gist of this whole bill is whether or not we want to extend or broaden the field of legal investments.

As I said before, I was approached by the bankers in my town to support this bill, but it is my honest conviction that this right should not be extended to them because of the fact that at the time these men made these wills and set up these trusts they did not contemplate any other type of investment than those that were in existence at the time they made their wills, otherwise they would have included in their will the right to the trustee to invest in something other than that particular type of investment. That is the whole gist of this bill, and nothing further than that. Do not lose sight of the fact that the bankers are interested in the five percent commission that they will receive from the additional revenue that they may obtain from this type of investment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am deeply indebted to the gentleman from Delaware who uncovers this particular diversion of opinion. I am interested to know that he and other Members have received so many letters from various bankers who up to this time did not show their hand, and that is a peculiar fact. Now I say to the bankers, to the banking fraternity, that as the guardians of trust funds their position has not been impeccable and their opinion, even of the bankers has not been such as has always ministered to the safety of those who invest money or people who are dependent upon small competences.

I am sorry that I have aroused the gentleman from Delaware to such extreme language, but I would say to him that it would have been far better had he trotted out his alleged expert evidence instead of sitting on it. We ought to have more of the same kind of thing. It ill behooves him to come into this House arguing this thing through on the basis of authority when he had in the back of his head an entirely different motive.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state it.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, if a Member has a personal interest in a bill, may he vote on the bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the constitutional provision (Article III Section 33) on this question:

> A Member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the House shall disclose the fact to the House and shall not vote thereon.

The Chair will also read from Decisions of the House a portion of Paragraph 148A (Pa. Manual, 1943, page 756).

> The right of a Member to represent his constituency, is of such major importance that a Member should be barred from voting on matters of direct personal interest only in clear cases and when the matter to be voted upon is particularly personal.
> When the matters under consideration affect a cause rather than individuals, the personal interest belongs, to that cause and is not such as to disqualify a Member from voting.

If that interest is common in a class it is not a personal interest.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in reading the Constitution I thought there was a possibility that we really accomplished something when we refused to allow people who have a personal interest in legislation to vote on it, but after reading through I find that the Constitution as usual is very elastic and takes care of my attorney friends and everybody else. However, I do think we should be fair, and those who have a personal interest should get up and say so and not vote on the bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I have your indulgence for just a moment? I am reluctant to challenge the remarks of my good friend from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I admit that all of us do not know all of the intricacies involved in corporation finances, but we do understand some of the English language, and I call his attention to page nine of this bill, the clause dealing with preferred stock, which says

> After a corporation has been in existence for ten years and has paid its taxes for ten years, > and has not defaulted in any of its taxes and has a capital investment of not less than fifty million dollars. . . ."

Now, why fifty million dollars? What kind of a bill is this? How many corporations can meet this test? If they want to broaden the base, why don't they broaden it on a sound financial basis? It doesn't matter to me whether the corporation has assets of fifty million dollars or ten million dollars, the question is, is it sound? A fifty million dollar corporation that has assets,—and this bill says nothing about liabilities, could be just as insolvent as a five million dollar corporation. I say to the gentleman from Delaware and the Members of this House this bill should not pass until we at least know what is behind it and have a chance to see that these investments are going to be safe.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Mahany, Powers and Fleming asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 583, as follows:

An Act to amend Paragraph (d) of Section 409 of the Public Utility Law (Act of May 28, 1937 P. L. 1053) entitled "Relating to the regulation of public utilities defining as public utilities certain corporations companies associations and persons providing for the regulation of public utilities including to a limited extent municipalities engaging in public utility business by prescribing defining and limiting their duties powers and liabilities and regulating the exercise surrender or abandonment of their powers privileges and franchises defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons associations companies and corporations including to a limited extent municipal corporations subject to this act and administering the provisions of this act authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale methods of regulating rates providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued assumed or kept by persons associations companies corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act conferring upon the commission power to vary reform or revise certain contracts conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction alterations relocation protection or

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the payment of certain moral claims providing for the hearing adjustment and paying of moral claims of persons injured and dependent relatives members of families and personal representatives of persons killed through negligence in the operation of trucks of or under the control of the Pennsylvania National Guard

Section 1 The sum of twenty-five thousand ($25.000) dollars is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Military Affairs for the purpose of compensating any person for hospital medical and miscellaneous expenses loss of wages pain and suffering and to compensate any dependent relative or member of the family or personal representative of any person for hospital medical funeral and incidental expenses and loss of support where any such person was injured or killed in an accident between a passenger motor vehicle and a truck of or under control of the Pennsylvania National Guard and where no insurance was carried by the Commonwealth on such truck and where such person dependent relatives and members of a family are otherwise barred by law from recovery against the Commonwealth

Section 2 Any such person so heretofore or hereafter injured or any dependent relative member of a family or personal representative of such person so heretofore or hereafter killed as provided in section one of this act may present a claim for compensation to the Board of Finance and Revenue and for the purpose of hearing and adjusting such claims the Adjutant General of the Commonwealth shall become a member of said board with full powers of a member thereof

Section 3 The Board of Finance and Revenue shall hear and determine all such claims and if in any case the board determines that such injury or death was caused by the negligence of the operator of the truck of the Pennsylvania National Guard that no insurance was carried on such truck by the Commonwealth that a moral claim exists against the Commonwealth for such injury or death and that such claim or claims are not adjustable or recoverable under existing law against the Commonwealth it shall make a finding to that effect and shall fix the sum which in its opinion will compensate any such injured person or the dependent relative or members of the family or any person killed and shall certify such findings to the Adjutant General

Any amount so fixed by the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be payable from the appropriation hereinbefore made by requisition of the Adjutant General in the manner provided by law and to each such requisition shall be attached the findings of the Board of Finance and Revenue

Section 4 The action of the Board of Finance and Revenue in allowing or disapproving a claim shall be final and there shall be no appeal therefrom but the board in its discretion may grant rehearings on any claim and make new findings in accordance with this act

Section 5 This act shall become effective on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire as to what legislative day we are now operating under.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are on the legislative day of May 3, 1945.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, has there been any extension or turning back of the clock or any other parliamentary proceeding to keep us in that legislative day?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The only thing that would end this legislative day is the adjournment of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, whence comes the time honored custom of turning back the clock when we turn Sunday into Saturday?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. When we are meeting the question of adjourning sine die.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LEVY. I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, whether these bills being reported from the Committee are being reported and unanimous consent asked to have them read for the first time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. No bills have been read as yet. The reading of bills for the first time will require unanimous consent or suspension of the rules.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman who reported out of committee Senate Bill No. 612 asked to have the bill read for the first time. I would like to know whether the bill received first reading?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. No bill has received first reading. It will require unanimous consent or suspension of the Rules to read for the first time bills reported from Committee as committed.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LEVY. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, asked a similar question to that which I asked a few minutes before.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. And received a similar answer.

Mr. LEVY. Yes. I just want to get an explanation as to the answer. The Chair stated that the bill would be read for the first time if unanimous consent is granted—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Or the Rules suspended.

Mr. LEVY. Suspension of the Rules of what?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Suspension of the Rules of the House.

Mr. LEVY. What rules do we suspend when we ask unanimous consent to have a bill read for the first time? Do the rules of the House conform with the Constitution and Laws of the Commonwealths?

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, for presiding.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I was on the floor prior in a discussion with the acting Speaker and the Parliamentarian on a parliamentary question, I believe.

I have not as yet received an answer as to whether the Parliamentarian has rendered an opinion or not. I asked a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please repeat the question?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the question of parliamentary inquiry was raised regarding bills being reported out of Committee and a request made for unanimous consent to have them read for the first time. We know that it requires unanimous consent, and there is a ruling of the Chair that if not unanimous consent there may be a suspension of the Rules. My inquiry then was as to what Rule of the House must be suspended.

The SPEAKER. Rule 41 and Rule 14.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do you have reference to House Rule 14?

The SPEAKER. Rule 14 fixes the daily order of business. We have gone beyond the order of business of reading bills for the first time, therefore, Rule 14 would have to be suspended in order to read bills for the first time. Also Rule 41, which requires us to have a Calendar.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, perhaps if the Chair would hear me it might clarify things.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Our objection, Mr. Speaker, is not to the first reading of the bills that we know something about; it is to the first reading of bills that we know nothing about. If we could see the bills or if the bills as they are presented for reading the first time, if someone would explain to the House what that bill is and enable any Member of the House to object as to whether it would be acceptable or not, that would be quite satisfactory, but it is an incongruous performance at this time to read bills for the first time when frankly it would be the easiest way to kill them. We might well take that opportunity now on objectionable bills.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the Minority Leader that we have agreed not to read bills until they are satisfactory to both the minority and the majority. That has been the agreement, and that agreement will be carried out.

The Chair requests the Majority and the Minority Leaders, the Majority and Minority Whips to examine the bills before there is any first reading of them. There have been no bills read for the first time tonight.

RESOLUTIONS

PURCHASING HOME OF CALEB PUSEY

Mr. MILLIKEN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1945.

Whereas, William Penn, the founder and first governor of this Commonwealth, spent a large part of his time in visiting with his close and intimate friend, Caleb Pusey, in what is now Upland Borough, Delaware County; and

Whereas, the old stone home of Caleb Pusey was built approximately at the time of the arrival of William Penn; and

Whereas, it is deemed fitting by this body that the Pennsylvania Post-War Planning Commission should, by and with the advice of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, investigate, study and report to this body as to the possibility of its purchasing this outstanding landmark, and having the Pennsylvania Historical Commission maintain it as a historical shrine; and

Whereas, as it is the only contemporary building of that period in that region;

Resolved: That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly to the Pennsylvania Post-War Planning Commission and the Pennsylvania Historical Commission.

Mr. ENGLISH offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

EULOGY

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been handed a gem of literature that he would like read to the House written by Milton Burgess, a member of the press. I know you will agree that it is also a gem of American literature.

> The series of stellar performances of Mr. Bernard Steinfelt, Clerk of the Senate, in the current session of this House, have been a triumph in the Thespian art.
> Mr. Steinfelt speaks but one line:
> "Mr. Speaker. Extracts from the Journal of the Senate."
> Into this line he has infused the complete range of human emotion.
> His voice has the deep rolling timbre of a great organ blended with the soft overtones of whispering raindrops.
> His interpretation varys with the mood.
> When kept waiting in the well of the House, his voice expresses the righteous indignation approached to a degree by Robert Montell in playing King Lear, driven from the halls of his palace by ungrateful and inattentive children.
> When not given proper attention by the representatives, his philosophical contemplation of vanities of this world exceeds the best effort of Walter Hampden in the portrayal of Hamlet, the melancholy prince of Denmark.
> If received with proper respect, as he has been repeatedly in his more recent appearances, he interprets in his own incomparable way the kingly role in Richard III.

As the session nears a close, his appearances are eagerly awaited in the House, a delight to the intellect and the emotions of the audience.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

By unanimous consent the following bills were read the first time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 87, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the act approved the thirtieth day of April, one thousand nine hundred forty-three, (P. L. 141), entitled "An act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargarine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years, and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sales and purchase for the same period of time under certain circumstances; requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports; and providing penalties," extending the effective period thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 88, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction for the expenses of the State Board for Vocational Education and regulating private trade schools and classes.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, are any of these bills amended that are being considered and read for the first time?

The SPEAKER. At no time have amended bills been read for the first time, and none will be read.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 116, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one eleven and twelve of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 858) entitled "An act establishing a State employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as amended by modifying certain definitions and imposing further powers and duties upon the retirement board prescribing the rights and liabilities of withdrawing contributors and of disability annuitants

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 157, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the third class with the approval of the court of common pleas to accept less than the full amount of municipal claims filed as a lien against real estate in compromise settlements thereof

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, are you now reading bills for the first time?

The SPEAKER. We are reading bills for the first time.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, will the Chair first announce the number of the bill so that we may look it up and find out whether there is objection to reading these bills by others than the Leaders of the parties?

The SPEAKER. The numbers of bills have been and will continue to be announced.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 509, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation out of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Public Instruction to promote highway safety education.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. SKALE. I object, Mr. Speaker, to Senate Bill 612 being read the first time.

The SPEAKER. Bills objected to will not be read.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, would you be kind enough to give us the last Printer's number of these bills also? It is very confusing otherwise.

The SPEAKER. Senate Bill 612, Printer's No. 490.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to record my objection to the consideration, if anyone objects, of bills carrying the Senate Printer's number that have not been reprinted for the use of the House and that are not on the calendar. They are not properly in the possession of the House until they are on the calendar, until they have been printed and brought to the House with the House Printer's Number.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, Printer's Number 490 is not on file.

The SPEAKER. None of these bills are in the House file.

Mr. ERB. The last Printer's Number ought to be on file.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that all of these bills are in the Senate file.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the bills may be in the Senate file but the Senate file is simply a convenience. It is not the House file; the bill is not in the proper custody of the House until it has a House number.

The SPEAKER. A Senate bill has a Senate Printer's Number not a House Printer's Number. The Senate file gives all the necessary information.

Mr. ANDREWS. The two bills, Mr. Speaker, I suggest that you read them and let the gentleman record his objection. Personally I have no objection to the bills now in controversy. I would suggest therefore that the objection be withdrawn and permit the bill to be read for the first time. However, the gentleman is entitled to object to having it read for the first time if he so desires. There was one bill reported today that I shall object to.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my objection. It is on file in the back of the book.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 626, entitled:

An Act to add section one point one to the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 202) entitled "An act providing for the licensing and regulation of motor boat operated or navigated upon any public stream artificial or natural body of water or non-tidal waters of any river within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on certain police officers and the Board of Fish Commissioners including the enforcement of certain existing laws and prescribing penalties" by further limiting the operation of motor boats on certain waters.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill No. 719, Printer's No. 554, is not on file and I would like it passed temporarily so I may have an opportunity to check it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that all these bills have been placed on the Members desks.

Mr. SHAFFER. Amendments were made to this bill.

The SPEAKER. This bill was reported from Committee as committed, and amended bills will not be read.

Mr. SHAFFER. There were amendments placed in the bill in the Senate.

The SPEAKER. These bills were all reported as committed.

Mr. SHAFFER. I am informed it was amended in the Senate on third reading. I am not sure and I would like to have a little time to check.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman object to reading to this bill?

Mr. SHAFFER. I object momentarily, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The bill will not be read.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 752, entitled:

An Act to amend section four hundred one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2017) entitled "An act creating in each county (except of the first class) as a separate corporation and in each city of the first and second class as a part of the city government an institution district for the care and maintenance of certain indigent persons and children prescribing the powers and duties of county commissioners county treasurers city departments of public welfare the State Department of Welfare and the State Department of Public Assistance in respect thereto abolishing certain poor districts and terminating the terms of directors overseers guardians and managers of the poor and poor district auditors and providing for the temporary employment of certain of them providing for the transfer vesting sale and position of the property of poor districts and the payment of their obligations imposing certain existing obligations on institution districts and on the Commonwealth regulating the affairs of poor districts until abolished revising amending changing and consolidating the law relating to the care of the poor and repealing existing laws" by empowering institution districts to receive and maintain chronic mental patients confined in State mental hospitals or other institutions providing for the reimbursement by the Department of Welfare for the cost of maintaining such persons.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 766, entitled:

An Act giving the consent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the acquisition by the United States of America of a tract of land in the city of Philadelphia Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be used as the site of the headquarters or capitol of any organization to preserve the peace of the world which may be created by the United Nations and ceding jurisdiction to the United States.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. SKALE. I object for the time being to reading Senate Bill No. 548, Printer's No. 435, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The bill will not be read.

Is the gentleman from Allegheny clear on Senate Bill 719?

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to withdraw my objections at this time to Senate Bill 719.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 719, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) entitled as amended "An act relating to institutions of counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer of such institutions to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer of certain property to counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions under certain circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws" providing for the transfer to the Commonwealth of all grounds lands buildings and personal property used for the care and maintenance of indigent persons in conjunction with institution for the care of mental patients heretofore transferred to the Commonwealth and for payment therefor by the Commonwealth to the political subdivisions and further regulating the procedure relating to property of such institutions abandoned by the Commonwealth and to institutions closed.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

The SPEAKER. Do the objections still remain to reading Senate Bill 548, and does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, still object to reading Senate Bill 612?

Mr. SKALE. I still object to that, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. And also Senate Bill 548?

Mr. SKALE. I still object to that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEONARD. May I inquire the status of Senate Bill 716, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Senate Bill 716 has not been read.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROSE. Has House Bill 1022 been reported out?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed that House Bill 1022 has not been reported from Committee today.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, is there still objection to the reading of Senate Bill No. 548, Printer's No. 435, for the first time?

The SPEAKER. There is still objection.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FREED. Is that an amended bill, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The bill was reported out of committee as committed.

Mr. FREED. Is the bill on file and does it have a Printer's Number?

The SPEAKER. Printer's No. 435.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULES

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Rule 14, House Rule 41 and that part of House Rule 43 which pertains to the calendar be suspended for the specific purpose of considering Senate Bill 548, Printer's No. 435 and having read it for the first time.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the motion made by the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, merely pertains to Senate Bill No. 548 as reported from the Committee on Banking?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, a few moments ago the Chair referred to rule 41 of the House stating that a motion such as the one now made by the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, is in order.

Mr. Speaker, I would refer you to House Rule 35, and I will read it as follows:

> No bill shall be considered unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the Members as required by the Constitution, Article III, Section 2.

The SPEAKER. Every provision of that Rule has been complied with.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the ruling relative to the first two requisites, but as for the printing for the use of the Members I insist that the bills are not printed in House form and therefore should not be allowed under Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would refer the gentleman to the constitutional process under House Rule No. 42.

> Every bill and joint resolution shall be read at length on three different days. All amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the Members before the final vote is taken thereon and no bill shall become law and no such resolution be adopted unless, on its final passage, the vote be taken by yeas and nays. The names of the persons voting for and against the same shall be entered on the Journal, and a majority of the Members elected be recorded thereon as voting in its favor, as required by the Constitution, Article III, Section 4.

This bill has been printed for the use of the Members.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that for a bill to be printed for the use of the Members it must be a House printed bill or a House reprint

The SPEAKER. The answer is no. The only time it becomes necessary for the House to reprint a Senate bill is when the House amends or changes it.

Mr. LEVY. I am not referring to a reprint, Mr. Speaker. Particularly I am referring to a bill for the use of the Members. Has it been a custom of the House that a bill be read to the House without the House printed bill lying on the Members' tables and read as a Senate rather than a House print?

The SPEAKER. This is a Senate bill, printed by the Senate. It is sent to the House for concurrence. The bill was not introduced in the House, and is properly in print.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether it is the lateness of the hour, but I feel that the Chair has not answered the question in point.

The SPEAKER. Will this statement clear the question in the gentleman's mind? A Senate Bill is not reprinted by the House unless the House amends it.

Mr. LEVY. No, it does not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That has been the procedure since the Speaker has been a Member of the House, and the Chair is certain since the gentleman from Philadelphia has been a Member, and for many years before that.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand then that in conformity to Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution it has been regarded that a Senate print is the correct print as outlined in the Constitution under "Bills shall be printed for the use of the Members in the House?"

The SPEAKER. That is correct. That has always been the practice.

Mr. LEVY. I think you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote ninety-seven Members having voted in the affirmative and sixty-five in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

RULES SUSPENDED

Mr. McATEE. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Rules 14, 41 and that part of Rule 43 pertaining to the calendar, be suspended for the specific purpose of reading Senate Bill No. 618 for the first time.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote one hundred six Members having voted in the affirmative and forty-seven in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 618 entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the practice of the profession of engineering including civil engineering mechanical engineering electrical engineering mining engineering chemical engineering surveying and constituent parts and combinations thereof as herein defined providing for the licensing and registration of persons practicing said profession and the certification of engineers in training and the suspension and revocation of said licenses registrations and certifications for violation of this act prescribing the powers and duties of the State Registration Board for Professional Engineers the Department of Public Instruction and the courts prescribing penalties and repealing existing laws

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULES

Mr. REILLY. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Rules 14 and 41 and that part of House Rule 43 that pertains to the calendar be suspended for the specific purpose of having read for the first time Senate Bill No. 716, Printer's No. 478.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I think the Membership of the House should understand that Senate Bill No. 716 is the bill designed to hamstring rural electric cooperatives, and I would ask for a roll call on this motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. McMillen.

Messrs. Levy, Rose and Nagel asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

An Act to amend sections two and four of the act approved the sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 820) entitled "An act regulating the practice of the profession of engineering in all of its branches including surveying providing for the registration of certain persons practicing or offering to practice said profession conferring certain powers and imposing certain duties upon the State registration board for professional engineers upon the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and providing penalties" by defining "practice of engineering" and "responsible charge" and changing the form of certificates of registration.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, were it not for the lateness of the hour, so firmly convinced are we that the ruling of the Chair in respect to the decision he made regarding first reading bills is in error, that in order to establish a precedent we would have appealed from the decision of the Chair, but owing to the lateness of the hour we will thrash the parliamentary point out at some other time. It was not with any idea of interfering with or stopping the proceedings tonight that we would have appealed, but we think it is a point that should be debated at a proper time, because we believe the Chair is clearly in error.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHUDOFF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I had thought before adjournment today to make a short statement, followed by a very important motion, but since the Membership of the House has taken enough punishment today and are rather anxious to get to your luncheon, I would like an opportunity to make my motion some time early tomorrow, and ask that I be given a special time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to do that. That is within the power of the House.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I feel, Mr. Speaker, that what I have to offer is very important, and I am trying to conserve the time of the House in offering it. However, if I cannot get any cooperation from the Chair and the House, I will move that tomorrow at 2:00 o'clock we make a special order of business to discharge the Committee on Constitutional Amendments on House Bill No. 132.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be recognized tomorrow under the proper order of business. It is not within the power of the Chair to grant any special privilege concerning time or order of business.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I had a discussion about this with the Parliamentarian, and he promised to give me an opportunity tonight to do this. Now, I do not want to be pushed around, and I want that understood.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that we have been more than patient. The Parliamentarian has the memorandum but because of the lateness of the hour it was thought that the motion to discharge the committee could be made tomorrow. The gentleman will be recognized under the proper order of business.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the Chair inform me as to the proper motion to make in order that Senate Bill No. 548 may be read for the first time?

The SPEAKER. If the House will give its unanimous consent the bill may be read.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the objections, I understand, are withdrawn.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hearing no objection the bill will be read.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 548, entitled:

An Act relating to chattel mortgages on any chattel or chattels of any kind or description including but not limited to livestock poultry farm machinery farm equipment and crops grown growing or to be grown designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages and related instruments in prothonotaries' offices and prescribing prothonotaries' fees providing for the filing in Pennsylvania of similar lien instruments originally filed or recorded in other states regulating the assignment release satisfaction and extension of the lien of such mortgages prescribing methods of foreclosure defining defaults and violation and fixing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Friday, May 4, 1945, at 1 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1:50 a. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1945. No. 57.

SENATE

FRIDAY, May 4, 1945.

The Senate met at 2:00 oclock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

God and Father of all men, we stand before Thee in prayerful attitude. May our hearts' desire be to worship Thee in sincerity. The prayer of faith in the reality of God, of God's goodness and mercy and God's concern for the welfare of His children must be ours if our prayer is acceptable to Thee. Surely we have no reason to doubt this for Thou hast been good to us as a nation and as individuals, blessing us beyond the measure accorded to any other people. To fail in offering our grateful prayer would convict us of the sin of ingratitude.

Each one of us here is a witness to the fact of God and of God's care. May we give our testimony in lives of service to others, sharing our plenty with the world's needy, thus learning that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

We pray that divine guidance be given to the Conference of the Nations, and that the delegates of all nations follow the Guide until peace for the world is assured.

We pray for our soldiers, sailors and air-men, for doctors and nurses, chaplains and Red Cross workers, and for all prisoners of war; for President Truman and all in authority. May God sustain all until complete victory comes.

We pray in the name of the conquering Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. TYLER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION

URGING THAT THE FAIRMOUNT PARK COMMISSION OF PHILADELPHIA PLACE MEMORIAL HALL AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE AUTHORITIES OF TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 4, 1945.

Whereas the ever-expanding services of Temple University to the City of Brotherly Love, to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the Nation, have overtaxed the capacity of the towering buildings of that great seat of learning erected on "Acres of Diamonds" and

Whereas the Fairmount Park Commission of Philadelphia owns the Memorial all located in the Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, now in use as a storage for paintings and other objects of Art, which are being gradually transferred to the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and

Whereas the aforesaid spacious Memorial Hall with its sylvan setting can admirably house some of the undergraduate departments of Temple University, now therefore be it

Resolved that the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania urge the Fairmount Park Commission of Philadelphia to place the aforesaid Memorial Hall at the disposal of the authorities of Temple University as soon as said Memorial Hall will be vacated.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EALY, from the Committee on Executive Nominations reported with a favorable recommendation the following nomination, made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

REGISTER OF WILLS AND EX-OFFICIO CLERK OF THE ORPHANS' COURT, FAYETTE COUNTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 4, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Joseph G. Berry, 301 Catherine Avenue, Brownsville, Fayette County, for appointment as Register of Wills and ex-officio Clerk of the Orphans' Court in and for the County of Fayette, to serve until the first Monday of January, 1948, vice Bruce F. Sterling, deceased.

EDWARD MARTIN.

Mr. EALY. Yesterday the Governor nominated Joseph G. Berry for appointment as Register of Wills and ex-officio Clerk of the Orphans' Court, County of Fayette, in place of Honorable Bruce F. Sterling, deceased. The appointment read until the first Monday of January, 1946, but under the change of the primary date and the decisions of the Supreme Court the appointment should have been until the first Monday of January, 1948. Therefore the Governor has submitted the nomination of Mr. Berry, with a new date for expiration of the commission.

I ask leave to report this nomination from the Committee on Executive Nominations with approval today and that the nomination be considered as re-submitted instead of submitted yesterday.

EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

A motion was made by Mr. EALY and Mr. FARRELL,

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of considering the nominations of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which were laid on the table yesterday, and the one nomination reported today which was substituted for the one with regard to Fayette County.

The motion was agreed to.

The Clerk read the nominations as follows:

REGISTER OF WILLS AND EX-OFFICIO CLERK OF THE ORPHANS' COURT, COUNTY OF FAYETTE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 4, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Joseph G. Berry, 301 Catherine Avenue, Brownsville, Fayette County, for appointment of Register of Wills and ex-officio Clerk of the Orphans' Court in and for the County of Fayette, to serve until the first Monday of January, 1948, vice Bruce F. Sterling, deceased.

EDWARD MARTIN.

SENATE BILL No. 102 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Bill No. 102, for concurrence in House amendments.

RULE 21 SUSPENDED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Rule 21, which requires amended bills to be noted on the Calendar, be in this case dispensed with, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 102.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill, No. 102, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues levied assessed collectible and accruing during such two fiscal years defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation.

which was returned from the House of Representatives with amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 2, line 14 of the title, by striking out the following: the current and other expenses of the State government; Amend the title, page 2, lines 15 and 16, by inserting after the word "defray" and before the word "during", the following: the current and other expenses of the State government.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments made by the House?

Mr. WILSON. What I am about to say is no reflection on anybody or anything. All of this may be very much in order but there are a good many amendments which have been made by the House, to bills that have been over there, and I have not seen them and I do not think any Senator here has seen them and I do not know what they are and what they mean. I do not say a single thing is wrong but I do not believe this haste is necessary. I just feel we ought to be permitted at least to have somebody read the amendments to us because we will not have a calendar until five o'clock and we ought to have these amendments read so that at least I can say "well, I heard them read". That is all I would like to have someone do. I say that I do not think we should vote on something without having it understood what we are voting on, and this is no reflection on anybody, because we all have been working hard so we can meet this adjournment date and get through on scheduled time. It is the people who have charge of this, Mr. Heyburn and Mr. Dent. I just do not feel good about it, because we are undertaking too much; we are undertaking to make the most of legislation here without being able to read it. And I want to say to you, unless you quit this kind of business I am going to get up on the floor of the Senate and begin to talk again, because it is just as much fun to talk as to sit here and hear someone else talk.

I simply request that you let us know what we are voting upon and I say we can not do it unless someone tells us what it is.

(The Senate was at ease)

Mr. WILSON. Through the kindness of the gentlemen who are interested and who are running the affairs of the Senate, I have been permitted to see the amendments made to Senate Bill 102 and I had just a few words of explanation, which are entirely satisfactory to me, for which I want to thank them.

I am now in favor of endorsing what has been done, but I simply request in connection with other bills, that someone say they are all right and assume the responsibility of it and know what they are talking about.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments made by the House?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—49

Barr,	Ealy,	Klein,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Farrell,	Leader,	Tallman,
Berger,	Geltz,	Letzler,	Taylor,

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces that one of his boys has a leave of absence which expires tomorrow. I have not seen him for some time and I believe it is his last leave. With permission of the Senate I would like to be excused tomorrow, if I could.

In case you gentlemen do not come back on Monday, in case we all adjourn tomorrow, this will be the last time I preside and I want to say to you in future years I shall look back on these four years with a tremendous amount of pleasure, and with a feeling of honor and pride that I have been privileged to preside over a bunch of swell fellows.

FELICITATING THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Mr. DENT. Members of the Senate, it has been my good fortune to have served in the General Assembly since January, 1935. During this period of time I have had the privilege and honor of serving as a member of the House and also as a member of the Senate.

Of course, at different sessions of the Legislature we have had different commanding officers, as it were. Those of us on the Democratic side know full well what a difficult position the Minority can be put into if the Presiding Officer takes an adamant position and does not give to the Minority the privileges they are entitled to, under law and through common decency, and I speak, I believe, for the entire membership of the Minority when I say to you, Jack Bell, that you have been eminently fair, that at all times we have been considered as members of the Senate and not as members of the Minority Party. And I do believe and say, in fairness to you, that in order to show that you knew and understood that we needed a little extra kindness now and then, you have perhaps at times injured the feelings of the Majority because of your decency and niceness to the Minority. Those things we can not forget. We hate to see you go, because we have enjoyed serving with you and under you in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the members of the Majority side of the Senate have told you frequently in caucus how highly they regard you. We have also said a lot of things to you in caucus that show you how much we enjoy and cherish your friendship.

The distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland, who just conveyed to you the respects of the Minority Party, said they were sorry to see you go. The Majority Party would like to say to you, Mr. President, that they hope you are moving just a little south and though you may leave the Senate Chamber, you never will be able to leave our hearts. We consider you a friend of every individual here, and in the words of the estimable gentleman from Philadelphia, bless your heart.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, two years ago, on the occasion of the final session of the Senate presided over by your predecessor, the Honorable Samuel S. Lewis, I made the observation then that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was most fortunate in that over a long period of years she has had as Presiding Officers in the Senate of Pennsylvania some of the outstanding gentlemen of this state. May I say that you have measured up to that high standard. You have been, as my good friend Senator Dent says, eminently fair to the Minority.

I have always felt that an index to a man's character is his sense of fairness, and those of us on the minority side have always appreciated the fashion in which you have handled the gavel as Presiding Officer, your fairness to us, your courtesy and consideration on all occasions.

May I say that it is the wish of the Minority Party, as I know it is of the Majority Party, that as you travel through life we hope your joys may be as deep as the ocean and your troubles as light as the foam thereon.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I am bubbling with affection and friendship for the Lieutenant-Governor. I do not intend to make a speech but I do want to say that I have served under one of the swellest guys in Pennsylvania.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, you have succeeded in retaining your youthful appearance despite the many burdens that you have exposed yourself to during the past four years.

I have told on several previous occasions a story that our worthy Minority Leader Senator Dent, enjoys very much and I am going to repeat it again today. This is a story about a man who lived during the ages when the institution of polygamy was permissible. He was a middle-aged man, with a sprinkling of gray hair on his head. He had two wives, a young one and an old one, and he was held on the horns of a dilemma. Whenever he would spend an evening in the company of his young wife she would pluck a gray hair from his head, so that he would look younger, and whenever he would spend an evening in the company of the old wife she would pluck a black hair from his head, so he would look older, and between these two women he become bald-headed.

You have had to balance your courtesy between the two parties and by the manner that you have done so, I think that is a great tribute to your sense of decency, your tactfullnes and your diplomacy.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, during this session, as compared with the many sessions I have been here, my observation has shown me that one thing has happened that had not happened in other sessions and that is that at any time any of us of the Minority would ask the Chair to permit the Senate to be at ease, there was never any question of doubt in his mind, we always received the same consideration that a similar request by the Majority received, and that is one thing to me that has been outstanding throughout this session, for which I am very grateful.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I have known you for a long time now, and I have always known you were a great man, but frankly I did not know you are as good as you are.

But I do want to say, Mr. President, seriously, that everybody in this Senate concurs in what has been said here this morning, on both sides of the aisle. It has been a real pleasure to work with you. You have made a real contribution, Mr. President, to the democratic way of life.

I do not think there is anything I can say to Jack Bell that would please him more than to have him know that we think he has made a tremendous contribution to maintenance of the Constitution and the American way of life.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (O. J. Tallman) in the Chair.

SENATE BILL No. 658 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Bill No. 658, for concurrence in House amendments.

This is the unemployment compensation bill. There have been some amendments made to this bill by the House and it will have to go into a Conference Committee.

RULE 21 SUSPENDED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Rule 21, which requires amended bills to be noted on the Calendar, be in this case dispensed with, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 658.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1, as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 1 entitled: "An act to amend the title and certain sections and to add certain new sections to the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987), entitled 'An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth * * *', by changing the definitions of 'establishment' and 'industrial waste' by changing penalties for violations, and requiring prosecutions to be instituted or approved by the Attorney General, by prohibiting the discharge of silt into any waters of the Commonwealth, and regulating the discharge of acid mine drainage into waters thereof; authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to establish standards of purity and to determine the time for compliance with the provisions of the act in certain cases and requiring the Boards' approval of plans for opening, reopening or extending coal mines, by authorizing the acquisition by purchase or condemnation or otherwise by the Sanitary Water Board of easements or rights of ways, and the acquisition or construction of pipes, conduits, drains or tunnels and pumps and pumping equipment; and providing for the payment of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

WELDON B. HEYBURN,
FRANK W. RUTH,
J. LEO THOMAS,
(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

CHARLES H. BRUNNER, JR.,
HERBERT P. SORG,
REUBEN E. COHEN,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act to amend the title and certain sections and to add certain new sections to the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987) entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts" by changing the definitions of "establishment" and "industrial waste" by changing and adding penalties for violations and requiring certain prosecutions to be instituted or approved by the Attorney General by prohibiting the discharge of silt into any waters of the Commonwealth and regulating the discharge of acid mine drainage into waters thereof authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to establish standards of purity and to determine the time for compliance with the provisions of the act in certain cases and requiring the Board's approval of plans of drainage and disposal of industrial waste and acid mine drainage before opening reopening or continuing the operation of coal mines and the changing of approval plans by authorizing the acquisition by purchase or condenmation or otherwise by the Sanitary Water Board of easements or right of ways and the acquisition or construction of pipes conduits drains or tunnels and pumps and pumping equipment and providing for the payment of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth

Section 1 The title of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987) entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts [magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace] in the enforcement thereof requiring the approval of the Attorney General for prosecutions thereunder [and] providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts authorizing the acquisition by purchase or condemnation or otherwise of easements and right of ways the acquisition or construction of pipes conduits drains or tunnels by the Sanitary Water Board and providing for payment of the costs thereof by the Commonwealth authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to establish standards of purity and to determine the time for compliance with certain provisions of the act in certain cases and making it unlawful to open reopen or continue operation of any coal mine or to change any approved drainage or disposal plan without prior approval by the Sanitary Water Board

Section 2 Section one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Definitions Be it enacted etc That the following words or phrases unless the context clearly indicates otherwise shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section

"Board" shall be construed to mean the Sanitary Water Board in the Department of Health or its duly constituted successor

"Establishment" shall be construed to include any industrial establishment mill factory tannery paper or pulp mill garage oil refinery oil well boat vessel mine coal mine coal colliery breaker or coal processing operations not including dredging operations within the limits of a stream quarry and each and every other industry or plant or works in the operation of which industrial wastes are produced

"Industrial waste" shall be construed to mean any liquid gaseous or solid substance not sewage resulting from any manufacturing or industry or from any establishment as herein defined which causes pollution as hereinafter defined and silt coal mine solids rock debris dirt and clay from coal mines coal collieries breakers or other coal processing operations

"Institution" shall include healing preventive mental health educational correctional and penal institutions almshouses and county and city homes operated by the State or any political subdivision thereof and whose sewage is not admitted to a public sewer system

"Municipality" or "municipal" shall be construed to include any county county authority municipal authority city borough town township school district and institution as above defined

"Person" shall be construed to include any person copartnership association or private corporation

"Pollution" shall be construed to mean noxious and deleterious substances rendering unclean the waters of the Commonwealth to the extent of being harmful or inimical to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the use of such waters for domestic water supply or industrial purposes or for recreation The Sanitary Water Board shall determine when the discharge of any industrial waste or the effluent therefrom constitutes pollution as herein defined and shall establish standards whereby and wherefrom so far as reasonably practicable and possible it can be ascertained and determined whether any such discharge does or does not constitute pollution as herein defined

"Sewage" shall be construed to include any substance that contains any of the waste products or excrementitious or other discharge from the bodies of human beings or animals

"Waters of the Commonwealth" shall be construed to include any and all rivers streams creeks rivulets lakes dammed water ponds springs and all other bodies of surface and underground water or parts thereof whether natural or artificial within or on the boundaries of this Commonwealth

Section 3 Section three hundred two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 302 Existing Industrial Waste Discharges All persons who at the time of the passage of this act are discharging industrial waste into any of the waters of the Commonwealth shall discontinue the discharge of such industrial waste into said waters [or into any municipal sewer system] on notice from the board when after due investigation the board shall declare the discharge of such industrial waste is or may become inimical or injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or prevent the use of waters for domestic industrial or recreational purposes Provided That any discharge that is inimical and injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the use of the water for domestic or industrial consumption or recreational purposes shall nevertheless be deemed unlawful and a nuisance whether the board shall so declare or not

Whenever the Sanitary Water Board shall determine upon cause shown that certain existing industrial waste discharges cannot be eliminated due to inability to procure necessary labor materials or equipment arising out of exigencies created by the present war in which the United States is engaged such industrial waste discharges shall not become unlawful until such time as the Sanitary Water Board shall set after the Board determines that such labor materials or equipment are available but the time so set shall in no event be more than one year after the board determines such labor materials or equipment are available

Section 4 Section three hundred seven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 307 Regulation of Establishments Erected or Opened or Reopened in the Future No person shall hereafter erect construct or open or reopen or operate any establishment which in its operation results in the discharge of industrial wastes which would flow or he discharged into any of the waters of the Commonwealth and thereby cause a pollution of the same unless such person shall first provide proper and adequate treatment works for the treatment of such industrial wastes approved by the board so that if and when flowing or discharged into the waters of the Commonwealth the effluent thereof shall not be inimical or injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or prevent the use of water for domestic industrial or recreational purposes except when in the opinion of the board such industrial waste is not inimical or injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the use of the water for domestic industrial or recreational purposes and shall grant a permit for the discharge of such industrial waste into the waters of the Commonwealth But no permit shall ever be issued by the board authorizing the discharge of untreated industrial waste into the clean waters of the State as above defined Public notice of every application for a permit under this section shall be given by notice published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the permit is applied for once a week for four weeks But any such permit shall be revocable or subject to modification and change by the board at any time thereafter upon reasonable notice served personally or by registered mail addressed to the last known post-office address of the holder of the permit and the owner or operator of such establishment may be required to install treatment works approved by the board for the treatment of such industrial waste or for the deposition of solids in such industrial waste in the manner and to the extent as the board may require The discharge of industrial waste into any of the waters of the Commonwealth from any such establishment contrary to the provisions of this section or without a permit or after the time fixed in the notice of the board when a permit is revoked or in violation of any modification thereof is hereby declared to be a nuisance and to be punishable and abatable as herein provided [The provisions of this section shall not apply to establishments existing at the date of the approval of this act which may hereafter be temporarily closed for a period not exceeding six months]

Section 5 Section three hundred nine of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 309 Penalties [Any person who shall discharge any industrial wastes into the waters of the Commonwealth after the board shall have given notice to discontinue the same as provided in section three hundred two shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars and a further fine of ten dollars per day for each day the offense is continued and in default of the payment of such fine and costs the person or if such person be an association or copartnership then the members thereof or if such person be a corporation then the officers thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period not exceeding sixty days]

Any person who shall [continue to] discharge any industrial waste or acid mine drainage into any of the waters of the Commonwealth contrary to the provisions of this act [after conviction in a summary proceeding as above provided shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in the court of quarter sessions of any county in which industrial wastes were discharged or introduced into the waters of the Commonwealth or in which such industrial wastes continue to pollute such waters shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than [five] one hundred dollars nor more than [one] five thousand dollars and the person or if such person be an association or copartnership then the members thereof or if such person be a corporation then the officers agents servants and employes thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than one year All prosecutions under the penal provisions herein set forth shall be instituted and prosecuted by the Attorney General or by and with his written consent

Section 6 Section three hundred ten of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 310 Acid Mine Drainage [and Silt The] Except as hereniafter provided the provisions of this article shall not apply to acid mine drainage [and silt] from coal mines until such time as in the opinion of the Sanitary Water Board practical means for the removal of the polluting properties of such drainage shall become known

It shall be unlawful and a nuisance to discharge or to permit the discharge of acid mine drainage (1) into "clean waters" of the Commonwealth which are being devoted or put to public use at the time of such discharge or (2) into "clean waters" of the Commonwealth unless the Commonwealth after the Sanitary Water Board has approved plans of drainage pursuant to section three hundred thirteen hereof and has set a reasonable time not to exceed one year within which such pipes conduits drains tunnels or pumps as may be necessary to receive such acid mine drainage at the point or points where such acid mine drainage is delivered as provided in this section shall be constructed and put into operation by the Commonwealth has failed to construct and put into operation the same within such time Provided That nothing in this amendatory act shall be construed to limit or affect the provisions of section seven hundred one of the act to which it is an amendment

Whenever the Commonwealth shall provide pipes conduits drains tunnels or pumps to transport and divert acid mine drainage such acid mine drainage shall be delivered to such pipes conduits drains tunnels or pumps at the place or location designated by the Sanitary Water Board after consultation with the Department of Mines and the person or persons operating the mine

Section 7 Said act is hereby amended by adding after section three hundred ten thereof three new sections to be known as sections three hundred eleven three hundred twelve and three hundred thirteen to read as follows

Section 311 Authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to Acquire Easements and Right of Ways by Purchase or Condemnation or Otherwise Whenever in the opinion of the Sanitary Water Board the Pollution by acid mine drainage of waters which were "clean waters" on or subsequent to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four can be prevented by diverting the discharge of acid mine drainage into polluted or unclean waters the Sanitary Water Board with the approval of the Governor and the Attorney General is hereby authorized and empowered in the public interest to acquire by purchase or eminent domain or otherwise easements or right of ways over under or through lands to be used for the transportation and diversion of the discharge of acid mine drainage into such polluted or unclean waters In such cases the Commonwealth shall pay the cost of the acquisition of such easements and right of ways and of such pipes conduits drains or tunnels and such pumps and pumping equipment as may be necessary or proper to transport and divert such acid mine drainage after it has been delivered to the pipes conduits drains or tunnels aforesaid and of the operation and maintenance thereof including such pumping of the drainage as may be necessary

Section 312 Condemnation Proceedings The Sanitary Water Board is hereby empowered to acquire by purchase or condemnation easements and right of ways for the purposes hereinbefore set forth

Whenever a reasonable price cannot be agreed upon or whenever the owner is legally incapacitated or is absent or is unable to convey valid title or is unknown the

Sanitary Water Board in accordance with the provisions of this act is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire, by condemnation easements and right of ways deemed necessary or convenient to dispose of acid mine drainage so as to prevent the same from entering any clean waters of the Commnowealth in the manner hereinafter provided In such event application shall be made by the Sanitary Water Board acting through the Department of Justice or by the owner or owners to the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is located or in the case of property on the boundary line between two or more counties then in any such counties for the appointment of viewers Whereupon said court or any law judge thereof shall appoint three disinterested freeholders to viwe such property and estimate the value thereof None of the freeholders shall be a resident of the county wherein such application shall be made The court shall fix a time not less than twenty nor more than thirty days thereafter when the viewers shall meet upon the property and view the same The viewers shall cause at least ten days' personal notice of the time and place of such meeting to be given to the Attorney General or to the owner or owners if resident within said county If the owner is a corporation such notice shall be given to the president secretary or treasurer thereof if such officer resides within said county If neither owner nor any of such officers reside within the county or cannot be found therein or is unknown notice of such first meeting shall be given as the court may direct The viewers having been duly sworn or affirmed faithfully and impartially to perform the duties required of them under the provisions of this act shall at the time fixed for the first meeting proceed to ascertain as accurately as may be the value of such easements or right of ways and to that end may require the attendance of any person whose testimony may be pertient thereto and production of any such books or papers as the viewers may deem necessary If any person shall refuse to appear and testify before such viewers or refuse to produce such books and papers when they are required then the court or any judge thereof shall on application of the viewers or a quorum thereof make such order therein as may be necessary Whenever the viewers shall have ascertained the value of the easements or right of ways they shall prepare a full report of their labors Upon the completion of the report the viewers shall fix a time when they shall meet and exhibit same Ten days' written notice of the time and place of such meeting together with a copy of said report shall be given to the chairman of the board to the Attorney General and to the owner or owners of the property condemned At the time and place mentioned in such notice the viewers shall meet and publicly exhibit the report and hear all exceptions thereto After making any changes in such report as they may deem necessary the same shall be filed in the court Within thirty days after the filing of the report in the court the board acting through the Department of Justice or any person interested may file exceptions thereto Whereupon the court may confirm the report absolutely or modify it or refer it back to the same or to any viewers with like powers and duties of the former viewers Within thirty days after final action on the report by the court the board acting through the Department of Justice or any person interested may demand a trial by jury. From the action of the court on exceptions or from any judgment after a jury trial an appeal may be taken by any party to the Supreme or Superior Court Each of the viewers shall receive a sum not exceeding ten dollars ($10.00) for each day actually and necessarily employed in the performance of the duties herein prescribed and all necessary expenses actually incurred in the performance of his duties Title to any property condemned by the board shall be taken in the name of the Commonwealth

In addition to the foregoing powers the board and its authorized agents and employes may enter upon any lands waters and premises in the State for the purpose of making surveys soundings drillings and examinations as it may deem necessary or convenient for the purpose of this act and such entry shall not be deemed a trespass

Whenever the board decides to acquire any such easements or right of ways by condemnation as hereinbefore provided the board shall have the right to immediate possession of the property which is the subject matter of the condemnation proceedings and may enter thereon If the owner lessee or occupier of any of said premises shall refuse to remove his personal property therefrom or give up possession thereof the board may proceed to obtain possession in the manner now provided by law

Section 313 Approval of Plans of Drainage Before any existing or new coal mine may be opened or reopened and before any existing coal mine may be continued in operation a plan of the proposed drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage of such mine shall be submitted to the Sanitary Water Board and it shall be unlawful to open or reopen any such mine or to continue the operation of any mine or to change or alter any already approved plan of drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage from such mine unless and until the Board after consultation with the Department of Mines has approved such plan or change of plan Provided however that this section shall not apply to the continuation of the operation of an existing mine until sixty (60) days after the effective date of this act

Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars and the person or if such person be an association or copartnership then the members thereof or if such person be a corporation then the officers agents servants and employes thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than one year

Section 8 This act shall take effect immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, House Bill No. 1 is commonly known as the Brunner bill. I have given my reasons as to my vote on this bill once before, so therefore there is no need for me to repeat them; they appear in the Legislative Journal.

However, I will say this much to you, Mr. President and members of this Senate, this is a poor imitation of a stream clearance bill and therefore I shall vote "no."

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this House Bill No. 1 in its present shape reminds me of the famous Barmecideian feast. You will recall in the Arabian Nights the story of Barmecides, who set up empty dishes and feasts in his imagination.

This House Bill No. 1 contains nothing but promises, Mr. President, but since Philadelphia may after all benefit by the removal of silt from the Schuylkill and the elimination of the stench that is always in our nostrils, I am going to cast my vote in the affirmative, hoping that the future will bring improvement.

Mr. JONES. When this bill came over to the Senate, after it had passed the House, it was amended and the amendments were adopted and approved by the Senate, and then it went to a conference committee. When the bill was pasesd in the Senate I voted for it in the form and shape it was in then, but since it has been worked on by the conference committee it is now in such shape that I shall be unable to support and vote for the report of the conference committee.

I appreciate that this administration, including the Attorney General, is interested in pure waters and desires to clear the streams and rivers of the Commonwealth from industrial waste, but we do not want to forget that the process of polluting these waters has continued for many years; it is something that has been recognized and tolerated, and now we undertake at this time to prevent it. But we go further than simply trying to prevent it and restrain it. We undertake by unconstitutional measures and by unconstitutional procedure to impose unlawful burdens upon the coal mines of Pennsylvania.

I say to you that this bill, after the conference committee report, has become wholly unconstitutional. It has become unconstitutional because the conference committee has not adopted the Senate amendments nor has it rejected the Senate amendments, but it has written amendments of its own design. The Constitution of Pennsylvania provides a certain procedure when we undertake to pass a bill and that procedure must be followed.

I read to you section 5, article 3, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, entitled "Vote on Concurring in Amendments—Reports of Committees of Conference. Section 5. No amendments to bill by one house, shall be concurred in by the other except by the vote of a majority of the members elected thereto, taken by yeas and nays—." "No amendment to bills by one house shall be concurred in." These amendments are not amendments by either House: they are amendments of the conference committee and there is no provision in the law of Pennsylvania for a conference committee to make amendments of its own design to a bill. That is a practice that has sprung up, I have noticed, and it is unlawful and not provided for by the Constitution and wholly invalidates this bill by its irregular passage through the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I say to you, too, that this report of the committee of conference is unconstitutional in another respect. Article 1, section 9 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides for "prosecution by indictment or information, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the vicinage." Let us retain that in mind for just a moment. This bill, in section 309 at page 11, provides that "Any person who shall discharge any industrial waste or acid mine drainage into any of the waters of the Commonwealth contrary to the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in the Court of Quarter Sessions of any county in which industrial wastes were discharged or introduced into the waters of the Commonwealth or"—and here are the important words—" in which such industrial wastes continue to pollute such waters"—in other words, after the waste has entered the stream and it flows down into the river and then on to the oceans, it comes in contact with many counties. Many counties in Pennsylvania are given jurisdiction by this bill, whereby they could institute prosecutions for industrial waste that may collect on the banks of the rivers or the streams within a particular county.

The term "vicinage," as I said, indicates the particular area within a vicinity, for a violation of any offense, but under this bill a citizen of Luzerne county could be prosecuted in Philadelphia, which is a hundred and some miles away, with a great many counties intervening, and therefore not in the vicinage of the violation.

But the bill goes further than that. It provides that this bill shall apply to an association or co-partnership and the members thereof are liable for this violation and if such person be a corporation then the officers, agents, servants and employes thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than one year.

In other words, every man or boy engaged in coal mining is liable under this bill, because the waters discharged into any stream may contain silt, and that silt may flow into the rivers and streams of the Commonwealth and a particular county may charge that man or boy engaged in coal mining work with a violation of this act. In other words, because a man or boy works to produce coal and because the water used to purify and clear that coal contains silt, which is carried on down into the streams, that makes him a criminal for which he can be prosecuted, in Norristown, in Philadelphia, or in any other county abutting on the stream or river which carries this silt, and it seems to me that is an absurd provision in any law, to penalize a man who works to produce coal.

I now direct your attention again to another provision in this bill, contained in section 313 thereof, being one of the amendments; there is another penalty clause. We have a penalty clause here which provides for a year of imprisonment, and then in section 313 it again provides that "any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000," and the same provision as in the previous section. That is something unknown in Pennsylvania, that for the same offense there are two paragraphs providing penalties for violations.

Section 313 also provides, and I am reading from the bill, "before any existing or new coal mine may be opened or re-opened and before any existing coal mine may be continued in operation." The many coal mines in Pennsylvania, before they can continue working further, must comply with this paragraph in the bill which says that they must file their plans and they must have them approved by the Sanitary Water Board and "it shall be unlawful to open or re-open any such mine or to continue the operation of any mine" until those plans are approved. Until the Sanitary Water Board at its discretion, at its arbitrary caprice, will approve the entire plans submitted, every existing mine in Pennsylvania must close down under this law, and if they fail to close down they are subject to these penalties, and if they close down they can not operate their mines and, if that closing continues over a long period of time, it works a virtual confiscation of their property.

I say that is a violation of another provision of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which provides, before any property can be taken by eminent domain, that property must be paid for and before any property can be charged with this debt there must be due process of law as required by the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

There is still another provision of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, article 3, which provides that the General Assembly shall pass no special law regulating mining. My friends, this is a special law regulating mining, and this is the reason: there are many industrial organizations along the streams and rivers of Pennsylvania that are discharging their industrial waste into the streams and waters of Pennsylvania, together with the coal mines of Pennsylvania, but these amendments relate only, and this bill relates only, to the regulation of the discharge from the mines of Pennsylvania, and so I say to you there are special provisions in this bill to regulate the mines of Pennsylvania, because it relates to mining by requiring elimination of silt and of mine acid and specifically provides how and when they must be eliminated, but other industrial organizations and their industrial waste is not subjected to the same regulation.

And so I say to you, my friends, that this bill is wholly unconstitutional and, on the other hand, this bill should never have been drawn or these amendments should never have been written to harass and annoy the coal industry of Pennsylvania and probably destroy it.

Now let me ask you what is coal? Coal is a product that has made Pennsylvania; it has furnished the fuel whereby the great industries of Pennsylvania have been able to operate, and in that respect Pennsylvania is outstanding in the United States, providing today for the war effort more equipment and more supplies and more munitions than any other state in the union, because they have right at home their fuel and their energy which runs the industries of Pennsylvania, which produce all these things that help to win the war. Pennsylvania produces the coal which furnishes heat in the winter time and keeps us warm and without which we would have to substitute other fuels.

First let me say how this silt has gathered. A hundred years ago the coal mines were permitting silt to run from their operations into the rivers and streams of Pennsylvania. Fifty years ago, in the case of Commonwealth versus Sanderson, it was decided by the Supreme Court that it was lawful to do so, and for fifty years it has been the law in Pennsylvania that the coal companies may discharge into the waters the discharge from the mines. This discharge from the mines comes from waters that must be used in purifying coal. For every ton of coal there must be twenty tons of water to clean the coal and make it ready for market, and in so doing it creates a great deal of coal dirt, constituting this silt which travels into the streams, and yet, although it has been legal to do so for fifty years, until 1937, there then was passed a law which prohibited it.

This amendment is directed specifically against the further discharge of industrial waste. Even after plants are erected in the coal fields at very enormous expense, this silt, which over the years has gathered along the streams and rivers, will continue to flow on down to the mouth of the river and continue to reach the banks along its course, notwithstanding the fact that the further discharge of silt into the water is already arrested, because over the years the silt has gathered into pockets and into waters where the tide or the flow has not been great, but when we have high streams there is disturbance of those pockets, and disturbance of the levels where the coal silt has gathered, and the silt then is carried on downstream and deposited nearer and nearer the mouths of the rivers of this Commonwealth. For twenty years to come that silt, when the industrial discharge of waste from mines is arrested, will continue to reach the banks adjoining the city of Philadelphia, and yet, if it does reach the banks of the river at the city of Philadelphia, every man and every boy in the coal mines of Pennsylvania is guilty, under these amendments, of a crime.

There is a provision in this bill that sulphur shall not be permitted to enter the streams of the Commonwealth, when the Sanitary Water Board directs that a company cease depositing this sulphur. May I say to you, gentlemen, when that occurs, when sulphur no longer enters into the streams, and the Sanitary Water Board makes its decree, then all coal mining in Pennsylvania must cease; there is no alternative for them but to stop work completely. I say the coal mines of Pennsylvania, under these amendments, are subjected entirely to the arbitrary discretion of the Sanitary Water Board. That board, under these amendments, can destroy the most valuable industry in Pennsylvania, one that has made Pennsylvania, one that is essential to all the states of the union, and one without which we can not get along.

I say to you when that Sanitary Water Board makes that decision and these companies are required to eliminate that sulphur waste, the cost will be so enormous that no one of them can operate. Even when the silt must be eliminated from the discharge the cost is so great for that item alone that every small company in the anthracite fields will go out of business, as they can not afford to set up the plants to purify those waters, and that will leave only the big old line companies to operate, but when the sulphur must be eliminated I promise you, Mr. President, that mining in the coal fields of Pennsylvania will cease.

I think, Mr. President, that we have not handled this proposal in a proper way. We are putting the cart before the horse. We have a great deal of sewage entering into the streams and rivers of Pennsylvania and that sewage is polluting the water of the streams and making it unfit to drink or to use for former purposes of any character. That sewage, under the act of 1937, was to be eliminated, but the stringent proposals of these amendments do not apply to sewage. The provisions of this bill with reference to sewage remain the same as they did in 1937, and yet today sewage is emptied into the streams of Pennsylvania. Without the elimination of sewage it is just folly to try and harass the coal fields of Pennsylvania and the coal mines by requiring them to eliminate waste. It would be highly unfair to industry to try to prohibit the discharge of sulphur into the streams. Sulphur always comes from the mines, even though they do not use it in the washing of the coal; it drains from the mines and collects from the sulphur veins in the mines, and the water running from the mines of Pennsylvania and entering into the streams will always contain sulphur, until these mines eliminate it. Every old abandoned mine that is not operated today carries that same sulphur, and it will continue to enter into the waters and continue to pollute those waters. There is no way of prosecuting an abandoned mine under this act, there is no way to eliminate that provided for in this act, and consequently the sulphur from abandoned mines, and there are numerous of them, will continue to be discharged into the streams of Pennsylvania, notwithstanding any law, unless the Commonwealth itself assumes the burden, at a cost of many millions of dollars, to eliminate it.

So I say to you, Mr. President, there was no necessity for the stringent provisions of the conference committee amendments in order to try to eliminate the silt from the waters that come from operation of the coal mines.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I intend to vote for the Brunner bill even though I am not satisfied with it in its entirety. I know the people of Philadelphia were looking for a better piece of legislation to emanate from the halls of this Legislature.

However, bearing in mind the fact that the Schuylkill river is a great river that flows by Fairmount Park, a place which provides their only relief for many of our poor people who are cooped up in houses in the slums in certain districts around Philadelphia, and in consideration of the fact that maybe this bill will do a little good in removing the stench from the nostrils of those poor people because of that mass of silt that rests in the beautiful Schuylkill river, I intend to vote for the Brunner bill, with the hope and expectation that some future legislation may help to ameliorate conditions along the Schuylkill river.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, the Brunner bill has been one of the most controversial bills in the General Assembly this session, I think. If the problem was not such a serious one it would be humorous to detail to you gentlemen a history of the written comment I have received, and I suppose many of you have experienced much the same thing as I have. In the beginning much of my mail was to the effect to please vote for the Brunner bill; as time went by the letters became more demanding, and I was told I had better vote for the Brunner bill; and then finally some change took place in the course of the bill coming through the legislative mill, and I began to receive written communcations to the effect that I should not vote for the Brunner bill.

Editorial comment has been varied, even in the city of Philadelphia, where some of the newspapers have favored the Brunner bill and others have not. My own personal feeling has always been that the last two administrations could have done a good job under the LaRue Act of 1937. However, we must face realities. No job was attempted and no job was done.

To defeat the Brunner bill to me would mean that nothing would continue to be done. If it is the feeling or the desire of this administration that it is willing to do something, and that the basis of doing something is the Brunner bill, then I for one am willing to give the administration that opportunity, so that two years from now we can determine whether it was sincere or not, and for that reason I intend voting for the Brunner bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 839, on final passage, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" by further regulating the affairs of boroughs and revising amending and changing the law relating thereto go over in its order, temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the final consideration of House Bill No. 877, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections sixteen and seventeen of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" clarifying the provisions relating to the resale of such property purchased by the county commissioners at county treasurer's sales and further providing for the reimbursement to the county for moneys spent on such property in certain cases

Section 1 Section sixteen of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 498) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 16 When the county commissioners shall purchase any real property at a county treasurer's sale, they shall provide a book wherein shall be entered (a) the name of the person as whose land the same was sold (b) a brief description of the property together with any lot and block number (c) the amount of taxes interest and costs for which it was sold Such property should not so long as it remains the property of the county be charged in the duplicate During the redemption period following such sale if the land remains unredeemed the commissioners shall in separate columns in the same book charge every such tract of land with like county city borough town township school and poor taxes as would have been chargeable against the land had the same not been purchased by the county commissioners The right of redemption of lands [heretofore] purchased by the county commissioners shall remain in the real owner of such lands or other persons interested [for five years after such sale to the county commissioners and of all lands hereafter purchased by the county commissioners such right shall remain] for two years after such sale and such redemption may be accomplished by a payment within such period to the county treasurer of first all taxes interest and costs due thereon at the time of sale and interest thereon and also second the taxes and interest which have been annually levied and charged thereon after the sale and interest thereon beginning on the first day of January in the year succeeding the year when the respective taxes were levied and also third all moneys expended by the county in the demolition and removal of any building or structure on such property or the repair thereof in order to make the same safe pursuant to an order by the authorities of the political subdivision in which the property is located after such building or structure had been condemned as unsafe and also forth all moneys expended by the county on order of the Pennsylvania State Police or an assistant to the Pennsylvania State Police in removing or remedying any condition on such property that is found to be a fire menance or hazard All redemptions of property purchased by the county commissioners shall be noted upon their records and the county treasurer shall forthwith cause an entry of redemption to be made on the records in like manner as if such property were purchased by other than county commissioners

Section 2 Section seventeen of said act as reenacted and amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 364) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 17 If the owner of any real property his heirs or legal representatives or lien creditor his heirs assigns or legal representatives or other person interested in property so purchased by the county commissioners shall not redeem the same within such period of redemption the county commissioners may after the expiration of such period sell such lands at public sale [or] as provided by this act or at private sale in the manner provided by law for such private sales for the best price or prices obtainable but they shall not be obliged to sell same Any such lands now owned by the county for which the redemption period has expired including property heretofore exposed to sale by the county commissioners and for which no bids have been received may be sold as herein provided at any time after the effective date of this act but shall not be required to be sold After any such sale or in the case of any redemption the property shall be charged by the assessor in the name of the last purchaser or redeemer and such lands shall again be liable for taxes as other lands

The county commissioners before making public sale of real property purchased by them at tax sales shall give at least thirty days' notice once a week for three consecutive weeks of such sales particularly designating the tracts that are to be sold This notice shall be inserted in at least two newspapers published in the county if so many are published in said county if there be only one then in such newspaper published in the county

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 326, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the payment of the cost of bulding a protective wall along the bank of the Ohio River roof repairs steel beam supports and renewal of piping in power plant and one new generator all at the Dixmont Hospital Dixmont Allegheny County Pennsylvania

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Secton 1 The sum of nineteen thousand four hundred fifty dollars ($19,450) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for the payment of the cost of constructing a protective rock wall along the bank of the Ohio River on the property of The Dixmont Hospital Dixmont Allegheny County Pennsylvania

Section 2 The sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for the payment of the cost of making necessary repairs to the roofs of existing buildings at The Dixmont Hospital Dixmont Allegheny County Pennsylvania

Section 3 The sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for the payment of the cost of renewing the piping in the existing power plant at the Dixmont Hospital Dixmont Allegheny County Pennsylvania

Section 4 The sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for the payment of the cost of purchasing constructing and installing steel beam supports to replace wooden supports and raising and renewing roof in the existing power plant at the Dixmont Hospital Dixmont Allegheny County Pennsylvania

Section 5 The sum of Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for the payment of the cost of purchasing and installing soot blowers and motor generating equipment and appurtenances in the existing power plant at The Dixmont Hospital Dixmont Allegheny County Pennsylvania

Section 6 The amounts appropriated in the foregoing sections of this act shall be available to pay the entire cost of the aforesaid additional facilities repairs and improvements including the cost of such plans specifications advertising for bids supervision and architectural and engineering services as may be necessary in connection therewith

Section 7 The amount of the foregoing appropriations to be expended for any of the purposes aforesaid shall be determined with the approval of the Governor by the Department of Welfare

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will speak on House Bill No. 326 and House Bill No. 328 at the same time. The only observation I want to make is that these two bills deal with a private mental institution known as the Dixmont Hospital. We passed a bill earlier in the session which will enable the Commonwealth to take over private mental institutions. If the purpose behind passage of these two bills is to enable the Commonwealth to take over the Dixmont Hospital, then we are justified in passing these two bills. but if it is not the purpose of the Commonwealth to take over this institution then we have no legal right to pass these two bills. In the first place we are appropriating $1,000,000 for the use of this institution for purposes other than to take care of indigent mental patients. This money is being appropriated for piping in a power plant, for the purchase of one new generator, for roof repairs and other material needs. There is no statute upon the statute books of the state that would allow us to do this, other than I believe the purpose behind this is that the repairs are necessary, the repairs must be made, and the Commonwealth intends to take over this institution. I submit, however, if the Commonwealth does not take over this institution, then we have no business passing these bills. We hope they intend to take them over. I am asking my colleagues to vote "aye".

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 641, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and Sections one two three and four of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 797) entitled "An act relating to the release reduction or limitation of powers of appointment" by extending the terms of such act to cover a power of consumption and by providing for the release and disclaimer of any power of appointment whether general or special other than a power in trust which is imperative and of any interest in to or over real or personal property or the income therefrom held or owned outright or in trust or in any other manner reserved or given to any person by deed will or otherwise howsoever and irrespective of any limitation of such power or interest by virtue of any restriction in the nature of a socalled spendthrift trust provision or similar provisions and providing for the execution delivery and recording of such release or disclaimer go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 658, as follows:

An Act to further amend section eleven of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 644) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of monyes and property for charitable religious benevolent humane and patriotic purposes" by exempting federated women's clubs

Section 1 Section eleven of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 644) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable religious benevolent humane and patriotic purposes" as amended by the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 150) and the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 280) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 11 This act shall not apply to fraternal organizations incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth religious organizations raising funds for religious purposes colleges schools universities or associations of alumni or alumnae thereof raising funds for fellowships or scholarships federated women's clubs labor unions municipalities or subdivisions thereof nor to charitable institutions or agencies required by the provisions of existing law to file reports with the Department of Welfare or with any other department or office of the Commonwealth nor to any war veterans' organization or any subordinate units thereof whenever the purpose for which it is soliciting funds has been approved by the Department of Military Affairs

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I have looked at House Bill No. 658, both when it was in committee and after it was reported out of the Committee on Welfare, and I have not been able to convice myself that I understand the need for the amendment to the solicitation act. It appears that up to this time the various organizations that have been placed in the exemption section of the solicitation act have indicated some need for it. But, why suddenly federated women's clubs are included in the exemption is something I can not understand. It would appear to me in the first place that this might be some special legislation and I do not know why federated men's or boys' clubs are not included and, unless some satisfactory explanation can be given with respect to the reason for the bill, I would like to ask my colleagues to vote against it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this bill includes just one additional exemption in the solicitation act of 1925. The purpose of putting federated women's clubs into the bill does not have any diabolical political significance.

I might say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Rosenfeld, that practically every town in western Pennsylvania, and I am assuming that the custom also exists in the eastern part of the state, has a women's club that belongs to the county federation, which in turn belongs to the state federation. These women's clubs are composed of all the women in the town who are deeply interested in the municipal development of the social and fraternal life in that particular community.

Now we exempt fraternal organizations which might be in the same town and to which many of the husbands of these very fine ladies belong. For example, the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks could be in your home town and they would be exempted under this bill, but the Monday Club or the Women's Club of that same town would not be exempted unless we pass this state-wide bill. I also want to say that they do not operate for profit, because the money they raise by solicitations which would ordinarily come under this act, it used for charitable purposes right in their own home town.

This is a very fine gesture this Legislature could make in appreciation of the valuable contribution which the women of Pennsylvania make to the welfare of their separate communities and I think the gentleman from Philadelphia will feel satisfied, when this session is over, that this is one of the most heart-warming contributions we can make to the future of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I do not question the sincerity of my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker —I am sure he means well—but I still can not understand why the act should be enlarged at this time to single out an organization, which may or may not do charitable work, as the power given under this act would give that organization the right to go out and raise funds and do whatever it wanted with those funds. I do not question the motives of that organization—I think they do a fine piece of work—but I do not think they should be exempt and I do not feel they came within the legislative intent when this exemption section was written into this act. I think the purposes, for which the right to raise funds was given to groups that are already exempted, were pretty clear and well definied, but there is no telling—and that is my reason for objecting to this bill—to what use the federated women's clubs would put any money they did collect.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am going to try once more to explain this to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Rosenfeld, because he is going to have to explain it to his wife when he gets home.

First let me say—because I have gathered from the sidebar conference that has been going on what might still be in the gentleman's mind—, the words that have been added on line 8, page 2, of the bill are "federated women's clubs," and I want to say to the gentleman this does not include anything like the Republican women's clubs or the Democratic women's clubs or the Royal Oak women's clubs. The reason for them to go out and solicit money is perhaps because they will have a tag day for some worthy local charity and they can not have that tag day unless they get permission as set up in the act of 1925. All this bill does is to permit them to have the same status as any other fraternal organization of men in putting on a charity drive or a tag day or for raising money for a children's home or for the local milk or ice fund.

There is no way in the world that any political organization can come in under this definition—and I am repeating that again because I think that is the fear in the gentleman's mind. No fraternal organization such as the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks or the Loyal Order of Moose could be classified as a political organization because those organizations take in members of the major political parties, and so do the federated women's clubs, and the gentleman must not get it confused and think that these federated women's clubs are organized for the furthering of the philosophies of any of the major political parties. This bill will save the trouble, inconvenience and expense to these federated womens clubs of having to come to Harrisburg and the Department of Welfare and taking out a permit to raise money for milk and ice for the children of their own community.

This is the last time I am going to try to explain this, because if I have not now convinced the gentlemen on the other side I am going to let them vote as their consciences dictate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I realize some of my colleagues are under pressure now for the reason that their wives are here; however, my wife is not here and therefore I shall vote "no."

Mr. ROSENFELD. I want to make just one more observation, Mr. President. I do not question the explanation given by my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and that may be the intention of the amendments to the solicitation act, but I do say that inclusion of the words "federated women's clubs" into the act may or may not bring about the results intended by the gentleman from Allegheny and for that reason I ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. McGINNIS. I would like to inquire from the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, what are the federated women's clubs, what are they or who are they.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to first state that I do not belong to the federated women's clubs and therefore have no personal interest in this bill.

If the gentleman from Allegheny wants to know the purpose of this amendment, Mr. President, I previously tried to explain that there are a lot of communities in western Pennsylvania, and I believe the custom has also extended to the eastern part of the state, and if I may get personal for a moment, Mr. President, take my home town as an example. In Oakmont they have a women's club and that club is composed of about 95 per cent of the women of that fine community and regardless of their political philosophy, because the question of politics does not enter into it, they are dedicated to only one thing and that is to see what they can do to advance the cause of Oakmont and make it a better place in which to live. They are entirely dedicated to civic betterment and putting on charity drives to raise money. This women's club is affiliated with the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs, which is composed of all the towns in Allegheny county and all the womens clubs in Allegheny county are in turn affiliated with the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs. In the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs there is a set-up which would bar a political club. I want to say to the gentleman that it is impossible for any Republican club to be in this federation, as the federation of women's clubs is composed exclusively of non-political, non-partisan groups of women who do not select their membership because of race, color, creed or political affiliation; they take them in their club because they live in Oakmont and are interested in developing the civic betterment of their particular community.

They help kids go to school because they award scholarships to poor kids that could not go to school unless they get scholarships or financial aid, they help churches in their charity drives, and they do that by having tag days. The only way they can have a tag day for charitable purposes is to come here to Harrisburg and ask the Department of Welfare for a permit and when they get that permit they have to fill out a long questionnaire, but when the Benevolent Order of Elks puts on a charity drive they do not have to secure a permit because they are already exempt under the act. This puts the federated women's clubs on the same level. It just resolves itself to that, so that they do not have to come down here to Harrisburg and get a permit. That is all the bill does.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I realize in Oakmont they may do more than in some other town which may not be so philanthropic. We all known there are crooks who like to impose on these federated women's clubs; I do not know exactly what they might do in Oakmont, but in some other towns they might go out and do a lot of collecting for improper purposes.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I want to call to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny county that there are only 52 Saturdays in a year and there is no more room for federated women's clubs or any other clubs to hold tag days, as all the Saturdays are now taken. I think we have got enough tag days now, without adding any more, and if you are going to open up this law, if that is the way it will operate, I am against it. I do not think there are any politics in it and I do not think any politics should be injected into it. I do not think it is fair to permit competition with religious and patriotic organizations, which are now doing a good job, by permitting any one to form a club who says he is going to hold a charity drive. We have got organizations doing it now, and I think we ought to allow them to raise money for charity. We have too many tag days now. Let those who have a right to tag do the tagging.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to give the reason for the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, voting "aye"—his wife happens to be here tonight.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "no" to "aye", to show my wife is the boss too.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair observes that the Senate would be a happier place if all the wives came here more often.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

ERRATUM

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there has been an error in the printing of the Calendar, as Senate Bill No. 768, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 468), entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department, by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner, two Deputy State Highway Commissioners, chief engineer, chief draughtsman, superintendents of highways, and a staff of assistants and employes; defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees; providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county seats, principal cities, and towns and extending to the State line; describing and defining same by route numbers as the State highways of the Commonwealth providing for the improvement, maintenance and repair of said State highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth, and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same, and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same; requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State highways wholly and in part; requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof; conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner providing for the payment of damages in taking of property, or otherwise, in the improvement thereof; providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll roads forming all or part of any State highway, and procedure therein; providing for work of improvement of State highways to be done by contract, except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work be done by the State; providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads; defining highways and State-aided highways; providing method of application for State aid in the improvement, maintenance, and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township, county, borough, or incorporated towns petitions; providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State, county, township, borough, or incorporated town, and requiring contracts by counties, townships, boroughs, and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same; providing for the minimum width of State highways and State-aid highways, and kind of materials to be used in the improvement; providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs; providing penalty for injuring or destroying State highways; making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act; and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads, and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith; and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act," by changing certain routes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It appears that Senate Bill No. 768, is improperly listed on the Calendar for today.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I object.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 892, on third reading, go over in its order.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, may I have the privilege of making a few remarks?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Washington may proceed.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I believe we are all of the opinion that any organization or group should have the right or privilege to engage in any enterprise or program which that group or association might believe would be for their mutual advancement or welfare.

The Legislature in 1933 apparently was of that same belief and opinion, when it passed an act which made possible the incorporation of credit unions, and in that act, in section 4, they defined membership to mean any group having a common bond of occupation. In 1937 the Legislature amended the act of 1933 by defining a credit union to be a membership, large or small, having a common bond of association by reason of occupation. As lawyers, construing that phraseology, we know that it is necessary for any group or organization, in order to come within the provisions of this law, to be associated in a business by way of employment where their common bond is mutual in nature. I can see where it would have application to department store employes, to employes of the post office or individuals who work for an employer where their interests would be mutual in nature.

The amendments which have been presented to this Assembly provide, in addition to a group or organization which has a common bond of association by reason of occupation, that the law would be made more elastic by making it possible for any membership in a lodge, any membership in a fraternal organization, any membership in a religious organization, regardless of the nature of the religious group, any chartered cooperative association or any labor union, to have the right and privilege to create among themselves a credit union for the mutual benefit of their membership. The procedure to be followed under the law as it now exists is very simple. The only thing that needs to be done is for seven individuals to file articles of incorporation with the Department of Banking; the Department of Banking has to find that the applicants for a charter of incorporation are associated with or connected with a group who come within the same occupational field. If the Department of Banking approves the application, it is then certified to the Department of State, through the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and if the Secretary of the Commonwealth approves it, then the group has the authority and law to extend loans to their membership.

Approximately an hour ago my good friend from Allegheny, Senator Walker, in his argument for the passage of House Bill 658, stated that he saw no reason why the federation of women's clubs should not have a right to go into the field and solicit money without restrictions from any state department, and in his argument he referred to fraternal organizations, more particularly, to the Moose, Eagles and Elks, and he said they should have a free hand to do what they might want to do.

Gentlemen, I see no reason why any fraternal organization, any religious organization or any labor union, if its membership, through payment of dues or through the purchase of stock, wants to create among themselves a fund from which the membership can borrow money in time of need, that we in this Legislature should close the door on them and say "your organization is not of sufficient strength, your membership does not have sufficient integrity, your officers are not sufficiently sound in business dealings, your membership can not be trusted, and there-ore we are saying to you the Legislature of Pennsylvania loes not think that your organization should be permitted o assist the membership of it when they have need of inancial assistance."

Gentlemen, I see no politics attached to this in any way whatsoever. As Senator Walker said, these fraternal organizations are composed of both Republicans and Demorats, and I think we owe it to all these groups to help hem to help their members when their members are n need.

An the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 901, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 77) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by transferring the State Board of Undertakers from the Department of Health to the Department of Public Instruction be recommitted to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. TROUTMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 908, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend and further amend certain sections of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special, or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by changing the name of the Commissioner of Health to the Secretary of Health; further regulating the duties of medical inspectors and sanitary officers; and the employment of school nurses and dental hygienists; requiring school employes and pupils to undergo examinations; authorizing advisory health councils; and repealing certain acts.

The PRESIDING OFFICEER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 936, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 295) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one providing for the levy collection and disbursement of taxes and water-rents or rates and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer the board of water assessors and the collector of delinquent taxes and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for" by fixing a limit for taxes to be levied on real estate.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask permission to offer clarifying amendments at this time, and I ask the Clerk to read them.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 2, line 27, by adding after the word "mills" the following: except when the taxing authorities find it necessary to have a greater tax millage upon land and upon buildings to meet the necessary and essential expenses of Government; Amend Section 2, page 2, lines 25, 26 and 27 by striking out the words "upon land at a rate to exceed" in line 25, all of lines 26 and 27.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, am I right that the amendments have been agreed to by the Senate?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny is correct.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON AMENDMENTS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which the amendments were agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I voted in the affirmative; I heard no votes in the negative.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I voted in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. On the question of reconsideration I just want to explain to the Senate exactly what the amendments do.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, this bill is known as one of the so-called Pittsburgh tax bills. This bill is prompted primarily with the idea of directing the mayoralty campaign in Allegheny county from the halls of the General Assembly in Harrisburg. This bill, Mr. President and members of the Senate, fixes a limit for taxes to be levied on real estate in the city of Pittsburgh. It places the present millage of 25 mills on land and 12½ mills on buildings as the tax limit.

The gentleman who introduced this particular bill knows full well that the tax duplicates to be realized in the city of Pittsburgh by the present tax system, or the present tax levy, will return $1,500,000 less than the city needs to operate under its budget, assuming that they collect one hundred per cent of the tax duplicates. I believe that if the city council of the city of Pittsburgh, which is responsible to the people for the running of the government of the city of Pittsburgh, is not to be allowed to set its tax assessment to meet its requirements, then we here in turn ought to set a tax limit on the entire state, in every municipality.

It is probably, Mr. President and members of the Senate, one of the lowest types of political bill that has ever been introduced. The city of Pittsburgh happens to be Democratic by vote of the majority of the people—the General Assembly happens to be Republican by vote of the majority of the people—but at no time was it ever intended, when the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania elected members to the General Assembly, that they were to sit here as the taxing authorities for the city of Pittsburgh.

There is no person within the hearing of my voice, that can tell this Senate the cost of government of the city of Pittsburgh. There is no person here that can tell me that next year, if there happens to be a flood, or the year afterwards, if they happen to have some other disaster, that this tax millage we now set will be sufficient to meet the cost of government in the city of Pittsburgh.

All I am asking for, if you intend to set this limit as it is, then you ought to also give additional powers to the council so that, if they need more money to run the essentials of government in the city of Pittsburgh, they be permitted to increase the tax millage.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not believe the decent members of the Republican majority in this Senate are going to stand by and see the city of Pittsburgh suffer because certain people are promoting certain individuals for nomination to political offices in the city of Pittsburgh. There is no sound reasoning for the passage of this bill; there is no logic that says that this bill is required or is necessary. The council of the city of Pittsburgh is absolutely responsible to the people, responsible for the carrying on of the government of the city of Pittsburgh, and they ought to have the right to raise the money necessary to do so. I can not, for the life of me, understand how we men in the Senate of Pennsylvania can sit here and set taxes for the city of Pittsburgh. Where in our oath of office are we given the power to usurp the duties of the council of the city of Pittsburgh and take upon ourselves the setting of the tax millage for that city? We can not set the tax millage because we do not know what they need for their costs of government; we can not set the tax millage because we are not charged with that responsibility; we are not charged with carrying on the duties of the council of the city of Pittsburgh. We are charged here with carrying on the duty, as members of the General Assembly, of passing laws for the common good.

At no time were we ever instructed in this Senate in the manner and method of setting up a budget for the city of Pittsburgh. If you believe that is a proper duty of the members of the General Assembly, then let us set the budget for every city; let us take over all budgets; let us take it upon ourselves to go into every city and say, "your taxes are too great; we are going to set a limit and you live within that limit."

Why should a member of the Pittsburgh minority come into the Senate of Pennsylvania or into the House of Representatives and say to the city of Pittsburgh, "we will set your millage; we will tell you how much money you can spend for government; we will tell you what you can give to the people of the city of Pittsburgh by way of government"? You are going to tell us how many playgrounds can be built for the children; you are going to tell us how many streets can be repaired; you are going to tell us how many other duties, which are properly duties of the council of the city of Pittsburgh, you are going to usurp.

I say to you, gentlemen, that it is not our job, it is not the duty of the General Assembly to sit here in the halls of the Senate and take over the duties of the council of the city of Pittsburgh, and I ask you men on the other side to vote with me on these amendments and to vote against the motion to reconsider.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. Presdent, I am sure that every member on this floor believes in representative government. In the city of Pittsburgh we have a Democratic mayor, we have nine councilmen—every one a Democrat, elected by the people back home; we have sixty thousand majority registration, Democratic, in the city of Pittsburgh. Why the governor of Pennsylvania and the members of the House and the Senate of Pennsylvania would want to step in and meddle in our affairs in the city of Pittsburgh, I can not understand. They do not do it in Erie, they do not do it in Erie, they do not do it in Philadelphia, they do not do it in Easton or in the boroughs and townships. It seems to me that people ought to be big and broad when it comes to situations like this.

I am sure that the Earle administration would not have stooped to such tactics, to go into any city or any borough or township in this state and tell them how to run their government or what millage they should place. It is a most unusual thing, an amazing thing, and I can not understand why any party would stoop to such tactics.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am sorry this question has come up at this time. It was our intention to ask that House Bill No. 936 go over in order, because it, as my colleagues on the left side of the Senate realize, is part of a program which was set up for correction of the tax situation in the city of Pittsburgh, and this bill, House Bill 936, is a companion bill to House Bill No. 1190.

What my colleagues say about the minority in Pittsburgh taking advantage of this situation is just about as far from the truth, I think the record will show, as can be. In discussing the other bill, the companion bill, in the Post Gazette of May 3, 1945, an editorial goes on to say:

". . . why the Democrats oppose it after pleading for the last two years for a chance to tax something else than real estate, is a story of considerable interest to the Pittsburgh voters."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, has the floor.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENT. I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DENT. We are discussing, I believe, a bill that sets the limit on taxes and not the bill that widens the tax base; when we come to that, we will both be in the picture discussing the merits of that bill.

Mr. GELTZ. I intend to discuss House Bill No. 936.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. GELTZ. As the gentlemen on the other side well know and realize, at the insistance of the Democratic council, the Democratic administration and the Democratic mayor of the city of Pittsburgh, a public hearing was held in the House on these bills. At that public hearing appeared Miss Anne Alpern, city solicitor, as the representative of Mayor Scully; there appeared also Tom Kilgallen, who is president of council; John T. Duff, who, I believe, is chairman of the committee on finance of council, and some of the other representatives of the Democratic Pittsburgh administration.

Tom Kilgallen, president of council, had this to say, among other things, which shows the necessity for something being done: "This room is rather well filled with Pittsburghers who are in agreement on one point, at least one point. That point is that we have a taxation system in our city which is so archaic and outmoded that it can no longer function. It was suitable for the eighteenth century, when land, when real estate constituted eighty-five per cent of our wealth in Pittsburgh, but is no longer suitable for the Pittsburgh of this century."

A little bit further on Councilman John T. Duff said:

". . . the proportion or the percentage of revenue derived from real estate is in excess of eighty per cent, so you see that anything which affects real estate has a very disastrous effect upon the city's revenues."

Councilman Duff, who is the chairman of the committee on finance, in discussing the situation of the millage on real estate in Pittsburgh said, in summing up, "so there is nothing attractive about owning real estate in Pittsburgh."

These quotations, Mr. President, are not my own statements, they are not statements of colleagues on my side or of the so-called Republican minority in Pittsburgh, but they are statements of the so-called Democratic majority and representatives of the Democratic administration in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Duff also went on to say that which ties these two bills together—this is in connection with something being done about the tax program—and I quote; "Now, to that end we came down to the Assembly and we introduced certain bills. I do not have the numbers right before me, but I think I can discuss them. The first one was that we requested the enactment of the so-called Sterling Act which enabled the city to levy on all subjects of property not taxable then or thereafter by the state; we made the exception that it should not extend to authorize a tax upon sales or a tax upon wages or upon salaries." That so-called Sterling Act is a similar bill to House Bill 1190, which is on the second reading Calendar, and for which we were going to hold House Bill 936, so that the two could ride through at the same time.

That bill, Mr. President, was introduced not by a Republican, but, as Councilman Duff says, by a Democrat—and I see my colleague, my good friend, Joe Barr, pointing to himself, so I expect he has one in, too, and maybe he is a little bit jealous because we are considering this bill and not his—I do not know.

Then Councilman Joe McArdle said "you want somebody taxed that you know that you can get paid. That is what the city wants, and I do not believe that real estate can stand any further taxation. I do think it could stand a little reduction if the city was in position to grant it at this time."

He also said "what we are concerned about is a set-up whereby we would have the power to get $27,000,000 a year in revenue, and if we have that power I would be perfectly satisfied to set a ceiling on real estate taxes myself."

Mind you, Mr. President, a Democratic councilman of the city of Pittsburgh said, "I would be perfectly satisfied to set a ceiling on real estate taxes myself."

That, Mr. President, is all this bill endeavors to do. Under House Bill No. 1190 there will be other forms of taxation available to the city administration in Pittsburgh, whether it be a Democratic administration or a Republican administration, and because every one who does any thinking about the subject appreciates that real estate in Pittsburgh can stand no further taxation, it was our thought that when we were giving greater taxing powers or broader taxing powers to the city administration, that there should be a ceiling on the millage on real estate.

They all admit that real estate is paying a greater proportion of the taxes than it can really stand for the benefit of everybody, including the citizens of Pittsburgh. The celing set in this bill is not a reduction from the present millage, but is the present millage, which all of those Democratic Representatives admit is far more than should be charged or should be paid in Pittsburgh.

Tom Kilgallen, in discussing this situation, said, "I want to correct this erroneous impression that the taxes in Pittsburgh are high. Not at all; the taxes against real estate in Pittsburgh are high, but they are non-existent as to anything else." In other words, he, a Democratic councilman, was willing to go on record that real estate taxes in Pittsburgh are high.

A little bit later Miss Alpern said, "We feel that real estate is bearing an undue portion of the load, and once a new source of revenue is found and the matter begins working adequately, real estate taxes will inevitably be decreased." Not, Mr. President, inevitably kept at the millage that now exists and at which we want to set a ceiling, but she, the representative of Mayor Scully, says they will inevitably be decreased lower than the ceiling which we are setting in this bill.

She also said, and this applies to both House Bill No. 936 and House Bill 1190—this is the personal representative of the Democratic Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh—" . . . if the Legislature passes some of the bills that have been suggested before you, with the amendments which have been proposed—(some of which have been put in here, which exempt sales, wages and occupations)—we earnestly believe that the problems of this great industrial city can with your help be solved."

Mr. President, that is the city solicitor of Pittsburgh, the personal representative of the Democratic mayor of Pittsburgh, saying to a committee of the House in this Legislature, ". . . we earnestly believe that the problems of this great industrial city can, with your help be solved." That is all we are trying to do, Mr. President; answer that request and give them the help that the personal representative of the mayor requested and begged of the House committee when the public hearing was held on these bills.

Some people might wonder why it is that the Democratic Senators are objecting to this. The answer as to why they are objecting is not because they think the purpose of the bill is not correct, but in House Bill 1190, Mr. President, there is a dead line; in other words, the city administration must set its new taxes and the millage by the fifteenth of October and that, Mr. President, is what is breaking the Democratic—not mule or donkey, but camel's—back; they just can not bear to be compelled to tell the voters of the city of Pittsburgh, before the general election, what new taxes they are going to impose on the poor taxpayers in the city.

And so, Mr. President, even after they came down to this session of the Legislature and begged for the very thing that we are trying to give them, the very help they asked for, they are now willing to sacrifice everything and, as Miss Alpern said, eliminate the very necessary help to solve Pittsburgh's problems, simply because they are being asked to go on record before the general election and tell the citizens of Pittsburgh what they certainly have a right to know—"how are you going to solve the crisis in which this Democartic adminitsration has brought Pittsburgh in the last ten years"—and they know, Mr. President, as well as I do, that it is tragic, what their administration has done to the city of Pittsburgh is really disgraceful, they are in a worse condition financially, and that is the reason why they hesistate to admit it, but that is the reason why they had to come down here to Harrisburg to the Legislature and practically get down on their knees and say to the Legislature, "Won't you please help us solve our problem," and that is what we are trying to do—and now in the road they get.

Miss Alpern also said—and I will make the statement this is in connection with the real estate tax, the bill we are discussing now—". . . we feel that the rate that is now imposed is the highest rate that should be imposed if it is at all possible to do otherwise, but if you give us no relief, the city must go on, you have only one alternative."

That is the representive of the mayor of Pittsburgh, who says the millage which is set as the ceiling in this bill is the highest rate that should be imposed if there is some other alternative. Well, the other bill on the calendar, House Bill 1190, gives them the other alternative; it broadens their taxing powers so that they will be in position, if they are intelligent enough and if they are competent and efficient enough in administration, to have the revenue that is necessary to well manage the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, the most vicious thing that was ever done in this state was to have the Republican Party for over fifty years saddle taxes on real estate and the home owners in this state. They protected the corporations, until the Earle administration came along and levied taxes in other ways, but the curse of the Legislature in Pennsylvania for over fifty years is that the school taxes and the home taxes back home were saddled on homes.

In this session you have relieved taxes here and there but not one penny on the homes of Pennsylvania, and now you come to Pittsburgh—if there is one thing I have heard Governor Martin say many times it is this—home rule, let the people back home run their own affairs—and yet we come here, in the closing hours of this session, and try to ram down the throats of the people of Pittsburgh, where, as I said before, there is sixty thousand majority registration Democratic, nine members of council, every one Democratic, and a Democratic mayor, and why a Republican Governor and a Republican House and a Republican Senate should come back into our community and try to ram down our throats that we can not raise taxes on homes—we do not want to do it, we never did want to do it, we want to get them down—but I resent this Legislature or the Governor or the House or the Senate coming back into my city and exercising functions that belong to our council and to our mayor and to our own people.

Why, there is not a member on this floor from Easton, Erie or Philadelphia or any place else, that would not resent that with every drop of blood in his body.

Of course, I do not think taxes will go any higher on real estate than they are in Pittsburgh now, but I like to be a loyal, free American back home in Pittsburgh, and I resent this Legislature or any other body coming back into my community and telling me to put a lid on it, when they do not know anything about the situation; they do not know whether we are going to have a flood in Pittsburgh that might destroy half of our property.

I might go on and tell you what the federal administration has done for the city of Pittsburgh on floods, but I am not going into that. But we do not know what is going to happen, and you do not know in your community or your city or borough or township what might happen next year from floods or catastrophes or fires or what not, and for this Legislature to tie the hands of any community, small or large, is most unreasonable to me.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to get into a discussion with Mr. Geltz concerning taxes in the city of Pittsburgh, or the advisability of passing this bill, but I will tell him something that evidently he does not know, that the plight of the city of Pittsburgh is not caused by the Democratic administration's mismanagement or lack of intelligent handling. It is caused, Mr. Geltz, by the very simple fact that there has been a very great decrease in the amount of land values in the city of Pittsburgh for real estate tax purposes, because many home owners and businesses have moved out of the crowded and congested Pittsburgh district and have moved into the rural districts. They have moved away, they are moving out, the movement is apparent all over Pennsylvania. Good roads, electrical services, gas, utilities of all kinds are now available in the areas outside of the city limits, and so thousands upon thousands of dollars of real estate value are no longer available for tax purposes, and that is why you can not have sufficient funds to run your government in Pittsburgh without having an excessive real estate tax.

I might suggest that the man who introduced this bill, and the men who now argue for it, neither one of the two live in the city of Pittsburgh, and are not subject to the taxes of Pittsburgh, not subject to them at all.

Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I appeal to you men on the other side in the name of fair play. My taxes at home are higher than they are in the city of Pittsburgh, upon my real estate, but I do not come crying to the General Assembly to tell my city council how to run the city of Jeannette. I think that the people who elected them have every confidence that they can run the city, and if they have not they can run them out at the very next election. If this is an issue for you to take home for your next campaign, take it back home and fight it; do not bring it here to the Senate of Pennsylvania, because we admit we do not know enough about Pittsburgh to set its budget.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I forgot, when I had the floor previously, to answer one charge by Senator Geltz, about the administration of the city of Pittsburgh, and I want to announce here that it has been the best administration that the city of Pittsburgh has ever had. We have paid off more bonds and our city today is in the best shape it ever was financially, and we can sell our bonds cheaper and better than any other city in the United States today, because we have had a real administration and we have given service.

You ought to see our playgrounds. You ought to see what has been done in the city of Pittsburgh, not for the big shots but for the poor districts; you ought to see what has happened in the last eight or ten years in the city of Pittsburgh that never happened before. We have given the best administration that has ever been given to any city in the United States; we have done more for the people, in streets, highways, sewers. Why, the sewers in the city of Pittsburgh had not been touched for fifty years and they were breaking in and being crushed and destroyed because they had never been touched, but we have rebuilt them, with federal aid.

We had the federal government come down into the city of Pittsburgh to help rebuild our sewers and our playgrounds and our homes and tear down slums and build a better city, and then for anybody on this floor to say that the city of Pittsburgh comes down here begging—we do not come here to beg, but we think that this plan that the Republican party has saddled on the homes of Pennsylvania for over fifty years, which is now crushing them and destroying them, we think that we ought to have a right in Pittsburgh to levy a tax on something else, and not put your finger on it here and tell us what to do, when you do not know a thing about it. It is silly and so undemocratic and so unfair that I just can not quite understand it.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this fine administration we just heard about is very interesting to me because I recall, at the same hearing on these bills, in connection with these sewers that my good friend, Senator McGinnis, talked about, that Councilman Duff, the same chairman of the finance committee, was talking about what a deplorable condition the city of Pittsburgh was in, that they were going to need a complete renovation of the sewer system, because some of the sewers had not even been examined in the last ten years—during this fine Democratic administration—whereupon he was asked if a few years ago there was not a bond issue passed in the city of Pittsburgh and bonds issued for the specific purpose of renovating, rebuilding and renewing these sewers, and the chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic council of Pittsburgh said he thought there had been; and then he was asked if he knew what had been done with that money and he said, "well, it had been used for something." Yes, it had been used for something—it had been run in with the general fund that had been so loosely spent in the city of Pittsburgh.

The tax rate has steadily increased, their budget has increased since the Democratic administration has been in, and in adidtion to that the Commonwealth took over the mental institution of the city, Mayview. I understand that now the county has taken over the indigent part of the city administration. In other words, Mr. President, their expenditures should be going down, but instead they are going up.

In order to meet this year's budget they had to be taken into court on a question of refinancing, I believe, or refunding of $1,500,000 in bonds in order to meet their present budget.

Mr. President, if that is not all the reason in the world why this ceiling bill should be passed to protect home owners and real estate owners, when we are broadening their taxing power and when real estate taxes are, as their own representatives say, at the highest millage they should be and at a point where now real estate owning in Pittsburgh is no longer attractive, then I do not know what good reason you could have.

In conclusion, Mr. President, from the same editorial from which I read before, the Post Gazette of May 3, we have this statement: "An if the Democrats continue to oppose this bill, it won't be because of the amendments. The House vote made it clear—(with its adoption over in the House, the same as here)—that no bill would be acceptable, however liberal in its terms, if it compelled the present city administraiton to disclose its tax plans before the election."

That statement is in connection with a discussion of House Bill 1190, which is tied in with this House Bill 936.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to call to my aid editorials. I have editorials here, too, dealing with House Bill 1190. We will argue House Bill 1190 when we come to it. I want you gentlemen to realize that the gentleman from Allegheny has read in support of this bill an editorial written in support of House Bill 1190. This bill ought to stand, rest or fall, entirely upon its own merits.

I only ask each man in this Senate to ask himself this question: "If this bill tonight dealt with my home community, would it be fair?"

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Presidnt, in my sleepy condition, it occurred to me that Senator Geltz was probably talking about the city of Philadelphia. I would like to know whether the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, would permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I hope I can answer the questions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. ROSENFELD. For possible future reference, would the gentleman from Philadelphia be willing to place a ceiling on real estate taxes in the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. WOODWARD. I do not believe in any tax limit. I had a terrible experience when I tried to do a favor for a personal friend, to aid and abet the limitation of the federal taxation on income to twenty-five per cent—well, it was a very unhappy experience and I am sorry I had anything to do with it, but it taught me a lesson and I am certainly against any limitation on taxation.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ROSENFELD. For possible future reference, would the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, be in favor of placing a limit on the real estate tax rate in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. FARRELL. I would not know, Mr. President; I have not been paying any attention to what has been going on; there have been so many orations, I would not know.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, talking about the administration in the city of Pitsburgh for the last nine years, I want to say to this Senate that the bonded indebtedness has been reduced—I can not give you the exact figures, but I think it is around $10,000,000. We paid off more bonds in the last ten years in the city of Pittsburgh than were paid off in any twenty years before.

Ten years ago the budget in Pittsburgh was over $27,000,000. Now with additional costs, and additional services being rendered, I believe we are only asking for $25,000,000, but this bill, in conjunction with the other bill, is one of the policies that the Republican administration has rammed down our throats for over fifty years.

There is another bill, but it is so amended—in fact, one of the amendments provide we shall not tax $37,000,000 worth of utilities. In other words, they are going to hedge us down and keep the taxes on the homes of the city of Pittsburgh; so narow are the provisions of these bills, this bill and the other one, that you can not tax anything else. That has been the policy in Pennsylvania for fifty years or more, to tax nothing but real estate, the home owners, and let the big business slide out, slip along—favors and privileges—so that today with these two bills they are doing the same thing to the city of Pittsburgh.

This Legislature is afraid to let the city of Pittsburgh run its own business and tax what it wants to tax, tax something besides real estate. Why, this bill and the other bill so tie us down that we can not tax any privilege, we can not tax any utilities, we can not do anything but saddle the taxes on the homes, and that has been the policy for fifty years and is still the policy here tonight.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1011, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2687) entitled "An act authorizing the Secretary of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to enter into contract with persons firms or corporations to erect office buildings and to lease such office buildings for the use of the Commonwealth the same to become the property of the Commonwealth upon termination of said lease" removing the authorization to contract for the erection of buildings

Section 1 The act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2687) entitled "An act authorizing the Secretary of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to enter into contract with persons firms or corporations to erect office buildings and to lease such office buildings for the use of the Commonwealth the same to become the property of the Commonwealth upon termination of said lease" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the Secretary of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor shall have power to enter into contract with any person firm or corporation which shall agree to [erect] lease within the city of Pittsburgh or the county of Allegheny or within the city of Philadelphia or county of Philadelphia at a location suitable to the Governor and the Secretary of Property and Supplies a suitable office building in each of the respective counties above mentioned for the use of agencies of the Commonwealth and to agree on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to lease said building for a period of not more than thirty years [from the time of the completion thereof] at such rental and subject to such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon [No] and any such contract shall [be entered into until the plans and specifications for such proposed building shall have been approved by the Department of Property and Supplies Any such contract shall] provide that upon the termination of said thirty year lease the building so [constructed] leased and the ground [upon] on which the [same] property is situated shall become the property of the Commonwealth and any such lease shall provide that at any time during the period of said lease the Commonwealth is empowered to accept title in fee simple to any such land and building under said lease provided that no additional moneys are paid in consideration for the said deed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of House Bill 1011.

Mr. WALKER. In that event the gentleman from Philadelphia will have to run for election as a member of the House, as this is a House bill.

Mr. STIEFEL. I understood it has been the custom in the Senate that one of the Senators knows all about a measure and is in a position to explain to the members of the Senate the purpose of such a bill. Somebody must be sponsor of a bill in the Senate, even though it is a House measure.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Philadelphia will permit me to substitute for the very learned gentleman in the House who is the official sponsor of the bill, I will try to answer whatever question the gentleman from Philadelphia has in mind on this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to know what the purpose of this measure is.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the only thing I can do to answer the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia is to read the amended portion of the bill, which is very short and very specific. It gives the right to the Commonwealth to lease in the city of Pittsburgh or in the city of Philadelphia a building or property for not more than a thirty year term and it also gives to the Department of Property and Supplies, which acts as the agent of the Commonwealth in such transactions, the right to include in the lease the fact that at the end of the lease period the Commonwealth is empowered to accept title in fee simple to any such land and building under said lease, provided that no additional moneys are paid in consideration for the said deed, and that the rental money so paid under the contract would be the purchase price of the land and no additional consideration need be paid to consummate the transaction.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Why at this time have they suddenly decided to abandon the erection of buildings by the Commonwealth in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and in lieu thereof desire to lease buildings.

Mr. WALKER. I do not so understand, Mr. President, at least I have not been notified that the Commonwealth has abandoned any plans to build buildings in the city of Pittsburgh or in the city of Philadelphia. The measure to which the gentleman refers, I think has already passed the Senate and the House and therefore should be on the Governor's desk.

This measure is intended as an additional measure to give them the right to purchase a building outright on a long term lease contract. I think that is a sound way to do business because it will concentrate within the new building erected, or the building which is leased, all of those government offices which are scattered all over the city of Pittsburgh, and I assume all over the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am thankful to Senator Walker for his explanation but I am still puzzled by this change. We are now on the threshhold of the post-war period, which will require employment, and I can hardly understand why there should be this provision which removes the authorization of contracting for the erection of buildings in the city of Philadelphia and the city of Pittsburgh.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WADE. With apologies to the Chair and my colleagues, I beg your indulgence to permit me to make a brief statement on this bill, which is a part of a program, embodied in this particular bill and the following three, all of which are part of a very worthy program of slum clearance. As I understand it they have been endorsed by the administration.

Although slum clearance is a very worthy objective, and it may provide a good investment, life insurance and slum clearance are two separate and distinct things. So that I am not misunderstood I want to say that I am applying these remarks only to House Bill No. 1130, which is an amendment to the present life insurance investment law of the Commonwealth.

This bill as it came first into the Legislature provided that a life insurance company could go into the business of building and owning housing projects, of owning the stock of housing projects, a part of or all of a housing project, and with that I am not in accord, and I want to be consistent, because the Committee on Insurance, of which I am a member and chairman, refused an opportunity to report to this floor a bill affecting the prudent investment law for life insurance in Pennsylvania.

I repeat that I am not in accord with life insurance companies going into competition with other industry. Their function is the carrying of protection and investment for their policy holders. Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote "no" on the bill we are now considering.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, any measure that ever appears in this Senate that will build more homes in the state of Pennsylvania, I am for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Short Title This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Urban Redevelopment Law"

Section 2 Findings and Declaration of Policy It is hereby determined and declared as a matter of legislative finding

(a) That there exist in urban communities in this Commonwealth areas which have become blighted because of the unsafe unsanitary inadequate or overcrowded condition of the dwellings therein or because of inadequate planning of the area or excessive land coverage by the buildings thereon or the lack of proper light and air and open space or because of the defective design and arrangement of the buildings thereon or faulty street or lot layout or economically or socially undesirable land uses

(b) That such conditions or a combination of some or all of them have and will continue to result in making such areas economic or social liabilities harmful to the social and economic well-being of the entire communities in which they exist depreciating values therein reducing tax revenues and thereby depreciating further the general community-wide values

(c) That the foregoing conditions are beyond remedy or control by regulatory processes and cannot be effectively dealt with by private enterprise under existing law without the additional aids herein granted and that such conditions exist chiefly in areas which are so subdivided into small parcels and in divided ownerships that their assembly for purposes of clearance replanning and redevelopment is difficult and impossible without the effective public power of eminent domain

(d) That the acquisition and sound replanning and redevelopment of such areas in accordance with sound and approved plans for their redevelopment will promote the public health safety convenience and welfare

Therefore it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to promote the health safety and welfare of the inhabitants thereof by the creation of bodies corporate and politic to be known as Redevelopment Authorities which shall exist and operate for the public purposes of acquiring and replanning such areas and of holding or disposing of them in such manner that they shall become available for economically and socially sound redevelopment Such purposes are hereby declared to be public uses for which public money may be spent and private property may be acquired by the exercise of the power of eminent domain

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time, but before doing so I desire to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. BARR. These amendments I think are necessary because there are some communities which have these blighted areas which might not be able to afford the funds or have the authority for redevelopment of those blighted areas.

I know this bill is on third reading and therefore ask unanimous consent to offer these amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, because of my very deep affection for the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, I hesitate to object, but I must. I have looked over his amendments and I think they destroy the purpose of the bill. Therefore, I object.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1267, as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection (f) of section three and the first paragraph of section four of the act approved the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 644) entitled "An act to authorize housing authorities to undertake the development or administration of projects to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities who would not otherwise be able to secure such dwellings within the vicinity thereof to limit the initiation of the development of such projects until December 31 1943 to authorize housing authorities to cooperate with or act as agent of the Federal Government in the development and administration of such projects of the Federal Government to acquire or lease such projects and to sell or lease certain projects to the Federal Government to authorize public bodies to assist such projects of housing authorities and of the Federal Government to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities" by extending the time in which the development of projects may be initiated thereunder

Section 1 Subsection (f) of section three and the first paragraph of section four of the act approved the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 644) entitled "An act to authorize housing authorities to undertake the development or administration of projects to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities who would not otherwise be able to secure such dwellings within the vicinity thereof to limit the initiation of the development of such projects until December 31, 1943 to authorize housing authorities to cooperate with or act as agent of the Federal Government in the development and administration of such projects of the Federal Government to acquire or lease such projects and to sell or lease certain projects to the Federal Government to authorize public bodies to assist such projects of housing authorities and of the Federal Government to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities" are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 3 Definitions

* * * * *

(f) The development of a project shall be deemed to be "initiated" within the meaning of this act if a housing authority has issued any bonds notes or other obligations with respect to financing the development of such projects of the housing authority or has contracted with the Federal Government with respect to the exercise of powers hereunder in the development of such project of the Federal Government for which an allocation of funds has been made prior to May 31 [1945] 1947

Section 4 During the national defense period every housing authority shall have the power to undertake the development and administration of projects within its field of operation to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities but no housing authority shall initiate the development of any such project pursuant to this act after May 31 [1945] 1947

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I object.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 1278

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 1278 passed second reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted "aye"

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I voted "aye"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HALUSKA. I trust that I may have the attention of my colleagues to once again make my final appeal with reference to House Bill No. 1278. Yesterday afternoon I tried, to the best of my ability, to impress my colleagues with the importance of my appeal. I have talked to practically every Senator in this body. Despite my talking to them, my appeals, it appears now that it has all been in vain. When I first came to Harrisburg, eleven years ago, I was told I was coming to a place where they gave justice. That is all I expect.

Tonight I witnessed where the Senator from Warren, Dr. Chapman, introduced a resolution to amend a certain appropriation bill, increasing it by $2,000,000. That was all right. I have sat here throughout this session and I have voted for bills appropriating moneys for all types of purposes. Now I come to this body and I am appealing to you to give sufficient moneys to maintain the Northern Cambria Hospital, so that it may take care of the community, and with all of my appealing it is apparent that the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations has made up his mind that hospital may close its doors, in so far as he may be concerned, he does not care. That same man, Mr. President, arose in place in this Senate Chamber four or five weeks ago and told this body that the hospitals of Pennsylvania can not use up their appropriations and for that reason that same man introduced a resolution asking that the per diem basis be increased from three dollars a day to four dollars. It makes little difference how much money might be appropriated to any hospital, as unless that money might be earned it must be returned. And I say tonight that the Miners Hospital of Northern Cambria County has definitely been discriminated against. Up until tonight I thought it was a gross misunderstanding. It is very apparent, Mr. President, that not the Committee on Appropriations is running this show but the secretary of that committee, who is not a member of this body. I asked the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations way back in January to listen to my case. I informed him then that the hospital back in Cambria county was about to fold up, a hospital which has to take care of a community forty miles from the nearest hospital, serving 40,000 people. He was very kind and asked me to go to his office and contact his secretary and I did; I came back the following week and every week and all I asked of him was to give me an opportunity to come before his committee, where I knew the men were fair and they would be honest and let me explain my case, and he assured me that I would have that opportunity. They did meet and I was never informed or notified. After all, we meet here on common ground, as man to man. I find no fault with you men when you vote for party measures; you have a right to uphold your party; I find no fault with my side of the Senate when they vote for party measures; but, Mr. President, I do find fault when one man will definitely tell both parties that a certain hospital will get so much, without any further consideration.

House Bill No. 1278 reads that four dollars per day shall be appropriated to every hospital serving these free patients that can not pay for their own care. I want to know why the Miners Hospital of Northern Cambria County is not being granted the same privilege and the same consideration as the other 170 hospitals in Pennsylvania.

At this time, Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Warren permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. CHAPMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Dr. Chapman, will you tell me and tell this body what will be very interesting for all of us, I know: on what basis you arrived at when you decided how much money shall be appropriated to a certain hospital. How do you arrive at that conclusion?

Mr. CHAPMAN. By a sworn statement from the hospital management.

Mr. HALUSKA. Can the gentleman from Warren tell me how many free days we had according to our sworn statement.

Mr. CHAPMAN. I do not know offhand.

Mr. HALUSKA. Could the gentleman look it up before this session is over?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I suppose I could.

Mr. HALUSKA. Dr. Chapman, before you get those figures, do you think that the Miners Hospital of Northern Cambria County should be entitled to the same rate, by their statement, as other hospitals?

Mr. CHAPMAN. They all have the same rate. There are a great many hospitals in the state which are in the same predicament as the Miners Hospital at present; they do not receive their full allotment, but what they ought to receive.

Mr. HALUSKA. Can the gentleman from Warren name me one hospital in Pennsylvania that is not receiving its full allotmentfl

Mr. CHAPMAN. I have a dozen here I could name. There are four hospitals in the district of the gentleman from Cumberland that do not receive it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Are they getting four dollars a day for the patients they do serve?

Mr. CHAPMAN. No, not at present; it has been $3.50.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right. Are they getting $3.50?

Mr. CHAPMAN. They have been up to this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Would the gentleman from Warren say that the Miners Hospital of Northern Cambria has been getting $3.50?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I would say yes.

Mr. HALUSKA. Would the gentleman from Warren for the information of the Senate, kindly get our sworn statement and then would the gentleman from Warren be willing to adjust that sworn statement to the rate of four dollars per day?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I could not do that because then we would have to adjust all the rest of the hospitals on that same basis.

Mr. HALUSKA. Would the gentleman from Warren tell me what percentage the Committee on Appropriations has arrived at to pay to these hospitals?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I might say that the Miners Hospital has received an advance of $3,000 for the next biennium over the present biennium.

Mr. HALUSKA. What percentage of the free patient list would that be?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I do not understand.

Mr. HALUSKA. On the basis of an appropriation of $45,000 for the past year, based on $3.50 and not $4, what percentage would that be.

Mr. CHAPMAN. I do not understand the question.

Mr. HALUSKA. We are getting $45,000 for the next biennium; is that correct?

Mr. CHAPMAN. That is right.

Mr. HALUSKA. At the rate of $3.50 per day we have given service to the amount of $82,236 and if we are receiving $4 per day it would total $90,457.50.

Mr. CHAPMAN. I might say, Senator, that the second questionnaire was submitted after I had introduced the resolution raising the rate to $4 a day.

Mr. HALUSKA. This revised statement was made up by a well-known firm of auditors, for whom I have the greatest respect. However, if you go by the new statement made up by the accountants of our hospital, are you willing to adjust our hospital on the basis of the statement you have in your files.

Mr. CHAPMAN. We adjusted it according to its merits, taking all the rest into consideration.

Mr. HALUSKA. Would the gentleman from Warren say according to political merits or just its merits.

Mr. CHAPMAN. No; on its merits. I do not pretend to know anything about politics. Politics is not played in our committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. I want to tell my many colleagues on the other side of the Senate, who are business men, who are fair and who have told me in person that they definitely agree with me there must be something wrong with this appropriation—I will not break any confidence by using any names, because I have the highest respect for all my colleagues, but I say to you, Mr. President, that the greatest portion of the members on the other side of the Senate, with whom I have discussed my problem, have informed me that they would do all within their power to have some adjustment made at this time. What happened in their caucus I do not know, nor do I care, because I can not do anything about it.

I am going back home and tell my people of the injustice handed out to this hospital. I shall take it upon myself, if the Lord spares me between now and the next session, to devote the balance of my time, if need be, to bring before this body a true authentic statement of every hospital in Pennsylvania—I shall make that a public service—and then I hope to show that definitely the Miners Hospital has been discriminated against. At this time I can not be too severe with Dr. Chapman, because he trusted a man on the outside, a man who is not competent and does not wish to be; he made up his figures and he is too proud to recede.

Here is the thing which might happen to the thousands of people we must serve throughout the next biennium; I must go back, as I did a year ago, and ask every school child in my district to bring a dime to that hospital, to be able to buy drugs, buy bandanges, buy medicines and buy food. We must continue despite the fact we are being turned down tonight. The people of northern Cambria county have no other place to go. The hospital must operate if it takes the last nickel I have of my own. All I am asking for is justice, nothing for myself, only for my hospital, only what they are entitled to. I am disappointed, I am very much disappointed, to think I came to a body of this type here, a body of businessmen, honest men, men of intelligence, with figures, with facts, and despite that one man is able to hold up the entire situation. It would make little difference if you gave us $200,000; if we do not earn it we can not keep it, it must be returned, but it makes a great deal of difference when you give us less than half of what we earn and at the same time you expect us to treat humanity. If that is your policy of treating humanity, God bless the Commonwealth.

What burns me up most of all is the appropriations you make to commissions to investigate—we passed upon a bill here to give a commission $50,000 to bring facts to this body, and I have come here with facts that have not cost you a cent and they are ignored.

So, Mr. President, we will continue, we will get along, and this Legislature, despite the men who are honest and fair, will have to go down with myself and bow our heads in shame, and if that place should close they will all bow their heads in shame, it will haunt them, because they will know full well that I am being mistreated on this appropriation. I think every member here is in sympathy with me because they know full well what this money is being spent for.

When I left home we had six soldier boys from the Pacific and they were out in the hallways because there was no other place to put them, men who would give their lives, they became our charges, we had to buy the most expensive drugs, they had to be provided with special diets, and what all it takes to run a hospital and they are all waiting, waiting patiently, thinking that when this session was over we would be able to do those things, but you have failed us and I am sorry, I am disappointed, and I am heartbroken.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am very reluctant to prolong this discussion or debate because of the hour, and I will be just as brief as I possibly can.

We are all deeply sympathetic with the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, and the problem of the hospital involved in this discussion, and while I sympathize with his disappointment I disagree with some of the expressions which he used to express his disappointment, because I do not think it is right for him to imply—and I know it was unintentional on his part—that there was any discrimination against the gentleman from Cambria or against his district or his hospital by the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations.

I want to say to the gentleman from Cambria that there is not one of us, who has a hospital in his district, who would not like to get an appropriation in excess of the sum set aside for his hospital in House Bill No. 1278. We would all like to take back more money to our districts.

And I also want to say to the gentleman from Cambria that we appreciate his problem. There are a number of hospitals in my senatorial district, and my esteemed colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, also has a number of hospitals in his district, and for this biennium they are receiving slightly less than they did in the preceding biennium and the reason for that, of course, is obvious when you consult the questionnaire filed by the institutions in question.

I want to emphasize to the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, that it is not a question of discrimination; it is a question of trying to meet the requirements set forth in that questionnaire.

I do not think the Commonwealth attempts to assume the responsibility of taking a hundred per cent care of the various hospitals set forth in House Bill No. 1278. These appropriations are appropriations on the part of the Commonwealth to help to carry the expenses incurred by the institutions in the taking care of the people who are unable to pay for their own hospitalization; it is not an attempt on the part of the Commonwealth to underwrite a hundred per cent the expenses of the institutions. If we were to increase the amount granted to the hospital in the district represented so ably by the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, then in like equity the appropriations to the hospitals in the districts represented by my colleague, Senator Geltz, the hospitals in the district represented by my colleague, Senator Barr, the hospitals in the district represented by the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, the hospitals in the districts represented by our President pro tempore, the distinguished gentleman from Dauphin, Senator Taylor, would all have to be increased, because equity seeks equity, and therefore suddenly you would find that this sum of $8,735,550 would be enormously increased.

The gentleman from Cambria suggested that he was not invited to attend a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations and I want to say to the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, that I have attended frequent meetings of that committee, and I did not receive a special invitation; I heard a notice of the meeting read from the desk and I made a notation as to when the meeting would be held—and usually they were early in the morning, that I will admit—and we attended them and did the best we could with the tools we had.

Mr. President, I do not think this record should be closed on this particular incident with a suggestion that there had been any discrimination on the part of the gentleman who is at the head of the Committee on Appropriations. I think that he has done a grand job in being not only the watch-dog of the treasury, in his unhappy life as Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, but he has been zealous in appreciating the responsibility entrusted to him by the President pro tempore, who made the appointment, and he has very diligently discharged that responsibility; he has visited practically every hospital which receives an appropriation from the Commonwealth; he has investigated them and taken a personal interest in the hospitals, because his life-work has been that of a doctor of medicine, and he has been more than fair in giving the members of this Senate an opportunity to discuss their local problems, and I think in all fairness to the gentleman from Warren that this record should show that it was not the intent on the part of the gentleman from Cambria to imply that the gentleman from Warren had been unfair, unjust or inequitable in trying to solve the problem which has been created in Cambria county, which is represented by the distinguished gentleman, Senator Haluska.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I appreciate the remarks made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and under the circumstances he did a good job, but I would hesitate very much, Mr. President, to get up and discuss a bill pertaining to his profession, because I would feel I would be entirely out of order. I am a hospital superintendent and he is a lawyer, and yet he tried to give us the picture, but I am very fearful the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, is not too well acquainted, and rightfully so, it is not his business to be closely associated with a hospital and to know how they make up their appropriations.

The gentleman from Allegheny mentioned that he would like to have more money for the hospitals in his district. That means nothing. In the same breath he admitted they were getting somewhat less now than last year, and that is for one reason only. Your hospital, Senator Walker, failed to earn the appropriation, and therefore the money must be returned, and therefore asking for more money means little, if you fail to earn your appropriation.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny for a moment, if I may.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Does the gentleman from Allegheny know what basis was used by the Committee on Appropriations to determine the amount of money a hospital should get? To be more explicit, if you earned $100,000, what percentage was used to make up the appropriation; does the gentleman from Allegheny know that?

Mr. WALKER. No, I do not.

Mr. HALUSKA. I did not think the gentleman from Allegheny did, because I understand they have decided to give 78 per cent, and if 78 per cent is the correct basis to be applied to all hospitals, if you earn $100,000, that would give you $78,000, and so on down the line.

Mr. President, if the hospital I represent should get 78 per cent of what it earned, it would receive $25,000 to $35,000 more than it is getting now. I say finally that the Miners Hospital of Northern Cambria County is getting less, gentleman, on a percentage basis than any other hospital in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. No man in this chamber can show me that I am wrong. Why are they getting less on a percentage basis? There must be some motive back of it. If I am wrong I would like to be heard, because I hate to leave here and go back home and have to tell my people that I have been discriminated against, but I have no other alternative—I must go back and tell them that. I must draw my own conclusions. They may be wrong, but it is not too late yet to have somebody rise in place and try to prove my statement was wrong, when I say that the percentage basis given to our hospital is at least thirty-five per cent less than any other hospital. If it were five per cent, three per cent or even ten per cent less, I might overlook it but, gentlemen, when it is thirty or thirty-five per cent, it is food for thought, and to me it is food for thought, and so again I say I am disappointed, something is wrong. I will not suffer but humanity will suffer by your actions.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Section 4 Section two hundred and six of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 717) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 206 Records of and Reports by Employers Each employer (whether or not liable for the payment of contributions under this act) shall keep accurate employment records containing such information as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations adopted by the department Such records shall be open to inspection by the department and its agents at any reasonable time and as often as may be deemed necessary The department may require from such employers such reports as it deems necessary which shall be sworn to if required by the department

Information thus obtained shall not be made public or be open to public inspection other than to the members of the board [and] the officers and employes of the department and [the Social Security Board] other public employes in the performance of their public duties but any [claimant] employe or employer at a hearing on an appeal [of his claim] shall upon request be supplied with information from such records to the extent necessary for the proper presentation and consideration of [his claim] the appeal.

Any officer or employe of the department or the board or any other public employe who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty nor more than two hundred dollars and in default of the payment of such fine and costs of prosecution shall be sentenced to imprisonment for not longer than thirty days

[Any employer required to file with the department any report necessary to enable the department to determine the amount of any contribution owing by such employer who shall neglect or refuse to do so within five days after the time such report should have been filed shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars which shall be in addition to all other penalties provided for in this act]

Any employer who has been determined by the department to be subject to the reporting provisions of this act and has been so notified and who neglects or refuses to file either the periodic report required by the department to establish the amount of such contributions or the periodic report required by the department showing the amount of wages paid to each employe or both on or before the date such reports are required to be filed shall pay a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) Such penalty shall apply to the reports for each period with respect to which such reports are required to be filed Provided

That such penalty shall not apply to reports for any period with respect to which the last day for filing such reports is prior to a date on which the department has notified the employer that he has been determined an employer subject to the reporting provisions of this act unless the reports for such prior periods are not filed within thirty days after the employer has been so notified The penalties provided by this section shall be in addition to all other penalties provided for in this act

Section 5 Section three hundred and one of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 639) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 301 Contributions by Employers Experience Rating

(a) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to the following percentages of wages paid or payable by him or it with respect to employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-two

(1) Nine-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1936

(2) One and eight tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1937

(3) Two and seven-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar years 1938 1939 1940 and 1941 [1942 and 1943]

[(4) A basic rate of two and sevent-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1944 and for each calendar year thereafter but the rate of contribution of each employer who has paid contributions under this act for at least four full calendar years whether prior or subsequent to the adoption of this amendment shall be subject to adjustment for each such calendar year beginning with employment occurring during the calendar year 1944 between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum in accordance with clause (c) hereof and for each calendar quarter in accordance with clause (f) hereof]

(b) [For the purposes of this section

(1) "Compensated Employe" means an employe to whom compensation was paid in a benefit year

(2) "Wages of a compensated employe" means wages which were paid to a compensated employe in the base year immediately preceding the employe's benefit year which wages shall be treated as though they had been paid in the calendar year in which the first compensation of the employe's benefit year was paid

(3) "Credit for reemployment" means for each employer the total of the amounts allowed as herein set forth for any former employes reemployed by him or employes resuming work commencing with the benefit years which begin in the calendar year nineteen hundred forty-one An employer who desires such a "credit for reemployment" shall notify the department in wrting within thirty days after the end of the employe's benefit year that he reemployed within such benefit year a compensated employe For benefit years which began in one thousand nine hundred and forty-one or one thousand nine hundred and forty-two such notice may be given within thirty days after the end of the employe's benefit year or within sixty days after the effective date of this act whichever date is later If the department finds that any such employe did not receive benefits within such benefit year in excess of seventy-five per centum of the maximum benefits payable to him in the benefit year then for the determination of the "employer's experience" the total wages paid to such compensated emloyes shall be reduced by an amount equal to the percentage indicated in the following table

Maximum benefits received by an employe during a benefit year	Credit against wages paid to a compensated employe
Not more than 25%	75%
More than 25% and not more than 50%	50%
More than 50% and not more than 75%	25%

Such credits for benefit years which began in the calendar year nineteen hundred forty-one shall be applicable to nineteen hundred forty-two and credits for benefit years which began in nineteen hundred forty-two or thereafter shall be made for the calendar year in which the finding is made by the department and no attempt shall be made to relate such credits to the period in which the reemployment occurred

(4) "Employer's Experince" means a percentage obtained by dividing the total wages paid by an employer to his compensated employes less any credit for reemployment during the last three completed calendar years by the total wages paid by said employer to all his employes during such three calendar years

(5) "State Experience" means a percentage obtained by dividing the total amount of compensation paid from the Unemployment Compensation during the last three completed calendar years by the total wages of all compensated employes for such three years such percentage to be adjusted to the nearest multiple of one per centum]

Each employer shall pay contributions equal to two and seven-tenths per centum of wages paid by him or it with respect to employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one Provided That notwithstanding the provisions of this section prior to the effective date of this amendment with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-five for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted according to the provisions of this act prior to the effective date of this amendment and provided further that with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-six for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during each calendar year thereafter for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum in accordance with the following provisions of this section if the employer has paid contributions under this act one or more quarters in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the rate is applicable Notwithstanding the provisions of section three hundred eleven any employer who prior to the enactment of this amendment may have paid contributions on wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-four or one thousand nine hundred forty-five for employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four at a rate of two and seven-tenths per centum such employer shall not be entitled to a refund of any portion of such contributions paid on the basis that this amendment reduces the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages but such employer may make application for adjustment in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of any amount which he has paid with respect to such wages which is in excess of the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages under the provisions of this act as amended Except as specifically provided under section four hundred and four wages paid with respect to employment performed under Shipping Articles shall for the purposes of this act be considered as having been paid as of a date determined under rules and regulations of the department irrespective of when actual payment was made to the employe

(c) The rate of contribution payable by an employer entitled to an adjustment between the minimum rate of one per centum and the maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum for each calendar year commencing with the pear one thousand nine hundred and forty-four shall be determined prior to the due date of his first contribution for the year in accordance with the following table

(i) was employed in employment as defined in section 4 (l) at some time during the one-year period immediately preceding the date on which he entered active military or naval service and (ii) makes application for benefits under the provisions of this section in the proper manner and on the form prescribed by the department (iii) makes claim for compensation in the proper manner and on the form prescribed by the department with respect to employes making claim for compensation under the provisions of other sections of this act (iv) is qualified under the provisions of section four hundred and one (b) (d) and (e) (v) is not ineligible under the provisions of section four hundred and two and (vi) has exhausted all rights to which he may be entitled under Title V of the Act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944"

(b) All claims for compensation filed pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be with respect to weeks ending within the two year period immediately following the date of such individual's discharge or release from active military or naval service

(c) The maximum amount of compensation payable to an individual under the provisions of this section as amended shall be reduced by the amount of compensation if any which has been paid or is payable to such individual under the provisions of this section prior to the effective date of this amendment

(d) No individual who is entitled to compensation

under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to compensation under any other provisions of this act with respect to wages paid prior to the date he entered active military or naval service and

(e) No compensation shall be paid under the provisions of this section with respect to weeks ending on a day more than five years subsequent to the termination of the present war

Section 11 Section five hundred and one of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of April one thousand nine hundred and forty-two (P. L. 60) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 501 [Initial Determination of Compensation Appeals The department shall promptly examine any application for benefits or claim filed and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the application for benefits or claim is valid The determination of any application for benefits shall include the determination of the first day of the benefit year the weekly benefit rate and the number of benefit weeks payable The claimant and other affected parties shall be promptly notified of the decision and the reasons therefor in writing except that no notification shall be necessary when the department shall approve a claim for a week of total unemployment Unless the claimant or other affected parties files an appeal from such decision with the board within ten calendar days after such notification was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address and applies for a hearing such decision of the department shall be final and compensation shall be paid or denied in accordance therewith In the event that an appeal is filed with the board the payment of any contested amount of compensation shall be withheld pending determination of the claim but any uncontested amount of compensation allowed in any decision shall be paid notwithstanding any appeal which may thereafter be taken Provided That when a referee or the board affirms a decision of the department allowing compensation such compensation shall be paid notwithstanding any further appeal]

Determination of Compensation Appeals

(a) The department shall promptly examine each application for benefits and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the application is valid Notice shall be given by the department in writing to the claimant and each base year employer of the claimant stating whether or not the claimant is eligible under section four hundred and one (a) and if declared eligible thereunder the weekly benefit rate and the maximum amount of compensation payable Provided That where the "Employer's Experience" of a base year employer has been transferred to a successor-in-interest such notice shall be given to the successor-in-interest and not to the original base year employer and Provided further That no notice need be given to a base year employer who has been released by the departmnt from filing contribution reports

(b) Notice shall be given in writing to the last employer of the claimant stating that an application has been filed by the designated employe

(c) The department shall promptly examine each claim for waiting week credit and each claim for compensation and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the claim is valid

Notice of such determination need not be given to the claimant if the claim is determined valid but if the claim is determined invalid notice shall be gven by the department in writing to the claimant stating that the claim is invalid and the reason therefor

Notice of such determination need not be given to any base year employer or last employer of the claimant unless such base year employer or last employer has filed with the department information in writing which might raise a question as to the eligibility of the claimant for any reason other than his failure to comply with the provisions of section four hundred one (a) in which event notice shall be given as provided herein

If an employer files with the department such information within the days after notice required under section five hundred one (a) or (b) was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address the department shall issue to such employer (i) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to each claim which is filed by the claimant for a week the first day of which is on or before the date on which such information is filed and (ii) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to the first valid claim which is filed by the claimant during the claimant's benefit year for a week the last day of which is subsequent to the date on which such information is filed

If an employer files with the department such information more than ten days after notice required under section five hundred one (a) or (b) was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address the department shall only issue to such employer (i) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to each claim which is filed by the claimant for a week the first day of which is within the thirty-day period which immediately precedes the date on which such information is filed and (ii) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to the first valid claim which is filed by the claimant during the claimant's benefit year for a week the last day of which is subsequent to the date on which such information is filed

(d) The department shall notify any employer or claimant who has been notified as required under subsections (a) and (c) of this section of any revision made in the determination as contained in the original notice given to such employer or claimant

(e) Unless the claimant or last employer or base year employer of the claimant files an appeal with the board from the determination contained in any notice required to be furnished by the department under section five hundred and one (a) (c) and (d) within ten (10) calendar days after such notice was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address and applies for a hearing such determination of the department with respect to the particular facts set forth in such notice shall be final and compensation shall be paid or denied in accordance therewith In the event that an appeal is filed with the board the payment of any contested amount of compensation shall be withheld pending determination of the claim but any uncontested amount of compensation allowed in any decision shall be paid notwithstanding any appeal which may thereafter be taken Provided That when a referee or the board affirms a decision of the department allowing compensation such compensation shall be paid notwithstanding any further appeal

Section 12 Section six hundred and one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 601 Unemployment Compensation Fund There is hereby created a special fund separate and apart from all public moneys or funds of this Commonwealth to be known as the Unemployment Compensation Fund All contributions together with penalties and interest thereon received or collected by the department from employers under the provisions of this act except such penalties and interest which are paid into the Special Administration Fund as provided in section six hundred one point one shall be paid into the Unemployment Compensation Fund and shall be credited by the department to a ledger account to be known as the Employers' Contribution Account All Moneys from time to time received and credited to the Employers' Contribution Account (exclusive of refunds made under section three hundred eleven) shall be paid promptly by the department into the Unemployment Trust Fund except as otherwise provided in section six hundred five of this act

As often as may be necessary the department shall requisition from the Unemployment Trust Fund such amounts as shall be necessary to provide adequate funds for the payment of compensation as provided in this act Upon receipt of such requisitioned funds the department shall deposit them into the Unemployment Compensation Fund to the credit of a ledger account to be known as the Compensation Account and shall expend such moneys solely for the payment of compensation as provided by this act All moneys to the credit of the Compensation Account shall be mingled and undivided The department shall pay all compensation authorized by this act out of moneys standing to the credit of the Compensation Account

BILL ON SECOND READING, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1190, entitled:

An Act empowering cities of the second class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes and for the reduction of taxes on real estate authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to call to the attention of the Senate this monstrosity before us now, conceived in iniquity and dedicated to the creation of chaos and political chicanery.

I offer, Mr. President, some enlightening amendments to House Bill 1190, Printers Number 738. I have four different sets of amendments each trying to do something to make this bill somewhat better, so I am offering them one at a time with the request that each set be acted on independently.

Mr. DENT offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 9 by striking out the words, "or on any real estate not now taxable"; amend Section 1, page 2, lines 26, 27 and 28, by striking out the words "So much of the proceeds of" in line 26, all of lines 27 and 28; amend Section 1, page 3, lines 1 and 2 by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on the amendments and I ask my colleagues to vote against the amendments for the reason that the amendments eliminate the only possibility of giving real estate owners any relief from taxation under this bill. That provision contains the following wording, Section 1, page 2, lines 26 to 28, and then, page 3, lines 1 and 2, as follows:

"So much of the proceeds of any taxes levied under the provisions of this act as exceed one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000) shall be used at least to the extent of one-half for the reduction of real estate taxes."

In the debate on House Bill 936 the comment from the other side was that the Republican Party had done nothing for the relief of the home owner from taxes on real estate. This is one opportunity that the other side has in joining us in giving some relief to the home owner and the real estate taxpayer.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Presdent, I very seldom resort to the use of newspaper editorials or newspaper articles in explaining any action that I am attempting to take upon the Senate floor, but I have to admit that when I read the particular section that the gentleman from Allegheny seems to like so much, I became so confused that I searched around to find some authority that could explain it, and I find that the Pittsburgh Press, of April 24, 1945, has tried to analyze this particular section in this bill and, smart as the financial brains hired by the Pittsburgh Press are, they have been unable to fathom the meaning of the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny—rather the amendments he so desires—and for the benefit of the Senate and for the benefit of the Legislative Journal I want to read into the Legislative Journal exactly what these amendments try to do.

The editorial reads as follows:

"OKAY, WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

"One of the current candidates for Mayor, Robert N. Waddell, has made a suggestion to the Senate committee considering a bill to permit Pittsburgh's City Council to levy taxes on anything the State doesn't tax—except wages and sales.

"Mr. WADDELL offered the following amendment to the bill:

"When the amount of revenue collected and the taxes levied and assessed, including those levied and assessed under the authority granted by this act, shall equal 25 million dollars, then for every one-half million dollars levied and assessed in excess of 25 million dollars there shall be a reduction in the tax on land and buildings of an amount equal to 50 per cent of the taxes levied and assessed in excess of 25 million dollars until the taxes on land shall be reduced to 20 mills and the tax on buildings reduced to 10 mills."

"If you got lost somewhere in that tangle, we don't blame you. So did we. But don't start kidding Mr. Waddell too soon. There are a lot of laws on the statute books which will stop you even more quickly. Mr. Waddell probably got some lawyer to write that for him."

"All right, what does it mean?

"Mr. Waddell, in much simpler language, says he is trying to fix it so the tax on real estate will be reduced in some proportion to the amount of money raised by the new taxes—whatever they will be.

"He wants to get the real estate tax down to 20 mills on land and 10 mills on buildings. That would mean two cents for every dollar of assessed valuation on land and one cent for every dollar of assessed valuation on buildings. Apparently, he figures that is about as far as we can go.

"But try to spell it out.

"If you knock off a quarter million dollars from the real estate levy every time you get a half-million more than 25 millions, you'll be reducing the real estate levy one-third mill on land and one-sixth mill on buildings.

"The minute you do that you don't have a half-million in excess of 25 millions any more. The amendment doesn't explain that. Neither does it say when the cut is to be made, the year of the excess or the next year.

"But suppose you set out to cut the real estate tax to 20 and 10 mills. How much 'Excess' revenue would you have to have?

"As nearly as we can estimate, you'd have to raise a total of 32½ million dollars a year from all sources before the real estate tax rate could be sliced to 20 and 10.

"In other words, somebody will be paying in 7½ million dollars a year to save the real estate owners $3,750,000 a year.

"Maybe we are figuring it the wrong way, but whatever way it is figured the result is bound to be equally obscure. It's a sort of walk-two-steps-and-slide-back-one formula. Or perhaps you only walk one step, and slide back two.

"In any case, it's typical of the slapstick manner in which the city's financial problem is being attacked by the politicians."

Mr. President, I ask the gentleman from Allegheny to call attention also to the first amendment, and not just pick out the amendment that he seeks to explain to the members.

In the Committee on Finance there was included in this bill an amendment that was added to line 9. After the amendment that originally was put in to eliminate the possibility of a tax on wages or a tax on sales this new amendment was put in, which I think the gentlemen of the Senate ought to know about, "or on any real estate not now taxable."

You say that you are broadening the tax base for Pittsburgh because the city of Pittsburgh, knowing its own problems, came to the Legislature and asked that you pass for the city of Pittsburgh the same type of legislation that you passed for the city of Philadelphia, when it was a Republican controlled Legislature and the city of Philadelphia was Republican, so you passed an act of the Legislature giving the city of Philadelphia the right to tax those items that could be taxed that are not taxed by the state. You did not put upon the officials of the city of Philadelphia any restriction whatsoever.

But you come along now and you stand before this microphone with a nice smirk upon your face and say the city of Pittsburgh officials asked for this. Not one bill that they had introduced, through their representatives, ever saw the light of day. You come before this Senate and try to laugh off a very serious matter. The citizens of Pittsburgh are entitled to more consideration than just political bickering, working for the nomination of the Republican candidate for mayor.

I do not live in Pittsburgh, I admit, but I am a fellow-citizen to the citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, and I believe that they have a right, under our Constitution and under our usages of government, to govern themselves, the same as we in the Commonwealth feel that we are entitled to govern ourselves.

So, Mr. President, this little sneaker amendment says this, after you have eliminated the possibilities of placing in Pittsburgh certain basic taxes, you come along now and you take another tax item away from the realm of taxable property. You put this amendment in and this is what it does, it eliminates the possibilities of taxing any of the real estate property of the public utilities, you do not allow them to tax wages, you do not allow them to tax commissions, you do not allow them to tax sales, and now you come along and remove the tax on real estate belonging to public utilities, and then you go further and say "Look, you men in Pittsburgh, if your taxes ever come to the point where the proceeds that are levied under the provisions of this act exceed $1,500,000 more than the present amount of money raised by that same bill that we were debating awhile ago, which sets a limit on the millage that can be assessed against real estate, then you take fifty per cent off of that and you kick it back by way of real estate tax reduction.

I say to you, if you want to run the city of Pittsburgh, Mr. Geltz, you and your friends run for council and set your own budgets, but do not run for the General Assembly on the basis of coming here to work for the common good of the people of Pennsylvania, and then sit in this body and take the time of this Senate passing tax programs for the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. President, these amendments that I offer would leave the real estate of any public utility subject to taxation if the city council so desires. City council has expressed its opinion that they do not need to tax wages, that they do not need to tax sales, but leave that up to them. Pass the same bill you have given the city of Philadelphia and give them the right to work out their own salvation, and if they work it out wrong, if they do it so that it becomes a burden upon the people of the city of Pittsburgh, the people of the city of Pittsburgh can go to the polls and there find the cure for the evil. That is all we ask you to do.

You can pass this bill, yes; you have a majority in the House and you have a majority in the Senate, but I predict to you now that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will not sign this type of legislation, because he knows that by so doing he would set up a precedent that would force every man that runs for the General Assembly to be under the pressure of local tax justice leagues and crack-pot outfits that may form in his community, who will sign petitions against city council or borough council's tax program, and come before the General Assembly through their legislators and ask that they put in a bill which would limit the tax duplicate that can be assessed against the inhabitants of any given community in the state of Pennsylvania.

I have heard members of this Senate in the past twelve years argue about the question of setting salaries for policemen in the various communities, saying that we here in Harrisburg have too many other duties to perform than to have to sit here and worry about who wants wages raised in various localities. We felt that was purely a matter of home rule. Your party has always prided itself upon the fact that it believed in home rule, and here you are today stepping into the second largest city in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and telling them what they can and what they can not tax.

I know these amendments will be voted down, because you men on the other side are bound by certain political adherences and allegiances and yet, you know, I have talked to enough men on the other side to know that you think this is about as bad a piece of legislation as has ever been introduced.

Mr. President, I rest the case upon that group of amendments.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Westmoreland concerning the editorial from the Pittsburgh Press, to which he referred; does it include the wording of the so-called amendments which it discusses?

Mr. DENT. Does it include the wording of what?

Mr. GELTZ. The wording of the so-called amendments which it discusses; is it all quoted in the editorial?

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President, it does not include the wording; it only includes what happens.

Mr. GELTZ. Did the gentleman from Westmoreland not read wording that was supposed to be a suggested amendment?

Mr. DENT. That is right.

Mr. GELTZ. Would the gentleman from Westmoreland mind reading it again?

Mr. DENT. Certainly. "Then for every one half million dollars levied and assessed in excess of 25 million dollars there shall be a reduction in the tax on land and buildings of an amount equal to fifty per cent of the taxes levied."

Mr. GELTZ. Can the gentleman from Westmoreland, in that editorial, find the wording in this amendment that he is attempting to strike out?

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President, but I find exactly what the amendment aims to do in this editorial.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Westmoreland see in House Bill 1190, as it now appears, and which the gentleman is trying to amend, any wording or figure of $25,000,000?

Mr. DENT. There is no wording there about $25,000,000.

Mr. GELTZ. Did the gentleman from Westmoreland not read that before?

Mr. DENT. I read $25,000,000.

Mr. GELTZ. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland tell the Senate where he finds any wording concerning $25,000,000 in the amendment?

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President, but there is a companion bill which fixes the maximum millage you can set in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the other bill has nothing to do with this, in so far as $25,000,000 or $1,500,000 is concerned. The editorial which the gentleman from Westmoreland read was an editorial which was written in connection, Mr. President, with a suggested amendment which was not made to this bill, and which is entirely different from the amendment which appears in this bill—the wording of the suggested amendment was quite complex—and therefore that wording is not in House Bill 1190 as it now appears.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not like to disturb the restful atmosphere of the Senate by calling a lot of men back that do not know what we are talking about, because they are not here; I know I can not hope to get their votes, so I will even forego the calling of the roll, and I would just as soon have a showing of hands. Just take a vote.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments and ask that they be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 3 by inserting after the word "the" and before the word "second" the words: first and; Amend Section 1, page 2, line 2, by inserting after the word "the" the words: first and; Amend Section 1, page 2, line 13, by inserting after the word "the" the words: first and.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, by way of explanation I want the gentlemen of the Senate to know exactly what these amendments do. This bill now deals with the city of Pittsburgh, and I feel that in fairness to the members from Pittsburgh, that the members from Philadelphia ought to have the same kind of a nice bill. If it is good for the city of Pittsburgh, it must be excellent for the city of Philadelphia—those two cities are comparable—and so Mr. President, I offer these amendments to the Senate to put Philadelphia within the limits of the bill, in order that the city of Philadelphia will get the same kind, gracious treatment that is being given to the city of Pittsburgh.

By the way, Mr. President, these amendments will wipe out the wage tax in the city of Philadelphia. The question of wage tax has been one that has haunted the members of the General Assembly for years. So, therefore, now we have squarely before us the question whether you want a wage tax assessed in the city of Philadelphia or whether you do not, because if you accept my amendments, you wipe out the wage tax in the city of Philadelphia, the same as you restrict city council in the city of Pittsburgh from placing a wage tax.

I ask that the amendments be voted upon.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, of course I ask my colleagues to vote down these amendments, and the reason is very obvious. The administration in the city of Philadelphia wanted a wage tax and they have imposed a wage tax. When House Bill 1190 was introduced in the House it would have given the city of Pittsburgh the same right and the same opportunity that the city of Philadelphia had under the Sterling Act and under which they imposed their wage tax.

However, at the instance of Democratic Legislators in the House and offered by them, was an amendment or restriction which appears in House Bill 1190 now, which provides: "Nor to levy or assess a tax on wages, occupations or sales." In other words, the city fathers in Pittsburgh, the Democratic administration, said "we no not want to levy a tax on wages. occupations or sales." The administration in Philadelphia said "we do want to impose a tax on wages."

Now, Mr. President, we are doing exactly the same with Pittsburgh as we did with Philadelphia; we gave Philadelphia what it wanted; we are giving the city of Pittsburgh what they said they wanted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny wants to give Pittsburgh what it asks for and what it wants, a bill has been resting in his committee for many a day; call it up here on the floor of the Senate and the members on this side who are residents and friends of the city of Pittsburgh will be glad to vote for it—I am sorry, Mr. President, the bill is not in the committee on Finance; it is in the committee on Municipal Government, but of course we can not help that.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KEPHART and Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—13

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Klein,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Woodring, Dent,

NAYS—22

Berger,	Geltz,	Letzler,	Troutman,
Blass,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wagner,
Carr,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Walker,
Chapman,	James,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Crider,	Jaspan,	Thomas,	Tallman,
Farrell,	Kephart,		Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I offer the following amendment which I ask that the Clerk read.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 9, by striking out the words "not now taxable"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, by way of explanation, I want to give the Senate the opportunity to make a completely good bill out of this now because, you see, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, was very solicitous about the welfare of the taxpayers who pay real estate taxes, and since by his action he is only interested, it seems, in those who own public utility real estate, we feel he ought to be just as honest and just as fair and interested in the little fellow who owns a shack on a hillside, and the business-man in the community who pays taxes now to keep that community alive and well, so we have removed from his amendments the words "not now taxable", and now you can not tax any kind of real estate in the city of Pittsburgh. Since now we are going to tell Pittsburgh what to do, let this Legislature provide the money to meet the budget in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the last amendment offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland. To adopt this amendment would make this bill absolutely inconsistent in connection with the purpose we are trying to attain, and could not work with the other bill, in which there is a ceiling being imposed upon real estate taxes.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments and ask that they be read by the Clerk. Just a minute—I am sorry, Mr. President; I ask permission to withdraw the amendments because for some reason they were not made in accord with my instructions and, Mr. President, they do not fit the bill.

However, the argument is just the same. We are trying to remove from this bill the restriction on $1,500,000 and our logic for so doing, Mr. President, is just as sound as it can possibly be in the matter of determining taxes.

On page 2, line 26 of this bill, it says: "so much of the proceeds of any taxes levied under the provisions of this act as exceed one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000) shall be used at least to the extent of one half for the reduction of real estate taxes."

Mr. President, this presumes that the tax duplicates will be collected to the tune of one hundred per cent collection of the tax that has been levied on real estate and other taxes in the city of Pittsburgh. Any person in this room that has ever had the duty of assessing taxes and supervising the collection thereof, or the setting up of budgets of any communities, knows full well that you can not make any iron-clad rule in the matter of a budget or in the matter of tax duplicates that will prevail in the years to come.

One disaster in the city of Pittsburgh next year would necessitate, if you please, a special session of the Legislature in order to repeal this bill and its companion bill.

And now, Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not feel that this is a waste of time upon the floor of this Senate, even if you persist in voting "no" on these amendments, because I say to you gentleman that there is a certain amount of duty that prescribes itself to a Senator's position here in Harrisburg; there are times when he has to rise above the political bickering of local political yokels who come here to Harrisburg and use this Senate as a sounding board for their political candidates, and I say we have to take into consideration the health, the welfare and the prosperity of the city of Pittsburgh and its hundreds of thousands of residents. And so I say to you gentlemen here now that the time has now arisen, we have come to that point in this session of the Legislature when we are trying to clear the desk, when we are trying to get out of here this week-end, when we are trying to call it a day so far as new legislation is concerned. Two years ago this same gentleman tied up this General Assembly with his fight to redistrict the congressional reapportionment bill in this Senate and we were tied up in the dying days and bitterness was engendered, bitterness between members.

Mr. President, the General Assembly in itself has had some mighty good men as members. Some of us have tried to take our duties seriously; some of us get reelected because we happen to have districts that return us to the General Assembly; and some of us just do not care what we do while we are here; but some of us try to do our job in an honorable fashion. I never want it to be known, in the years to come, by those who follow me in these halls here, that they will ever have a chance to look upon the record and see any piece of legislation I introduced that denies to hundreds of thousands of citizens the right of self-government. When I was a little kid there was a big empty barrel at the corner of our house; it was filled at times, when it rained, because it was at the end of a rain-spout, and during the time it was filled with rainwater it made no noise, but the peculiar thing about it, I discovered as a young fellow, was that the emptier the barrel, the louder the noise. Laughter in itself has a place; it is a wonderful thing, it helps to digest your food and helps you to enjoy the companionship of your fellowmen; it is something that is used at times to promote social good; it is something that shows that men are friendly; but there are other times when laughter can be used cruelly, it can be used meanly, and be so despicable that the men who indulge in it themselves feel conscience stricken. You can laugh but the people of Allegheny county, the citizens of Pittsburgh, are entitled to more than laughter from the members of the General Assembly.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth and fifth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Saturday, May 5, 1945, at 2:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:59 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time until Saturday, May 5, 1945, at 2:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

FRIDAY, May 4, 1945

The House met at 1:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Blessed Father, grant us Thy grace that we may live in the Spirit and yield the fruit of the Spirit. Hasten the day when wars shall cease, and help us to build a new and better world in which man's inhumanity to man shall be a thing of the past; in which justice and peace shall prevail; and in which all men shall work together for the common good—that Thy kingdom may truly come, and Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. All this we ask in the name of Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Thursday, May 3, 1945.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Thursday, May 3, 1945, when, on motion of Mr. KOMOROFSKI unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mr. YEAKEL from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 129.

Mr. SORG from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 126.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Wednesday I submitted a resolution to discharge a Committee, the Committee on Mining. The purpose of the resolution at that time was to lend some aid or to endeavor to extend some relief to a long suffering people. It seemed ironical at the time that the roll was being called, this is what occurred back in one of our communities, and with your kind attention, Mr. Speaker, I will quote this article with which I came in contact yesterday.

PITTSTON WOMAN DROPS INTO MINE CAVE WHEN BRICK WALK IN REAR OF HOME COLLAPSES

Mrs. Clayton M. Ryce, Mother of 11 Children, Suffers Undetermined Injuries After Descending Steps From Porch

A 57-year-old Pittston woman, mother of 11 children, suffered undetermined injuries yesterday afternoon when a brick walk in the rear of her home collapsed and dropped her 25 feet into a cave hole which still was reported expanding last night and affecting the foundation of the building.

Mrs. Clayton M. Ryce, 20 Webster Street, was under her physician's care following her harrowing experience, and it will be several days before the extent of her injuries can be ascertained, members of her family said.

The woman descended from the rear porch to the walk when the cave, approximately five feet in diameter, developed.

Mrs. Ryce's husband, in the home at the time, heard her scream, and with a neighbor, Mrs. Michael Mahalick, went to her assistance.

A ladder was procured and with the aid of other residents of the section, Mrs. Ryce was brought to the surface and taken into her home.

The woman had been removed, however, and the fire equipment was sent back to headquarters, while the two police officers roped off the area.

However, members of the Ryce family said the cave was spreading last night and was beginning to pull at the rear foundations of the home.

The cave occurred in the same area in which numerous like subsidences have been experienced in the last several years, one of which claimed the life of a two-year-old girl.

RESOLUTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1945.

Messrs. CHUDOFF and ROSE offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Constitutional Amendments be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 132, entitled "A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, abolishing County of Philadelphia as a separate political entity, and providing for administering of county functions by City of Philadelphia" said bill having been referred to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments on April 25, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 132 was introduced in the Senate by State Senator Woodward—Senator Woodward is a Republican and this bill passed the Senate by a vote of forty-nine to nothing. This is a bill that provides for the consolidation of the city and county of Philadelphia, which both political parties in Philadelphia agreed was absolutely necessary, and even in 1935 a like bill passed the Legislature and again passed the Legislature in 1937, and in 1937 was submitted to the voters of Pennsylvania for the purpose of having them vote as to whether they wanted this constitutional amendment or not. The vote in Philadelphia was overwhelmingly for these amendments. However, the upstate Republican vote, which was against the amendments, killed the bill.

When the Democratic party leaders in Philadelphia were discussing a program to be introduced in this Legislature by the Democratic party they went on record for a city and county consolidation. Republican Members of the Senate, both Senator Woodward and Senator Kephart introduced bills providing for a city and county consolidation. These bills passed the Senate, after which the Governor gave a statement to the newspapers that he was for city-county consolidation. Shortly thereafter the Republican City Chairman of Philadelphia, the present Secretary of Revenue, David W. Harris, also advised the press in Philadelphia that he was for a city and county consolidation.

In the meantime certain bills passed the House providing for the repeal of the wage tax in Philadelphia. When these bills were reported out of committee in the Senate for a public hearing the Mayor of Philadelphia, together with a number of councilmen came before the Senate committee and asked that these bills be killed on the ground that the lack of income would bankrupt the city of Philadelphia.

Both the Bureau of Municipal Research and the committee of seventy-five agreed that if a city-county consolidation was accomplished the city administration could be run at the cost of four or five million dollars a year less, and it would enable the city to reduce the wage tax. In spite of all the clamor of all the civic organizations, in spite of the statement of the Governor of this Commonwealth and in spite of the statement of the Republican Chairman of the city of Philadelphia I am advised through the newspapers, the Bulletin and the Record, that Senate Bill 132 was considered by the Committee on Constitutional Amendments day before yesterday. These newspapers report, and I believe what they say is true, reported that two Republican Members of the House from Philadelphia were responsible for the killing of the city-county consolidation amendment bill.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, can it be that this endorsement of city-county consolidation by the Governor and the Republican chairman of the City of Philadelphia is the same kind of lip service that has been given to the FEPC bill?

We feel that the consideration of this bill should be taken away from the Committee and that it should be discharged from further consideration. I ask for a roll call.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I was listening to the discussion of this resolution by my distinguished colleague, and I too have been wondering in these dying moments of this session what kind of political chicanery is going on here. I saw an attempt made last evening to evade the orderly procedure of this House to bring out a vicious piece of legislation.

Here we have measures introduced by Republican Senators designed to aid the city, which have been given a knifing, and I cannot see how any Member of this House who is interested in the City of Philadelphia can fail to vote for this resolution.

There have been various proposals advanced throughout the years to eliminate some of the evils which exist in the city. Just a few days ago in the Senate in the hearing on the wage tax measures some of the individuals who were opponents as well as proponents of the bill admitted that city-county consolidation would effect economies which are absolutely necessary, and we have an opportunity here to bring this measure into life. I too have been wondering whether the Governor and Dave Harris, the Paragon of Philadelphia have been merely doing lip service to this measure. This is an opportunity, and I think the Members of this House have an opportunity today to show whether they are really interested in economies in the City of Philadelphia, whether they are really interested in the matters about which they have been talking throughout the years. I say to the Republican Members of this House if they fail to vote for this resolution, they endorse waste, corruption and inefficiency in the City of Philadelphia. This is your chance, gentleman, to show by your vote whether you are really interested in decency and honorable government in Philadelphia, and I call upon the Members to support this resolution.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot sit at my seat and permit this resolution to be introduced without some few remarks about what took place only this week in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

As you all know, the two repealers, one the direct repeal of all wage taxes in Philadelphia and the other introduced by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, relative to the exemption of non-residents from the payment of the tax, were aired in a public hearings before the Senate Finance Committee only this past week, and at that hearing His Excellency the Mayor of Philadelphia stated very clearly that he agreed that the wage tax in Philadelphia was not the fairest tax, that if there were any proposals that might be tendered to eliminate the tax the City Council in Philadelphia and himself would be only too willing to consider the same.

It so happened, and I frankly admit, that there were no concrete proposals offered by any of the proponents of either bill to obviate the tax in Philadelphia, and in all fairness there was not a plan proposed which would of necessity have abolished the city tax, either in the next year or the year following. But this was said, the Mayor of Philadelphia and Councilman Egan of Philadelphia did say they realized that a city-county consolidation might effect an economy of four and a half million dollars—in the neighborhood of four and a half million dollars or upwards. The bill introduced by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, which was considered that morning, exempting non-residents from the payment of the tax, could only have amounted to possibly six million dollars, so that I say to the Members of the House in support of the resolution offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, if there is any sincerity in the Mayor of Philadelphia or his Council, that the least that they could have done was to see to it that the green light was given to the city-county consolidation bills in this House, and that the measures were brought from the committee in order that the Members of the House might have free and open discussion on the same. I appeal to those especially who supported the bill of Mr. James, House Bill 5, that in all consistency that they vote to support the resolution to discharge the Committee from further consideration of the city-county consolidation bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I do not know, Mr. Speaker, whether I understood correctly, and I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether he meant to infer that there was political chicanery in the conduct of the committee meetings where these particular measures were discussed.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Elk, I did not say there was political chicanery in the Committee meeting. I simply said I read in the newspapers, two reliable Philadelphia newspapers, that two Philadelphia Members moved to kill the bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I desire only to say that the meeting of the Committee where these measures were discussed was called in all good faith, that the matter was presented to the committee in a manner calling for the full deliberation of the Members thereof, that there was no political motive or political chicanery whatever involved in the calling of this meeting.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, it was called at the earliest possible moment so that if the measure was found desirable it might be presented in good time to pass this House before adjourning sine die.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether he can inform the House of any other bill or series of bills in this session where the Governor in conjunction with prominent Republican leaders have stated their sympathy with the proposed bills and those bills were stymied in committee like the city-county consolidation bills for the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman asked two questions. One question is based on facts unfounded; that is the fact that this bill was stymied. Neither one of the two bills was stymied. I cannot answer the gentleman's question because in doing so I must admit that fact.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindly tell me whether he was present at the hearing before the Senate Finance Committee relative to the wage tax bill of Philadelphia?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I was not.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, all that I can say to the Members of the House is if there is not a clear inference that these bills were pickled under direct orders of the city leaders of Philadelphia, then I want a denial from the other side of the House, and at the same time the reasons from the Chairman of the Committee or some of the members of the Committee why these bills after so much political pressure had been brought, were not brought out before this body for consideration, that is all.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, from the information that I received and from the reports in the newspapers when this Committee met these bills were unanimously postponed. That motion was voted for by both Democratic and Republican members of this committee. Normally——

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, in all deference to the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Salus, I hope that he will not take offense at my rising and requesting that he not reveal in debate on the floor of this House the proceedings of the Committee.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that that is a proper suggestion, but I was not a member of the Committee and I am not bound by what the Committee did, nor do I know what the Committee did except what I read in the newspapers. Of course, that is public property, and that is what I meant to refer to. I am not even a member of the Committee, I do not know what happened, and I am not bound under the rules that I shall not divulge what happened in the Committee. Whether it happened or not I do not know, but there are times when one can reasonably believe what they read in the newspapers.

Now, insofar as this bill is concerned, this bill together with the many other positions that our Democratic friends have taken during this session, is in line with an occurrence that I recall where a lot of men went duck shooting. One of the men didn't know anything about shooting, and one of the other men suggested to him "Shoot up in the flock and you may hit something." Our friends on the Democratic side have been shooting up in the flock in their efforts to kill the Republican efforts to put the city and county of Philadelphia on their feet, and I think this is shooting in the flock. Out of the many good laws passed by this Legislature and signed by the Governor they may by sheer good luck hit something in the flock.

Those that go along, all right, nothing will be heard of them further, they will be forgotten, and for all the efforts that our Democratic friends made in this Session—and they worked hard—I hope they get a duck somewhere.

Now, we will come back into this particular bill. In the beginning of this Session we came to this House; we came here, especially the Republican representation in the House, to do the best job that we could do for the City of Philadelphia, and we have succeeded, and I, only the other day said our Democratic friends have helped us in passing acts of legislation that have helped our city council to put Philadelphia on its feet.

Philadelphia is on its feet so far as not being in debt at the present time is concerned. We have made some progress, but we are not satisfied. We want to make it more perfect; we want to make much more progress. We want to make it so that our mayor and our council can get together on the program that they have laid down for post war efforts by the United States Government, post war efforts by the Pennsylvania Government, post war efforts by the City of Philadelphia, and they are now trying to frame such a schedule, that I believe our Democratic friends will be glad to see, even if they do not say so.

There was some talk about our City Chairman, and might I say for the benefit of our Democratic friends that we Members of the Legislature, nine of us, are up here to look after legislation for the City of Philadelphia. We work together and we take orders from no one, including the Governor of Pennsylvania, the City Chairman, the Speaker of the House, the Leader of the House, but as has been said here sometimes on the floor, we do as we please. We do as we please so far as it is for the benefit of the City of Philadelphia, and I want to say for the Members of the Legislature from Philadelphia that are here, none of them is under obligations to anybody, politically, financially or otherwise. We all are standing on our own bottoms, we all are standing on our own feet, with our own earnings and do not need politics for a living, and that goes for all of us. I do not know whether our Democratic friends can say the same thing. We are an independent group whose only interest in being here is the welfare of the City of Philadelphia, and I challenge any man on the Democratic side of the House to deny that statement. Most of our men here are substantial business men; they are in politics because they are interested in their town, and thy love the game and do not make their livelihood out of it. We are all stalwart Republicans, we believe in Republican principles, and we have such an open hearted and open handed feeling that the present day

New Dealer who is anxious to come back home will be allowed to come back home, and we will take them in our charge. But so far as this particular bill is concerned, it is nothing more nor less at the present time than one of those ducks that the Democrats are trying to shoot. It would not save the City of Philadelphia a single penny. There is no way that anybody could consider it that it would save a cent. It would change the whole program and would eventually cost the City of Philadelphia considerable money.

Our friends say that it is an opportunity to weaken the political Republican organization in Philadelphia insofar as patronage is concerned. I want to say to you for myself and the rest of our friends that as long as the Republicans can keep the patronage out of the Democratic hands and in the hands of the Republicans we are going to stick to that program because we believe in a two party political set up.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request that the debate be confined to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask one question of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he personally was in favor of city-county consolidation.

Mr. SALUS. I positively am not in favor of it and would not take orders from anybody in Pennsylvania to change my opinion.

Mr. LEVY. I thank the gentleman. I desire now to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROOT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I would like to ask Mr. Root a like question, Mr. Speaker, whether he is in favor of city-county consolidation?

Mr. ROOT. I am not, because it is nothing but plain politics on the other side of the House.

Mr. LEVY. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Costa, if he is in the hall of the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in the hall of the House.

Mr. LEVY. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. O'Dare, is he personally in favor of the city-county consolidation?

Mr. O'DARE. I am not.

Mr. LEVY. I then desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. McCormack.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Elk will state it.

Mr. SORG. The gentleman is not speaking on the motion, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The Chair desires to extend every latitude to the Members, but requests them to please confine their remarks to the motion to discharge this Committee.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in furtherance of my interrogation of the gentlemen from Philadelphia I only want to remind the Speaker that I sympathize with the position of the Majority Whip, but we contend in furtherance of the resolution, that the Governor made a public statement, also the Chairman of the Republican City Committee made a public statement that he was in favor of, and if I recall correctly the Chairman of the Republican City Committee went further, he said that the members of the Republican party in Philadelphia are in favor of a city and county consolidation.

After all, Mr. Speaker, we should be more interested in the subject of city-county consolidation than the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, who does not reside within two hundred miles of Philadelphia. I think it is directly in point and I think I have a right to interrogate them in order to get an answer to show the position of the Republican party in Philadelphia on city-county consolidation. I ask for a ruling.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled on the point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we very patiently bear with the Senator from Philadelphia when he imagines he is still in the State Senate and wanders all around the universal map. We sat here day after day listening to his aimless speeches, and we have objected. I think the gentleman from Elk could well, if he wanted to have made a point of order, have made it upon a Member of his own party who is departing further from proper procedure than any Member on this side.

The SPEAKER. The Chair can only rule on points of order when they are raised.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would never imagine for one moment that he does, but does the gentleman in his capacity as leader of the Philadelphia delegation on the Republican side have conference with the City Chairman about pending legislation?

Mr. SALUS. I do not know that that is a fair question, but I will answer it. I will say no, I do not.

Mr. ROSE. May I ask whether the City Chairman, now Secretary of Revenue, David Harris, ever consulted with the distinguished gentleman in respect to city-county consolidation?

Mr. SALUS. He did not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. In the opinion of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, does he think that city-county consolidation would result in certain economies?

Mr. SALUS. I am absolutely convinced that it would not result in any economies, but would cost the city of Philadelphia in the neighborhood of six or eight or ten million dollars to change from the present setup. If I didn't think that way I would be for the measure.

Mr. ROSE. Is it not true that there are certain overlapping functions conducted by those departments, by both city and county departments?

Mr. SALUS. I think I know a little about the way the city of Philadelphia is conducted, and I would say there is absolutely no overlapping, and there is no way that you could save by city-county consolidation, a single employe.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Chudoff and Mr. Rose and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 660

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 660, Printer's No. 754.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 660, entitled: "An act to add section thirty-one point one and to repeal in part section thirty-two of the act approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled, 'An act providing when, how, upon what property, and to what extent, liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements, for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates, sewer rates, and lighting rates; for the procedure upon claims filed therefor; the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims; the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened; the distribution of the proceeds of such sales, and the redemption of the property therefrom; for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed, and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed, within six months before the passage of this act; and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of assembly,' further regulating the sale of real property for the nonpayment of tax and municipal claims in counties of the first class providing for the discharge of all liens, mortgages, ground rents, estates and claims against such property by such sale and eliminating the right of redemption after such sales"

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

A. Evans Kephart,
Louis H. Farrell,
Maxwell S. Rosenfeld,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

Morris J. Root,
John R. McCormack,
Earl Chudoff,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act to add section thirty-one point one and to repeal in part section thirty-two of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" further regulating the sale of real property for the nonpayment of tax and municipal claims in counties of the first class providing for the discharge o fall liens mortgages ground rents estates and claims against such property by such sale and eliminating the right of redemption after such sales

Section 1 The act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" is hereby amended by adding thereto after section thirty-one a new section to read as follows

Section 31.1 In addition to the remedy prescribed in sections twenty-eight and thirty-one of this act whenever a claimant in any county of the first class has obtained a judgment upon its tax or municipal claim it may file its petition in the court in which the proceeding is pending setting forth the facts necessary to show the right to sell together with searches or a title insurance policy showing the state of the record and the ownership of the property and of all tax and municipal claims mortgages ground rents or other charges on or estates in the land as shown by the official records of the county or the political subdivision in which the real estate is situate and thereupon the court shall grant a rule upon all parties thus shown to be interested to appear and show cause why a decree should not be made that said property be sold freed and cleared of their respective claims mortgages ground rents charges and estates and without any right of redemption after such sale If upon a hearing thereafter the court is satisfied that service has been made of said rule upon the parties respondent in the manner provided in this act for the service of writs of scire facias to obtain judgments upon tax and municipal claims and that contemporaneously with the service of the rule on the parties respondent notice of the rule has been published by the claimant in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county and in a legal periodical published therein if any and that the facts stated in the petition be true it shall order and decree that said said property be sold at a subsequent sheriff's sale at a time to be fixed thereafter by the claimant at least one year after the date of the decree clear of all claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates to the highest bidder at such sale and the proceeds realized therefrom shall be distributed in accordance with the priority of such claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates and the purchaser at such sale shall take and forever thereafter have an absolute title to the property sold free and discharged of all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates of whatsoever kind and not thereafter subject to any right of redemption Advertisement of such sale shall be made and the deed to the purchaser shall be executed acknowledged and delivered as in other real estate sales by the sheriff Provided however That any person interested may at any time prior to the proposed sale pay all the costs of the proceedings including a reasonable fee for the necessary title search or title insurance policy to be fixed by the court and all tax and municipal claims penalties and interest thereon charged against the property whereupon the proceedings on petition shall at once determine notice of this proviso shall be included with each service and in each publication of the aforesaid rule

For the purpose of enabling the petitioner in any such proceedings to give the notice required it may take the testimony of the defendant in the claim or of any other person whom it may have reason to believe has knowledge of the whereabouts of any of the parties respondent either by deposition commission or letters rogatory

Any claimant shall have the right and is hereby empowered to bid and become the purchaser of the property at such sale and while the said property so purchased is so held and owned it shall not be subject to tax claims

Upon the delivery by the sheriff of a deed for any property sold under the provisions of this section the judgment upon which such sale was had shall thereupon and forever thereafter be final and conclusive and the validity thereof shall not be questioned for any cause whatsoever

Section 2 Section thirty-two of said act is hereby repealed insofar as it is inconsistent with the provisions of this amendment

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

REPORT RECOMMITTED

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Report of the Committee of Conference be recommitted to the Conference Committee for further consideration.

The motion was agreed to.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 295 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 295, Printer's No. 582, entitled "An act to repeal certain obsolete and supplied penal laws," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Many of the Members of the House have asked me, Mr. Speaker, whether they will be permitted to spend the Sabbath this week with their families or whether they will be detained here in Harrisburg on the business of this General Assembly. I have been unable to answer them, and as a result many of them have been unable to make plans. I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, whether there is any information that the Speaker can give the House regarding our probable activities on next Sunday.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to answer the gentleman's question. The Chair will assure the gentleman from Cambria that as soon as the information requested is received the Chair will be glad to give it to the House.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate, Mr. Steinfeld, being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence 44, 218, 664, 767.

House Bills concurred in by Senate, 279, 1258.

Amended House Bills returned for concurrence 58.

Amended Senate Bills concurred in by Senate 519.

Senate Bills to be signed 248, 374, 607.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. NAGLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. NAGLE. Mr. Speaker, relative to the matter the Minority Floor Leader mentioned a moment ago, I would like to know whether or not the House has authority to compel Members to remain here in session on Sunday?

The SPEAKER. The House has the authority to compel its Members to attend at any time. That is a matter for the House to decide.

Mr. NAGLE. Then, Mr. Speaker, that would be a question for the House to decide.

My other question might not be germane to this, however, I note in Article I, Section 3 of the Constitution, that it gives every person in our state the right to worship according to his religious views, whether they be such that his worship is to sit out under a tree on that particular day or to remain in bed. I am wondering whether or not even though this House backed a move to send a sergeant-at-arms to bring a man in who was not here because of religious scruples, whether it would not be in violation of Article I, Section 3 of our Constitution.

The SPEAKER. The Constitution of Pennsylvania gives the House of Representatives the right to compel its Members to attend Sessions.

Mr. NAGLE. Mr. Speaker, I submit that we are not supposed to be here on Sunday, but a time honored custom of this House is to turn the clock backward so it still remains that time, whether that be Saturday or Monday, the day set for this House to adjourn. On the floor of this House of course we assume that it is Saturday or some other day of the week than Sunday, but actually and factually when a man leaves the floor of this House and goes out, then we have Sunday, actual and factual, and I contend that any power that this House might delegate to a sergeant-at-arms would be in violation of our Constitution.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC HEALTH AND SANITATION

Mr. ELISH offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 667, entitled "An Act providing for the complete medical examination and care of all children under twelve and all persons over sixty-five years of age who are residents of this Commonwealth, and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Health" said bill having been referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation on February 20, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ELISH. Mr. Speaker, several weeks ago we passed a bill which made a forward stride in the field of health in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I wish to commend both Republicans and Democrats for passing this measure. I am referring to the bill that made it mandatory for school children in the state to have physical examinations periodically. As much as I admire this bill, it still in my opinion does not go far enough. My bill, House Bill 667, provides that all children under the age of twelve in our Commonwealth not only have periodic examination but that they be given care to correct any physical disabilities that they may have or incur, and it also provides that indigent aged, people who are over sixty-five years of age, receive medical attention as well. This type of legislation is nothing new. Our mother country, England, has had it on her statute books for quite a number of years. So I would recommend this bill to the favorable consideration of the Members.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

On a rising vote sixty-three Members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-three in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the resolution was not adopted.

DEATH OF FORMER MEMBER ANNOUNCED

The SPEAKER. The Chair with regret would inform the House of the death of a former Member, the Honorable Charles L. Terry of Wyoming County.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, to preside.

MR. STOCKHAM IN THE CHAIR

CONGRATULATIONS AND PRESENTATIONS

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, it has been my pleasureable duty for a number of sessions to act as the Chairman of a Committee at the end of the session for this very pleasant occasion when we lay aside all the cares and all the discussions on the floor of the House for the niceties of the expressions of appreciation to those who have been our leaders and who have carried on the work. I believe this program was to have taken place yesterday, but the calendar carried us through to such an early hour that it was delayed until this minute.

Yesterday I sought the unanimous consent of the House to be absent to return to my home. I want to thank the House for granting me that privilege, because it was an opportunity for me to participate in a dinner celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of an organization, our local bank, of which I have been a part for all of its years of existence. so it was my privilege to be at home last evening to participate in those festivities.

In my absence one of the committee, Mr. Benjamin F. James, accepted the position of officiating. Mr. James was so willing to do this that I think we should continue the program as it was arranged to be carried out yesterday as though I had not been present. I will therefore ask, Mr. Speaker, that Mr. James take over the program and carry on with the resolutions and the program until it is finished. May I, however, have the privilege of making a few closing remarks? So with your permission I will ask Mr. James to come to the rostrum.

MR. JAMES PRESIDING

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Chairman, at the outset of the 1943 session and again at the commencement of the 1945 session it was my great honor, privilege and pleasure to nominate a man to the high position of Speaker of this House and to see that man elected on both occasions.

In my remarks in placing a name in nomination for Speaker of this House, I said there were certain qualifications required to be a leader and to preside over the deliberations of this body in fairness to every Member, regardless of his political affiliation.

I said that that gentleman would have to be of sterling character possessed with patience and tolerance, and who regardless of the temper of the House would never lose his sense of fairness and equanimity. I think we have had in the Speaker of this House one who has met all the requirements and qualifications I had set forth as necessary to preside over this body.

On numerous occasions we found that because of long sessions, because of heated debate, it required the best that is in any man to preside and to render decisions from the Chair. I know that the Speaker of this House, during the 1943 and 1945 sessions, ably lived up to all the many requirements necessary in a presiding officer; that he held high the traditions of the Chair of the House of Representatives; that he as ably filled that position in a manner that maintained the high standards of dignity established by his able predecessors.

Therefore, Mr. Chairman, I offer the following resolution.

THANKS EXTENDED TO SPEAKER

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1945.

To eulogize the Speaker is a most difficult task.

To try to paint a word picture of him that would portray his many outstanding qualities would be as impossible as to improve with gilt the beauty of the lily.

The Speaker is his own eulogy. He and his works will linger longer in the memories of those of us who know him, by reason of his sincerity, his friendliness, his honesty and his integrity than through any words on printed pages.

At the close of this, his second term of service as the Speaker of the House, he looms larger than ever and those characteristics that endeared him to the Members during the session of 1943 have continued unfalteringly through this one.

He has maintained the full respect of this House for his unchanging fairness, his strict adherence to the rules that govern the House and his constant friendliness.

The experience gained through the turbulent and strenuous days of the former session has added to all the strength that was then his and has assisted in bringing about an earlier adjournment.

As the end of the session grows near, we regret that an end must also come to that association with him which he has made so delightful.

He has furnished an example of fairness, of friendliness and of sincerity which, if emulated by us, will bring more of real joy and contentment to us than any other thing that could flow from our attendance here; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Members of this House of Representatives of the Session of 1945, fully cognizant of all that the Speaker of this House has done to make our work easier, our time here shorter and our experience more pleasing, hereby extend to him our thanks for his continuous and willing help and assistance, his uniform and unfailing fairness, and his constant friendliness; and as we prepare to leave, we extend our best wishes for his full success in every undertaking, his good health at all times and his complete contentment at the conclusion of every day; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Ira T. Fiss as added evidence of our high esteem for him and for his conduct of the House during the Session of one thousand nine hundred and forty-five.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Chairman, I was told once today that I talk too much, and they tell me that the Representative from Cambria County has gone adrift, and they are right.

For me to say nothing would be rather unfair. The things that have been said by the gentleman from Lehigh on this resolution speak volumes for our Speaker.

Mr. Chairman, we are living in a great country; we are living in a great state; and what is happening here today ought to be a proud heritage for our Speaker to hand down to those who will follow him in the years to come.

To have been Speaker of this House in a time like this is certainly a wonderful honor, and to fill that position as it has been filled is certainly a credit and a glory to the man who presides. All of us who came to the Halls of this Legislature in this session, notwithstanding our bickerings, came here with sorrow on our shoulders and hope in our hearts, but today we have heard messages from abroad that will or should lighten many of our burdens. Sorrows have come in the past few years to many families and those sorrows can never be eradicated as long as they remain on this earth, but to others who have boys who will come back in the near future—and we hope in the near future from the message we received today—this will be a memorable day.

To be a Member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania is a wonderful honor, but it is much more important to be the Speaker, when the future looks so bright and hope is so high, particularly when one leaves the position with the good will and the heartfelt best wishes of every Member on the floor of this House. I say that sincerely and say it without a single reservation. To be here in the place that is designated and known as the Palace of Justice, the place in which the marble is a copy of the famous temple of King Solomon, the place where law and order has its foundation in the history of our state, as lawmakers who are trying to do the best we know how in our own way to follow those fundamental rules and regulations and laws laid down by the King of men, is a great honor and a glory.

I see in the near future the American flag waving over the world as the emblem in which all humanity will see its future, where prejudice, intolerance and also tolerance shall be wiped off the earth. I say tolerance too, because tolerance is not sufficient to clear up the conditions of the times; it must be tolerance and cooperation by all the peoples of the world in order that the spirit of the American flag may fly in glory over the world, and that the great honor that we are bestowing upon our Speaker today shall be an honor to him and to all of us for now and evermore.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Chairman, "The shouting and the tumult die. The captains and the kings depart."

It is indeed a distinct privilege to have the opportunity to second the resolution presented by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter. I do not believe, though, that our Speaker, who has so ably presided over this body, would desire that praise be heaped upon him, but that he would prefer that on this occasion we bear testimony and faith to the high calling to which we have come.

It is no mere accident that the lower House of the Legislature of this Commonwealth, and the lower House of the law making bodies of all the States of our Union, have a tradition far beyond that given to those distinguished Members of the upper chamber, for it was the lower house of the law making bodies of the early days when this nation was fighting for independence that challenged those who attempted to hold people in political and economic slavery; it is no mere accident that under our constitution the sole right to impose taxes upon the people was given to the House of Representatives. That right was placed there because the House of Representatives was the forum in which the people had faith and confidence. And so the high traditions of the House of Representatives must be preserved and defended, and to our Speaker who has so ably presided over this House we simply say that we now repledge and rededicate our lives to those traditions.

So, Mr. Chairman and Speaker of the House, as we depart to our homes let us pray that this bloody slaughter will soon be over and that there will come news of peace to all the peoples of the world. We take as our solemn sacred duty never to violate the trust and the confidence placed in us by our constituents and to keep inviolate the rich heritage of freedom bequested by those who have fought and died that we might continue as a free nation. I know the Speaker will do his part, and may we follow him in the days ahead as we have followed his able leadership during this session that is now ready to adjourn. I give you this message from those who sleep, the eternal sleep of the righteous for they sleep in full confidence that we will discharge our obligations to humanity with devotion and humility.

"To you from fallen hands we throw the torch; Be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die we shall not sleep,
Though poppies grow in Flanders Field."

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the lady from Mercer, Mrs. Dye.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Chairman, it is a privilege and a pleasure to second the resolution that has just been offered. Words seem inadequate to express appreciation.

However, I would like to say in behalf of the women Members of this House that we feel it has been an honor to have had the opportunity to serve here, that our work has been made easier by the fairness and the cooperation of the Speaker. Sometimes the hours have been long, putting it mildly, and very tiring—mildly expressed also tempers have been sharp, but the Speaker through it all—surely his patience sometimes must have been sorely tried, has maintained the even tenor of his way. We appreciate his patience and tolerance in presiding over the deliberations of this House.

I am truly happy to second this resolution and to assure the Speaker that we appreciate the fact that he has served us sincerely, honestly and courageously. We are grateful to him for that.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chairman, following yesterday's deliberations, I would not have imagined, as I entered upon the duties of this House today, that all the spices of Araby, or all the incense of India, or all the sugar of Cuba could have sweetened my disposition. However, I find that in this atmosphere I am beginning to melt even to the point where I can confer a beaming smile upon the gentleman from Delaware, who I perceive is back in his usual genial frame of mind. I have no doubt, Mr. Chairman, that it was the calmness, the serenity upon the part of our Speaker that prevented the exuberance of the gentleman from Delaware from even reaching a higher,—or a lower level. But, Mr. Chairman, you know it is my conviction, my sincere conviction,—and incidentally that is about the highest tribute I can pay to the Speaker, that he would have been as fair and as considerate and as impartial as he has been even though he had not known that House Bill 411 was going to come over to the House for final approbation, plus a few Senate amendments.

When I started out this session I thought that perhaps the Chair was being nice to me because of 411, but then he was nice the next day and impartial the next day, and kept right along no matter how irritating I was, no matter how irritating the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy was,—he wouldn't even get mad at O'Brien,—and he never became angry with me.

I think that is a supreme accomplishment upon the part of any presiding officer if he will put up and never get angry with Members like myself or the two gentlemen that I have mentioned.

I had hoped, Mr. Chairman, when I received the election returns, that it might be my privilege to make the talk nominating a Speaker of this House rather than be confined to the role of seconding and moving that the nomination of the man who is now Speaker be made unanimous. But I want to say that after looking you all over, studying you well, if I had to accept one of you, I would have preferred the gentleman who is now Speaker.

This occasion has become traditional and comes just at the point where it is timed to ease tired nerves, to calm us, to enable a great many of us to listen to pleasant words, and although we know that what they say about all of us may not be exactly true, or maybe a trifle overstated, my God! how we like it.

So, Mr. Chairman, it is a privilege for me to testify that I have not from the beginning of this session noticed one single example, one single instance in which I could say I believed the Speaker was being intentionally unfair, and do you know,—do you know that if only you fellows had been as fair as the Speaker, you know you would not have gotten away with some of the things you have gotten away with. That again is a tribute, that it has not been your Speaker. The highest compliment that you can pay, and we can pay, is that he has not been the Speaker of the majority party; he has been that larger, bigger, more important factor, the Speaker of this entire House, and as such I salute him.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Chairman, it is a distinct privilege to rise to second the resolution offered by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter. I feel that all that can be said possibly has been said.

I wish that I had the forensic ability of the gentleman who just preceded me, so that I too in glowing terms might pay tribute to a grand fellow. It has been my pleasure to have served along with a number of other men on this side of the House, in the 1939 and 1941 sessions with the present Speaker, when we are all impressed with his qualities of sound judgment, tolerance and leadership, and I am sure that the Members on the other side of the House have likewise been impressed with those qualities of sound judgment, tolerance and leadership which our Speaker has displayed during the two terms that he has presided over this body.

I am sure, Mr. Chairman, that when we in this Legislature have completed our tenures of office in this legislative body, when we go back to the counties from whence we came and reflect upon our duties and upon the time and upon the fights and upon the trials and tribulations that we have had as Members of this House, a lot of things will become dim in our memories but I am sure that we will all look back and say that when Ira Fiss presided over the House at Harrisburg he not only was an excellent presiding officer but he was a grand and a swell fellow.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Finnerty.

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Chairman and Members of the House, I appreciate as a great honor and a great privilege, to be able to second the resolution presented by the gentleman from Lehigh. I am fully in accord with his remarks when he said our Speaker had never lost his sense of fairness. I am joining in those remarks, and wish to thank the Speaker for his calmness and his fairness to us Members, both Republicans and Democrats from the great city of Philadelphia, in view of the way we fought upon all of the Philadelphia legislation. I know many Members in this House would support a motion to separate Philadelphia from the rest of the State. However, I would say as a Member from Philadelphia, if that unfortunate event should happen, I am afraid the State would go into bankruptcy.

We Members from Philadelphia,—and I am speaking for both Republicans and Democrats,—love that great city; we feel that there is no city in these great United States that is a step ahead of the great City of Brotherly Love, the most historical city in this country. More historical events have happened in Philadelphia than in any other city in this country. The only thing we miss that is outstanding in history, it was unfortunate we never had the Boston Tea Party in Philadelphia.

I hope shortly we will be able, or one who will be a Member then, will be able to come to this Legislature and take the floor and say, "Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen we invite you to the great City of Philadelphia," which will then be the seat of the United Nations Security League that will give us peace for the rest of our lives.

I wish to say to you, Mr. Speaker, as one who has served with you as a Member, and under you as Speaker in two sessions, that I always noticed and I have heard it remarked in all the tense moments when the Members were on pins and needles and had "nerves," that you never lost your calmness. When we called on the Speaker in his office he was always courteous even with his many duties, and I say again I consider it a great privilege and a great honor to be called upon to second this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Speaker, the Honorable Ira T. Fiss.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss). Perhaps this is one of the greatest moments of my life, yet is always one of the most difficult. To be Speaker of this House and to have your confidence and trust is a wonderful tribute. You have honored me for the second time as your Speaker. I have endeavored to the best of my ability to serve you in every sense. If I have made mistakes, they certainly were not intentional. The emotions that overcome me on an occasion like this are beyond my control.

Members of the House; as this Session of 1945-46 draws to a close, we stand on the threshold of victory. During the time we were in Session, a war of unequaled magnitude and severity raged in every part of the world. The problems confronting us during the progress of the war were many and complex.

The earnest prayer of every one of us, is, that every Member of this House who has loved ones engaged in this conflict may return to them safely.

We would share our mutual woes, we would bear our mutual burdens, with heartfelt sympathy and understanding. The stress and strain of war, the fears and anxiety for those we love has made it difficult to perform our normal tasks.

I am deeply grateful to you for all your kindness and courtesy to me. Your statesmanlike approach to the problems before us, your resolute courage in these trying times, your fidelity to your duty as Members of this House has made this a successful and beneficial session.

The cooperation of the Members of the House, Senate and Governor has been unequaled in the history of the Commonwealth.

Three centuries have passed since William Penn founded his colony in the wilderness where law would represent the will of the common people. Penn sought the advice of other men but the greater part of the original Frame of Government was his. It was based on the fundamental principle that "all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"Governments rather depend on men than men on Governments. Let men be good and the Governments cannot be bad."

Legislative power was vested in a Council of seventy-two Members and an Assembly of two hundred Members elected by the people. In 1776 a new Constitution provided for a single legislative body whose Members were elected annually. After 1790 a new Constitution was framed which provided for two legislative houses and a Governor to be elected by the people. The purpose of William Penn to found a home for those who love liberty and were able to govern themselves has endured with only slight Constitutional changes down to the present time.

The principle and purpose of William Penn still lives in the hearts and lives of nearly ten million people.

The men who moved through these Halls in past years were the torch bearers of humanity's progress and self government.

We must see that every stone in the structure of State Government is well and truly laid.

So that the spiritual and material progress of this great Commonwealth is maintained and advanced throughout the future years.

The worst threat to our future, is that we are increasingly paying too much attention to the superstructure called the State, and too little to its foundations, the home, the school, and the church. In industrial, political, and international affairs we are searching feverishly for mechanical substitutes for the Golden Rule.

We are relying on the destructive weakness of force, and not on the strength and healing power of love.

This war is imposing a great strain on Constitutional government. The battle cry in this war is that—man shall be free.

Can freedom survive the conflict and weather the stormy period of reconstruction?

Recognition of a Supreme Being as the Creator of man's mind and body, and the re-establishment of law, both human and divine, in the heart of man as a guide to conduct, must be stressed anew.

Freedom becomes real only as we regard it as a vital element in the society in which we live. It is the greatest force which has moulded our present civilization.

Eternal Spirit of the Chainless Mind,
Brightest in dungeons, Liberty Thou Art,
For there thy habitation is the heart—
The heart which love of thee alone can bind;
And when thy sons to fetters are consign'd—
To fetters, and the damp vault's dayless gloom,
Their Country conquers with their martyrdom,
And Freedom's fame finds wings on every wind.

Ladies and gentlemen of this House, I am deeply grateful to you for all the honors you have bestowed upon me. There are some things which are eternal, like kindness, love, longsuffering and understanding. They live forever in the hearts and lives of each one of us. From the bottom of my heart I thank you.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk.

The CHIEF CLERK (William E. Habbyshaw). Mr. Chairman, Mr. Speaker, the old Members are always eager to see the Members-elect and I definitely recall my first meeting with the present Speaker. He was in our midst but a very short time before we learned his sterling qualities. His ability very early manifested itself and his influence upon legislation became evident.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Members and officers, Republicans and Democrats alike, we extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the way you have conducted yourself as head of the House. It gives me very great pleasure to present to you at this time this little gift. (Gavel)

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have been directed by the Members of the House to present you with a small taken of sincere admiration with every good wish and every good hope.

SPEAKER IRA T. FISS. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would like to say, because it is something close to my heart, that it is my hope that this House of Representatives shall continue to become a better and more efficient parliamentary body.

The gavel you gave me is an emblem of authority. It is an emblem of order and decorum. Where there is confusion and disorder men cannot be efficient, and since we have passed a law that will make possible an electric roll call system I hope that future Speakers will not need to use the gavel so much during our roll calls.

I also hope that we may be able to set up a better system of Standing Committees which will function properly and give this House a more efficient method of doing its business.

I am sincerely grateful for your kindness and good will.

MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Chairman, Members of the House, for one who is not gifted in the use of words, I find it surprisingly easy and extremely pleasing to present the resolution I propose to offer, because it is for our Majority Leader. Particularly so because I do not feel that it is the nearness of adjournment sine die that makes me feel mellow; I have felt that way throughout my entire association with him, because it is indeed rare that in the course of our affairs we should encounter an associate so unassuming, so affable, so courteous and understanding even when he is busy and we try him most. He is diligent, capable, and effective in his leadership. As for myself, Mr. Chairman, he has been a good boss and a real friend.

For the majority, we certainly cannot feel that we have honored him for two terms; we were lucky that we got a bargain, because I know that for all of the Members of this House his unselfish and sometimes self-effacing efforts have been a steadying influence. He has inspired us many times and acquired the good will of all the Members of this House and their undying friendship.

It does indeed, Mr. Speaker, give me great pleasure to offer the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. SORG offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

The respect and trust of the Members of the Session of 1943 won by the Majority Leader of that session, endured during the interim and obtained for him the wholehearted support of the Members of the majority party at the present session.

From the time that the control of the House was assured his party, the re-election of the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter as the Majority Leader, was conceded.

His friends of the former session were enthusiastically for him and their undivided support won that of the new Members.

His conduct of his office during this session has won for him new friends and has brought closer those of former sessions.

All the intelligence and modesty and ability that were displayed so clearly during 1943, have been more marked at this session, and his work on the floor, his keen grasp of every difficult situation and his accurate knowledge of the contents and purposes of every bill, have assured him the full trust and confidence of his colleagues; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of this House that we congratulate the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter upon the record he has sustained and enhanced as a leader during this session and at its closing we wish him every success that a continuance of activity in public life can bring to him, and all the happiness and contentment that can come from it; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Franklin H. Litchenwalter by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Chairman, I suppose it is one of the compensating balances of this vale of tears, pathway of blighted hopes, clash of interests that we commonly refer to as the general session of the General Assembly, that we can pause and say nice things about each other, things that are true, things of merit, and in rising to second this resolution I do not feel confined necessarily to the subject of this resolution nor to this side of that mythical line of demarkation that separates the majority from the minority.

It is a source of continuing pleasure to me to look about over the House and see all the Members, not only on this side but on the other side, and fashion in my mind a present picture, a pattern of fine citizens that come here to do a conscientious job.

I gathered a lot of delight from the speeches of the Minority Leader. While he is gifted, possibly not to the degree of Jonathan Swift, yet he has a tongue that is a source of real pleasure to me when he starts weaving it around some object that displeases him for the moment, and then how adroitly and well-meaningly can be change the picture after the damage has been done, or rather after his point has been gained. I could welcome him in this chamber as a colleague on my side of the House, because I sure like to hear a guy who can talk and talk well. He is not alone in that respect; there are many capable orators on the other side of the House.

To return to the principal task at hand, Members, let me say this, I have thought it over several times as to what the qualifications should be for a Member to be a Majority Floor Leader. I feel in that respect that I possess some qualifications, at least to evaluate what that position actually demands, and in our Majority Floor Leader we have an individual who not only is a close personal friend of mine, but I have learned to love and admire him very much from a personal point of view. We have a man who in my opinion encompasses almost every imaginable desirable qualification to fill that high position. He is a man of poise, he is a man of balance, he has the patience of Job; he has got more patience than I have, I am frank to admit. I would literally fall apart if I were to be placed in some of the positions in which I have seen him placed, and which he just took as gracefully as someone would accept an assignment of that two hundred billion dollars worth of gold that we have learned they discovered in the salt mine over in Austria. He always has time to give you a few minutes to discuss your problem, and the nice thing about it is that when you get to talk to him it is not a thing apart or a polished brush-off, but he has the sincerity and capacity to really make your problem his own, and you Members all know that that is true.

So we have honored ourselves in this chamber by elevating this fine young man to the position of Floor Leader, not only once but twice. Now, I am not going to try and stretch the facts and picture him as a Daniel Webster, but Daniel Webster was famous, you will recall, for just one thing, and that is that he was an outstanding orator. Well, Frank is not a poor speaker by any means; you can understand him; he knowns what he is talking about, and it is to his undying credit that he knows something of interest and importance about all the necessary things connected with every piece of legislation that passes through this House.

He is my reference book, and I hear the brothers as they move down to this microphone within my hearing, as I sit in my seat, they come to him for information and receive it just the same as I do.

So in seconding this resolution I find myself in the position of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, the gentleman who offered the resolution. I do not have to strain myself, rack my brain or hie myself off to the library to prepare some eloquent observation on the subject—I could get up here and talk until you got out of patience to listen and I got out of strength to talk, and I do not feel that I could exhaust all the nice things that are deserving that I might say about Frank. So it is a genuine pleasure, a real privilege and a high honor for me to be permitted to second the resolution offered by my distinguished colleague the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

CHAIRMAN JAMES. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Chairman and my colleagues this is certainly a great moment in my life. It has been a great session, one that I shall never forget. I do not know why I asked for the job, along with all the strenuous duties, the late hours, the awakenings in the middle of the night to write notes on a pad under my pillow. I have enjoyed it, however, because you Members of the House have made the task a great deal easier.

There are many things that I will remember in this session. We in the Dutch country talk about the play "Papa Is All." Well, the gentleman on the other side, my good friend and colleague, the Minority Leader has announced that I am the papa, and the father, I believe, of many children on this side of the House. It is the first time that that honor has been bestowed upon me, and for that I am very grateful.

I do want to take this occasion to thank the Speaker and the Parliamentarian, the men at the desk and all the Members of this House for the splendid cooperation they have given me. I have not deserved any of it; after all I asked to undertake a difficult job. You owed me nothing, but you have certainly by your actions displayed a spirit of confidence and a spirit of faith that I shall never forget.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the gentleman from Cambria for his spirit of fairness and for the way he has acted on behalf of the minority toward the majority party. I could have at no time asked for greater cooperation. I would like to say that his word was his bond, and that in the deliberations of this House many times we have tried to save not only minutes but hours of the Members' time. We have met and tried to do some planning, not always to the knowledge of the Members but always with the intention of better serving the Membership of this House and the people of Pennsylvania. So I want to pay tribute to him for the fine spirit in which he has acted during this session toward the majority side and particularly toward myself.

Then I would like to pay tribute to the gentleman who offered the resolution, the Majority Whip. I have learned to love Herb Sorg. I have always liked Herb since I first met him as a Member of this House. He has been sincere, he has tried his level best and has resulted in giving me that very necessary help that I must call for every day during the session. I owe a great debt of gratitude to him for the valuable service he has not only offered me but to the entire Membership of this House.

I could go on paying tributes and extolling the fine virtues and the spirit of fairness that has been displayed by all of the men on this side of the House and their loyalty to me, as well as the Members on the other side of the House for their friendship. I mark this day as a day I will never forget and I want to thank all of you.

The CHAIRMAN. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, please come to the rostrum? The Chair is directed by the Members of the House to give you this little memento of esteem with our heartiest greetings.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I would like you to know, Mr. Chairman, that I am not in singing voice, but I would say that I thank you.

MINORITY FLOOR LEADER CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Chairman, I do not know why I was selected to present this resolution, but since there has been given to me the pleasure of so doing, I shall probably say a bit more than the person mentioned in the resolution would want me to say.

To begin with, I suspect he would be happier if there were no resolutions, and I imagine, with the independent streak in his makeup, that he could create some parliamentary snarl to prevent its passage, because I think the praise we heap upon him he does not want. The work that he has done has been a reward in itself, and the leadership he has given us and the leadership we have followed so well is reward enough for him. I know that is how he feels.

My resolution recites that he first came to Capitol Hill thirty years ago as a newspaper man—thirty years ago he was writing for the newspapers and I was selling them. He wrote for an independent newspaper in an independent spirit, and the people in the press room just treated him as somebody they had to tolerate because he was independent.

When I first met him in the 1939 session I found him to be a person of complete independence, a tenacious fighter, but always completely wanting something to be done as it should be done, and not letting an opportunity go by to state his position according to the book. I felt from that time until I heard happily that he was re-elected for this session, that if we Members of the House, being only human, would fall into the old failing that we all have of stagnating mentally, that we would at least have one Member on the floor who would provoke us to think, excite us to action, and generally keep us moving.

When he was selected by the minority party as Floor Leader and he asked me to help, I was very happy to do so without arrangements—there was no deal made; he held out no promise to me and I exacted none. I helped him and I learned a lot.

Upstairs where we hide out, some two hundred yards from where the Post-War Planning Commission has its abode, we changed the rules. We used to have only one room in the last session and we did with it, but this session the activity got greater and we have two rooms. We would discuss legislation, we would discuss strategy, how to dig a deep hole for Frank Lichtenwalter to fall into, and I followed him from one room to another, because the faster he walked the faster he talked, and I appreciated the fact that I was able to take care of myself physically by getting my exercise with him. He did not presume to know anything; he wanted to know everything. He kept us on our toes; if we wanted to do something he had to have a reason for it. So he would say "Let them vote on it," and then whether he agreed with it or not he would make the presentation as Floor Leader. But with it all he has been able to carry on well.

We on this side feel that he has done a splendid job; we on this side feel that he has not in any measure made one step backward from the position of our party. We think he has stepped forward and led the party with him in the attempt to advance the party program and the party platform. He did it well, he did it diligently, he did it faithfully, he did it honestly, and despite the fact that I had my own misgivings originally that it might not be pleasant, he did it pleasantly. For that on this side we are very happy, and I am quite sure on the other side you feel the same way. It is therefore quite easy to be able to say, first of all, I have found a friend; I believe that the other Members of the House also have found a friend, not to fear but to respect for his contrary opinion.

I, therefore, Mr. Chairman, take pleasure and great personal delight in offering the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. COHEN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

A Minority Leader in this House ofttimes has no easy job, but it occurs only when the minority party is deeply in the minority. At those times his job consists chiefly of making a noise, raising smoke screens and assembling material for coming elections. He is a cross between an obstructionist and a nuisance, but when he represents a minority party that is in the minority by only a few votes, his job increases in importance, in volume of work, and in study.

The job of being Minority Leader at this session has been no mean job, it has rather been a herculean task that called for a master of tact, energy, finesse and strategy.

The minority party chose well, for the job has been masterfully handled by the selected leader who constantly carried the ball himself or lead the interference. He let no opportunity pass that afforded material for forthcoming election purposes, and at the same time he went along with the majority when he felt that support was merited.

He tolerated no useless obstruction tactics, but conducted the opposition campaign on a high plane, fearlessly, openly and courageously.

He won from the beginning the respect and admiration of the House membership and the end of the session finds that respect and admiration unabated; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of this House, that they extend their congratulations to the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews, who first came into this House more than thirty years ago as a special newspaper reporter and who is now closing his first session as the leader of his party therein, for his outstanding and masterful handling of a most difficult task; that they wish him a long continuation of his service to the people and a fullness of joy in the knowledge of a work well done; and be it further

Resolved, That in evidence of the sincerity of their feeling, the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives is hereby directed to furnish the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews with a copy of this resolution.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Chairman and my colleagues of the House, it gives me great pleasure to rise and say a word or two for my boss on this side of the House.

In 1933 I became personally acquainted with the gentleman who came into this House, held a caucus in the telephone booth and came out as a candidate for Speaker of his party. In 1935 I had the pleasure of serving with the same gentleman as a member of my party.

In 1937 I found this gentleman in the House in a room upstairs set aside where he was considered somewhat of a rebel by some of the Members of this House, and lo and behold, in 1945 I found this same gentleman being selected to lead my party in the House of Representatives. To me that is an accomplishment, that is independence, and it is independence that makes men free. It gives me great pleasure to second the resolution presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, the Minority Floor Leader, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Chairman, I submit to you that there is something unfair about this program. Mr. Lichtenwalter, the Majority Leader, was sentenced to make but one speech, while I have been sentenced to make two.

If I thought that all of you felt what the resolution recites I would be compelled to emulate the Speaker and stifle my tears.

Mr. Chairman, I came to this House, in 1933; the Democrats did not want me, so I ran as an independent, and being by myself it was quite convenient to caucus in a telephone booth. I had no difficulty in arriving at a decision as to who should be my party candidate for Speaker. In surveying my delegation, consisting of myself, I could find no one more worthy than myself to stand as a candidate.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I can say that I became Minority Leader somewhat unexpectedly. I can say further that I have developed a talent I never knew I possessed, that of picking other people's brains, for I can assure you that if I had not had with me, back of me, by my side, at every stage of this Legislative session Reuben Cohen, that Reuben Cohen could not honestly have arisen and said one half about me that he has said and say it with any semblance of truth. When I have not known exactly what a bill intended to do, I went to Cohen and we talked it over. If I started down the wrong spur track he grabbed me by the coat tail and pulled me back.

I have one serious bit of advice to give to the majority party, as long as he continues to be in the House I would advise you to continue the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, as your leader. It is not casting any aspersions or reflections upon any Member of the majority party to say that as I survey you I see no one among you whom I believe could have kept so very many Republicans in their seats on so many days. In some way, by a magic that I am sure I do not possess, he has inspired your personal loyalty. I can say to him that part of any success that I have had as Minority Leader, part of any success that you have had—all the success you have had as a matter of fact—but part of my success has been the fact that he has been always willing to meet me four square upon the basis of the parliamentary equities of any situation that we faced.

I am glad that he raised the little point that some times in the course of legislative procedure the Majority and the Minority Leaders by getting together, without the formalities of having called a caucus, can actually make arrangements, can actually arrive at agreements, can actually outline procedure that will save you hours and hours and hours.

Mr. Speaker, I am appreciative of the courtesies you have extended to me. I publicly acknowledge my debt to Mr. Cohen; I publicly acknowledge my debt to the Membership on this side of the House. I publicly acknowledge my debt to you because of the consideration you have accorded me as I have risen from time to time upon the floor to say things, perhaps with which you disagreed, but we have managed in this session, I believe as a result of the leadership of your Majority Leader, as the result of the assistance that the Membership over here has accorded me and as a result of the advice that I have received from Mr. Cohen out of his ripe experience, to conduct up to this time a Legislative session which in the dignity of its procedure has not been excelled by any legislative group assembled in this House within my memory. I say to you that insofar as the niceties of legislative procedure are concerned, this House, which in years gone by was commonly regarded as being very ragged, while the other chamber was supposed to be very solemn and dignified, that compared to us in this session they have been an assemblage of ragamuffins, and I hope that whoever is the Majority Leader next time is a man of Mr. Lichtenwalter's standing, but I hope it is not Mr. Lichtenwalter. I hope the Majority Leader at the next session is a man of Mr. Cohen's stature.

I thank you for your patience, I appreciate your kindly sentiments, and as I said when I was speaking about the Speaker, perhaps all the things I have heard are not so, but goodness! how you like to hear them said.

The CHAIRMAN. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, please come to the rostrum.

Mr. Andrews, it is my privilege on behalf of the Members of the House to give you this little token of very high esteem.

Mr. ANDREWS. Members of the House, the Democratic party now has the beginning of a war fund.

MAJORITY WHIP CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Moser.

Mr. MOSER. Mr. Chairman and Members of the House. There came a young man, a member of the Bar from St. Mary's Elk County, as a representative in the General Assembly in 1941.

At the beginning of the session he was selected as the Republican Whip. He has won the friendship and admiration of his fellow Members by his open, frank and honest deliberations in the perplexing legislative problems with which he was confronted. I am sure if he will follow the same course in the future he will arrive at greater heights and more responsibilities as the years go by. We hope that Representative Sorg will reach the goal that he is aspiring for, that of becoming Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Elk County.

Mr. Chairman, I take great pleasure in presenting this resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. MOSER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Every legislative session can always boast of at least one worth while accomplishment. It may be an outstanding piece of legislation, or it may be the discovery of an outstanding person.

This session witnessed the selection of a member to an important post, who has surprised those who selected him and has made the position one of greater importance than ever before.

He has dignified the job and what was formerly the occupation of a slave driver has become the profession of a leader. From a tough and driving sergeant he has grown into the rank of a colonel, and has done it without effort.

Elected to this House in 1940, he served during the dark days of the Session of 1941, learning much through constant defeat and came back during the 1943 Session to taste the pleasure of being with the majority.

When this House was organized, the Majority party selected him as its whip, but he has outgrown the title and is now its honey-tongued persuader. His knowledge of the bills on the calendar is comprehensive and he is always ready with an explanation that resolves doubt and compels understanding.

His name, of course, is the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg, and he hails from the town of St. Mary's in Elk County, from whence other illustrious statesmen have come.

He has done a good job and the Members of his party realize it so "look out for Sorg" and watch his smoke; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House extend to the Majority Whip, the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg, its best wishes for a continuation of the climb he has so well begun, congratulate him upon the manner in which he has performed his most difficult task and wish him a happy and comfortable summer; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg, as evidence of the fact that it was actually adopted.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was unanimously adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Chairman, if I could ever be tempted to let you damage my humility with these untrue things, then I just want to assure you I would need only reflect on the great number of the men this side, and certainly some on the other, with much more capability and perhaps many more merits. It leaves me with a feeling of only the very deepest gratitude and the recollection of the fact that all of you have never treated me in any other manner than that which was most kindly. Thank you so much.

The CHAIRMAN. Will the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, please come to the rostrum?

On behalf of all the Members of the House may I present to you this little token with all our good wishes?

MINORITY WHIP CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Yester. Mr. Chairman, Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentleman of the House, up until this part of the program I think the committee deserves credit. I do not know why they picked on me when there were so many Members on this side of the House who could have done a better job. The man whom this resolution was prepared for deserves more.

I remember in 1941 when I first came into this House I became acquainted with him; he was one of the first persons I met, and he took me under his wing. I can say that his advice has been very helpful to me, and I also realize that his advice has been equally helpful not only to the Democrats, but I know Republicans also have had his help. He has made three words very famous to the Members of this House, and I think that he deserves this resolution, because he made the words "Let's be fair" very famous.

RESOLUTION

Mr. YESTER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

When it came to the election of a Minority Whip for this Session of the General Assembly, the Democratic Party had no difficulty in making a selection, for the very fair and efficient one of the Session of 1943 was there "waiting and willing."

Time has improved him and no Member of the Minority Party could find any fault with the services rendered to their Party by the Honorable James E. Lovett.

As he did last session, he has done this session—he has again done a good job. He improved his persuasive abilities, he has been able and industrious; and has added greatly to the number of his friends; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extends to the Honorable James E. Lovett, the Minority Whip, its congratulations upon the success of his work and the quiet and efficient way in which he has kept the minority forces together; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable James E. Lovett as evidence of the deep respect held by it for his outstanding ability and "fairness."

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was unanimously adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Chairman and my friends in the House, I want to take this opportunity to thank the Speaker of the House, the Leader on the Republican side, my bosses on this side, for all the help they have given me during this session of the Legislature. I think at this time I should only say "Let's be fair" and make no more speeches.

The CHAIRMAN. For a special purpose the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Chairman, since you have been acting as Kris Kringle up there it is pretty nearly time that somebody did something for you.

We the Members of the Philadelphia delegation, believing in the old adage that we love our neighbor as we love ourselves are presenting to you a placard for you to dispose of in the manner that you think best.

The CHAIRMAN. I had no idea of the purpose for this request to gain the floor at this time.

Oh, I understand I am expected to give this to the person in the House for whom it is appropriate.

This is a beautifully decorated sign—I suppose that you would call it a motto to hang on the wall. On the back there is what I would call a blank for the purpose of putting together a Members' roster. The sign at the top says, "Let's be fair." Of course if fairness were a human attribute, like courage or cowardliness or like strength or weakness, I might have difficulty in determining who this gift might best go to, but "Let's be fair" gives me a thought. Fairness is not a human attribute, it is a state of mind, and in this House a state of mind usually is relative as between this side of the House and that side of the House.

Now, relativity can be figured in its degree of accuracy mathematically, but I am not going to make any mathematical calculation in relativity today, because at the bottom of this sign is a note "Hand to Lovett." Let's be fair and hand it to Lovett. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, come to the rostrum?

Jim, in fond memory of your all too frequent state of mind I present to you on behalf of the Members for many many good reasons this little token of their esteem.

Mr. LOVETT. I want to thank the Members of the House.

CHIEF CLERK, OFFICERS AND EMPLOYES CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower.

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Chairman, it gives me pleasure to present the following resolution, and in accordance with the suggestion of the gentleman from Westmoreland, that we have no more speeches I will just present it.

RESOLUTION

Mr. BOWER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

The work of the officers and clerks of this House during this session again demonstrates the wisdom of retaining in important positions those who by experience have so qualified themselves as to make their work of inestimable value to those for whom they perform laborious and skilled duties.

The work of the office of the Chief Clerk of this House has never been performed more carefully and thoroughly or with more courtesy than at this session, and the office of the Secretary of the House has been of more than usual value to the Members.

These officers and the clerks under them have given fully of their time and effort to the end that the business of the House should not be retarded or interrupted and the results accomplished in spite of the scarcity of skilled help and assistance have been of great assistance in bringing about an early adjournment; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House extends its thanks to the Chief Clerk of this House, the Honorable William E. Habbyshaw, and to William P. Roan, the Secretary of the House, and through them to the officers and clerks who have so diligently labored under and with them, for the part they have contributed toward shortening the days of the session and making easier the work of the Members of the House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk of the House.

The CHIEF CLERK (William E. Habbyshaw.) Mr. Chairman and Members of the House, I would just like to say that the Chief Clerk's office will try its best to continue in the future as it has in the past to serve the Members on both sides of the House. Our office is always available to give you whatever help you desire. I thank you.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Habbyshaw, in behalf of all the Members of the House, I desire to present you with this little token of our esteem.

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Thanks to all the Members of the House.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair at this time calls to the rostrum the Secretary of the House, William P. Roan.

On behalf of the Members of the House I give you this token of our appreciation.

The SECRETARY OF THE HOUSE (William P. Roan). Mr. Chairman, I thank you.

DIRECTOR LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Chairman, in deference to the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, who asks us to "Let's be fair" and not make any speeches, I would like to present a resolution extolling the virtures of a job that is sometimes overlooked as we meet in the closing days of the session.

We witnessed the Majority and the Minority Floor Leaders meet in the middle of the floor with clasped hands. The wordy battle is all finished. However I would call your attention to the Legislative Reference Bureau which has been the receiving center for all the crack-pot ideas of the two hundred eight Members of the House, ideas that range from the ridiculous to the sublime, for instance from the bill of the gentleman from Wyoming to bury everybody at public expense to the cantankerous Minority Leader who would give away all our money on the dole.

Mr. Speaker, it gives me pleasure to present this resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. HARE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Thirty-six years ago the General Assembly passed, and the Governor approved, legislation that created the Legislative Reference Bureau and time has proven the wisdom of that action and the value of the Bureau, not only to the Members of the General Assembly, but to the administrative departments of the Commonwealth and to the public.

Intended primarily as a bill drafting agency, it has developed into a bureau of information upon matters far beyond the original intent of its founders.

The original organization as to number of officers and employes has not been increased during the years that have passed, even though the work of the Bureau has increased tremendously. The same number of employes perform many times the amount of work that was performed during the early years.

There were prepared for introduction in the House and Senate during this session more than twenty-three hundred bills and resolutions in addition to the preparation of approximately five hundred amendments, and conference reports.

When the session ends the Bureau keeps on working with no let up and no curtailment of working hours.

It is ready during every day to serve the Senators and Members of the House with the same promptness and thoroughness and dependability that mark its service during a session.

It is a part of the legislative branch of the State Government that the General Assembly values and appreciates, and one that would be missed by many of the administrative departments and the judicial branch of the State as well, if it no longer existed; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its thanks to the Director of the Bureau and those who toil with him for the work performed and the service rendered to the Members of this House during the session now ending, and in appreciation of that work and service, it directs the Chief Clerk of this House to transmit to the Director a copy of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The CHAIRMAN. The recognizes the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, Mr. Robert S. Frey.

DIRECTOR LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU (Robert S. Frey). Mr. Chairman and Members of the House, it seems always to be somebody's pleasure to put something across on me. I thought we had a closed agreement that there was to be no resolution about the Bureau or about myself, and in return for that there was to be none about the Parliamentarian, but something has slipped some place. I noticed the Parliamentarian speaking to the Chairman, and believe that is the reason for my being here now.

I will have to admit that the resolution about the Bureau I drafted, but you will also noitce that there are no names mentioned. When I handed the papers to the girl in our office I told her to file it under "modesty."

I do not think there is anything I can say of interest regarding this session. I enjoy every session; I am always glad to meet the Members, and I hope that during the interim if we can be of any assistance we want you to call upon us at any time and we will try to help you as we have done during the session.

THE CHAPLAIN CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Wright.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Chairman, it is a privilege for me to present this resolution. It is non-political. You all know that there are many, many religions but there is only one Christianity. I am presenting this resolution in favor of the man who has served us faithfully and whom we believe in religiously; hoping that it will speak for itself.

RESOLUTION

Mr. WRIGHT offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

As the war which has ravaged the earth for six years draws to a close and as the nations of the world meet to agree upon a form of international agreement to end all war, it becomes more clear that more than man's work is necessary to achieve that end.

The need of Divine aid in the perpetuation of peace is as necessary as is the close union of nations. Only the love of man for man can bring about the unity of purpose which must be obtained to prevent a re-occurrence of the mighty conflict which has disrupted civilization.

The founders of our Commonwealth provided well when they required that each session of this House should be opened with a prayer.

The selection of the Reverend Lester C. Updegrove was a happy one for he has brought to the Members of this House the help and inspiration that comes from prayer and has made mere apparent to them the need of Spiritual Guidance in doing the thing that is right and just; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House, appreciative of the services of the Chaplain, and the long hours that he spent in preparing his inspirational utterances extend to him our deepest and most sincere thanks and direct the Chief Clerk of the House to transmit to him a copy of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

LEGISLATIVE CORRESPONDENTS CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Barton.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Chairman, being a newspaper editor and publisher for more than twenty-five years, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to present the following resolution to this House.

RESOLUTION

Mr. BARTON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

The newsmen who were with us during this session have performd a wonderful job. They not only reported the news fairly, but as the active part of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association, they put on a celebration of their golden anniversary that was a delight to appetite and an inspiration to patriotism.

It was a pleasure to have them with us and more than ever we are grateful for their treatment of the work of the session; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of this House, that we extend to the gentlemen of the press, who have been with us during this session, our most sincere thanks for their constant fairness and for their untainted reports of our proceedings, and we congratulate them upon maintaining the high principles which should ever be practiced and upheld by the men of their privileged profession; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Chairman, the resolution just read referred to newsmen in one paragraph and to gentlemen in another paragraph.

May I call the attention of the Members of this House to the fact that we also have a lady of the press, Miss Betty Heineman, representative of the United Press—who resides in Philadelphia, graduated from Temple University. I am sure the Members of this House will be glad to take a look at Miss Heineman. Will she please rise?

I am sure the Members of the House are also familiar with another young lady who represents the International News Service. She spent some time over in the Senate, but she advises that since it was so hard to find the Senate twenty-three hours out of the twenty-four, she spends most of the time in the House of Representatives. I would ask Miss Suzanne Flick, who represents the International News Service to rise.

RESOLUTION

MAILING OF FILES

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Chairman, since we seem to have recognized all the brass hats, I now offer a resolution in behalf of the privates.

Mr. GOODLING offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1945.

Resolved, That the Bureau of Publications, through the Department of Property and Supplies, be directed to mail files of bills and journals on the desks of Members desiring to secure the same, to places designated by them, all files being received by them through the office of the Chief Clerk.

RESOLUTION

RESOLUTION AND REMARKS CONGRATULATING SPEAKER TO BE PRINTED

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Cook.

Mr. COOK. Mr. Chairman, I rise on behalf of the Members of the House who have not been permitted to take an active part in the exercises just concluded. I feel certain that every Member of this House would feel proud to have an opportunity to join in the fine words that have been spoken in behalf of the leadership of this House. Also the fine tribute that was paid to our Speaker.

In behalf of the Members of this House I wish to offer this resolution which will give the Members a nopportunity to refresh their memories at their own firesides from time to time as to the exercises that we have listened to this afternoon.

Mr. COOK offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House be directed to have printed the resolution of congratulation to the Speaker of the House, introduced by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, on Friday May 4, 1945, together with the remarks of the Members of the House relating thereto; and be it further Resolved. That a copy thereof be sent to each Member of the House.

CAFETERIA PERSONNEL CONGRATULATED

The CHAIRMAN. The next resolution pertains to a very effective and very important part of the institutions pertaining to the State Capitol.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, took occasion this morning to remark upon the smile that was on my face while he was on his feet making his opening remarks in reference to the Speaker.

Now, the gentleman did not know that the reason for the smile was because of the thought that was flitting through my mind, that amongst all the remarks of admiration for the Speaker there was one that could be best made and would be very short. It was in admiration for the magic trick that had been performed by the Speaker, not in turning wine into water or water into wine, but the magic trick that had been performed in turning the vinegar in the soul of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, into milk and honey that flowed from him this morning.

That smile was also on my face for another reason. It was on my face because I have in anticipation a most pleasant task. I can go back to the days when we fought for sandwiches and coffee at the counter out here in the hallway on this floor. I could go back to the days when we were moved to the dark and dingy basement. I can go back to the days when we had a cafeteria in the basement that caused many comments and much indigestion. And then I thought of the pleasant situation that has prevailed during this Legislature and the facilities that were given to us in the Capitol. But the facilities are inanimate, and they might be of the best—the food might be of the best but the very best thing that has been contributed to that institution in the Capitol is the fair lady who presides over it and maintains and guides its destinies, and so Mr. Chairman, I would like to present the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. TURNER offered a resolution and asked and obtrained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

There are three distinct and separate branches of the State Government—the Executive, Legislative and Judicial.

These branches are related and must at times function together in order that the business of the Commonwealth may be properly carried on, but there is only one place where they meet constantly and function together.

That place is in the basement of the Capitol Building, is known as the Capitol Cafeteria, and it is there that Governors and judges and lawmakers meet and eat together. It is a delightful place to see democracy functioning in a practical way, for there are no rules discriminating against any person on account of race, creed or color.

It was a happy idea to dispose of the former eating place in the basement and provide the quarters that now house the cafeteria, but the person who selected Mrs. Mary Bless to manage the new place, deserves the endless thanks of all those who are kept healthy and happy by eating what she provides for them.

It is so popular a place that one of the regular eaters, who is connected with the General Assembly, was heard to remark:

"When our stomachs are loaded, we're happy
When they're empty, we're fit to be tied.
To the "Bless"ed place we then have to hasten
To partake of her "pomme de terre" fried."

Mrs. Bless is manager, chief pie-baker, menu-builder, and late one evening she was seen rolling butter balls for the Speaker's party. She has and does everything.

The food is excellent, the room is inviting and comfortably furnished, the prices are reasonable, and the service could not be excelled.

The quality of the work of the House and Senate has picked up since Mrs. Bless opened this blessed place for hungry Legislators; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Members of this House, that it extends its thanks to the person responsible for the appointment of the competent and delightful manager and to her we extend our thanks for the food she serves and our congratulations upon her outstanding accomplishment in creating so popular a place for those employed in the Capitol, and through her we thank those who assist her in making and keeping the cafeteria the popular place it now is; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Mary Bless, "Restaurant Manager Extraordinary," as evidence of our appreciation of her efforts and our admiration of her accomplishments.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chairman, may I present Mrs. Bless to the House.

And while I am doing that may I also present her with this little corsage that she may wear on these last days of our session. I would like to present them in the French custom, but I am afraid to do so.

Mrs. BLESS. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, this is indeed an honor and I am sure a day in my life that I will never forget. It is really with very deep appreciation that I speak to you, and we want you to know that working with you and serving you in the cafeteria has been a most interesting and happy experience for each and every one of us. I feel that the success of our cafeteria is due to the splendid cooperation and loyalty of each and every one of my staff of employees. We want you to know that not only during the sessions but at any time you are in Harrisburg you will be most welcome at the cafeteria.

I want to thank you on behalf of my employees for your many kindnesses and courtesies extended to us during this time. Thank you very much.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Chairman, I have another little duty to perform. Some of the men who have lunched and dined at the cafeteria thought that we sort of failed to remember so many very faithful employees, and I would like to hand to Mrs. Bless for the purpose of presenting to those employees, this little gift from some of the men who lunch and dine in the cafeteria.

Mrs. BLESS. Thank you one and all.

CHAIRMAN JAMES. It is now my duty to turn over the rostrum to the Chairman of the Committee.

MR. STOCKHAM IN THE CHAIR

Mr. STOCKHAM. I want to thank the Members of the Committee who have made this fine program possible. I want to thank the Members of the House for their cooperation and participation. I want to thank Mr. James in particular for the part which he has so well performed in carrying out the program. And then, may I extend to every one of the officers of this House who have been the recipients of our good will, our very best wishes.

Shortly, as these ceremonies always take place in the closing hours of the session, we shall be going home. After all that has happened during the session, when we do return to our homes, let us remember to keep faith in our institutions and to keep faith with our God, as did William Penn and as did the founders of our country.

With this humble benediction I pronounce these exercises closed, and return the gavel to the Speaker.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, for presiding.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That House Bill No. 295, Printer's No. 582, entitled: "An Act to repeal certain obsolete and supplied penal laws'" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 563

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I offer the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 563.

The SPEAKER. The report will be received. This being a Senate Bill, the Conference report will be printed by the Senate.

RESOLUTIONS

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 884 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 884, Printer's No. 430, entitled "An act relating to the Tuberculosis Hospital of the City of Pittsburgh Pittsburgh Pennsylvania providing for the transfer of such institution to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation of closing and abandonment thereof and maintenance of tuberculosis patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer under certain circumstances conferring powers and imposing duties on the Governor and Department of Health" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

JOINT GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE STUDY OF HOUSE EMPLOYES

Mr. BOWERS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Whereas, The personnel of the House of Representatives is provided for by act of assembly adopted in 1919 and a number of independent laws enacted since that time; and

Whereas, A complete revision of personnel, its duties and compensation are urgently needed; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby requests the Joint State Government Commission during the interim between the legislative sessions of 1945 and 1947 to make a thorough study of the needs of the House of Representatives and the most efficient and economical arrangement of positions, duties and compensation of the permanent and temporary employes of the House of Representatives, and reports its findings and recommendations to the House of Representatives on or before the first day of February, 1947.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 548

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 4, 1945.

Resolved, (If the Senate concurs), that this 136th Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die, Saturday May 5, 1945 at 11:00 o'clock P. M.

Committee on Rules,

Franklin H. Lichtenwalter,
Lloyd H. Wood,
Wilson L. Yeakel,
Herbert P. Sorg,
D. Raymond Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 60

Mr. ROYER. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 60, Printer's No. 743, on page 40 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 25, 1945.

In a glass case in a room in the Museum Building there are now displayed the regimental flags of several Confederate Regiments

They represent the valor of the Pennsylvania organizations which were responsible for their capture but the years have paled the flags and although the valor and bravery of those who captured them has not dimmed the reason for the retention of those flags as evidence of that valor and bravery is no more

As we will always remember the outstanding courage and the unselfish devotion of the men of the North so will be ever recall and acknowledge the bravery of those of the South who sacrificed all they held dear for the cause in which they believed

With the differences that then existed expunged by the blood of those who struggled so valiantly the Nation exists today united and undivided and the flags that now are displayed in our Museum are as much a part of the records and archives of the States whose men at arms carried them into battle as they are of Pennsylvania whose soldiers carried them out of battle

They were the flags of the South and as evidence of our respect for and admiration of those Americans who so proudly fought under them it is most fitting that they should now be returned to the State for which those brave men sacrificed so much therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby requested and authorized to have the flags of the several Confederate Regiments that are now on display in the Museum Building removed therefrom and that after the said flags have been repaired and made safe for transport that His Excellency the Governor shall at a time and place and in such manner as he deems proper return the said flags into the custody of the States whose regiments carried them in order that they may there be preserved as members of those regiments and as evidence of the friendship and esteem of this Commonwealth and its people and be it further

Resolved That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to His Excellency The Governor by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

Amend the third paragraph of the preamble, page 1, by striking out all of the lines in said paragraph.

Amend the fourth paragraph of the preamble, page 1, by striking out the words "With the difference that then existed expunged by the blood of those who struggled so valiantly the," and inserting in lieu thereof: "The."

Amend the fourth paragraph of the preamble, page 2, last line of said paragraph, by inserting after the word "battle": "It is, therefore, fitting that they should now be returned to the States from which they came; therefore be it."

Amend the last paragraph of the preamble, page 2, by striking out all of the lines of said paragraph.

Amend the first resolution, page 2, lines 12, 13 and 14, by striking out the words "and as evidence of the friendship and esteem of this Commonwealth and its people."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The resolution lies over for printing under the Rules.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 53

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker I call up House Resolution No. 53, Printer's No. 742, on page 40 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 12, 1945.

Resolved By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania That the Legislative Reference Bureau be directed to prepare a subject code of existing laws relating to liquors and malt or brewed beverages and submit the same in printed or mimeographed form with appropriate annotations to the General Assembly for its consideration at the 1947 general session

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 295

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 4, 1945.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 295, Printer's No. 582, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 2, section 1, by striking out lines 27 and 28 inclusive.

Amend page 3, section 1, by striking out lines 1 and 2 inclusive.

Amend page 5, section 1, by striking out lines 22 to 26 inclusive.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to inquire of the gentleman from Montgomery what the significance of the amendments he proposes is.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would ask the gentleman whether he objects to the immediate consideration of the amendments so that we can bring the question before the House?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, how would I know whether to object unless I knew what the amendments were?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, some of the Members may not recall this measure, but it was introduced by me on the twenty-ninth of January, and was designed to repeal certain obsolete laws which are on the statute books of this State that were never specifically repealed.

At the time the Penal Act was passed in the session in 1939 a repealer should have been in that Code to take care of this particular Act. However, when the bill was over in the Senate an additional repealer was inserted which had nothing to do with the purpose of this measure, and as a result some of the Members on this side of the House have received communications objecting to that particular amendment.

The one to which I refer is the Act of 1855 which prevents the sale of intoxicating liquor on Sundays in hotels. Now, in addition to that there was a repealer in the original bill which passed this House, I believe, with but one dissenting vote, and passed the Senate, dealing with horse racing, and I have had occasion to study both of these repealers. I honestly believe that the present liquor law does in effect by implication repeal its Sunday Sales Bill. Also that the Penal Code repeals by implication the horse racing bill of 1820, but in deference to the people who voted for this bill in good faith, despite the fact that it can be determined that they are repealed by implication, it was thought advisable to delete these two repealers on this measure and allow it to go to the Governor for signature in that condition.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state it.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the present status of the bill, if I understand it, is that we have reconsidered the vote by which it was passed on third reading and we are now ready to offer amendments?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. COHEN. Am I to understand that a vote on the amendments will carry both these amendments, that is, a vote aye would be to sustain both amendments?

The SPEAKER. The procedure at the present time is, will the House give its unanimous consent to consider the amendments?

Mr. COHEN. There is no objection on this side of the House to considering the amendments.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to consider the amendments? The Chair hears no objection.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, both amendments?

The SPEAKER. The vote will be on all amendments.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, would it be possible to divide the question so that we might vote on the liquor repealer separately from the horse racing repealer?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to inform the gentleman whether the question can be divided.

The Chair would suggest that the sponsor and the gentleman from Philadelphia confer and try to reach some agreement.

The SPEAKER. It has been agreed that the question on the amendments be divided.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Section 1, pages 2 and 3?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment to Section 1 page 5.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 295 as originally passed by the House contained a list of obsolete laws which were repealed. In the bill sent over to the Senate the Senate inserted an amendment repealing another obsolete law, and when the bill came back to the House the House concurred in the amendment inserted by the Senate. This particular amendment in my opinion should remain in the bill, that is, in the bill as we originally passed it, and the amendment which now seeks to strike out the repealer should be defeated.

I say that for the reason that the Act of 1855, if I am not mistaken, in my opinion places an unreasonable burden on hotel keepers and inn keepers in Pennsylvania. That Act makes it a crime for a hotel keeper who may have knowledge that persons in the hotel may be drinking liquor on Sunday. I submit that in a twenty-five story hotel with possibly a thousand rooms and possibly a thousand guests,—I am thinking of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia,—a guest looks respectable and acts respectable, and has every appearance of sobriety and respectability when he enters the hotel yet he may fool everybody by having tucked away in his baggage a bottle of whiskey. When he gets up in his room on a Sunday, this supposedly sober honest guest of the hotel may, after he gets to his room and peruses the Pittsburgh Press or the Gazette if he is in Pittsburgh, or the Inquirer or Record in Philadelphia, decides to take a little nip, and decides he wants a bottle of Coca Cola. He orders a bottle of Coca Cola brought to his room, and when it is emptied into his glass and he may put some rum into it. The Act which we want to repeal would make it a crime on the part of the hotel keeper if he sent this Coca Cola or Pepsi Cola or 7-Up, or whatever else they have to drink to the hotel room; and it would be a crime just because some dishonest person might want to take a nip on Sunday. So I think, Mr. Speaker, we ought to defeat this amendment and take this really bad restriction off the shoulders of the God-fearing and honest hotel keepers and inn keepers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I am in rather a peculiar position on this amendment. In the first place there was no intention when this particular bill was sent to the Senate to have this particular law repealed. That was inserted in the Senate without my information or knowledge. When it came to the House I was informed that an examination of the Pennsylvania Liquor Laws revealed that this act was by implication repealed. I am trying to show good faith by having this amendment taken out because of objections which have arisen since in the Senate and the House.

I am sure that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, does not know the situation in hotels on Sundays, and I am no better qualified than he, so let that subject rest. However, I know of no prosecution under this act, and I think the gentleman is overstating the importance of the question. I ask in the interest of saving the time of the House that a rising vote be taken and I ask this House to support the amendment which would take this specific repealer out of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment to Section 1, page 5?

On a rising vote seventy-three Members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-one in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.
